Medting lately held, whose communication he states has been received with feelings of no ordi-Washington, February 13, 1844. I think I begin to see the game of the locofoc nary character. Mr. Van Buren tukes care, in for the session. There will be a complete re-union between the Calhoun and Van Buren branches of so gracefully, to his superior prefensions, to tell the party; a bill will be passed through the House ress of the recent great meeting at Harrisburg, the Ponnsylvania democracy that they were not reducing the present tariff, and some means will and boldly proclaims that it is now rendered cer- all for Mr. Buchanan, but a choice portion of he adopted to stave off the direct question on the tain that Mr. Van Buren will receive the nomina- them decidedly preferred Mr. Van Buren, who, reception of petitions. This will be the incens offered up by Yan Burenism on the shrine of Cal hounism, and for this empty fealty the chivalry of the South will bow in submission to the Magi oiun of the North! As to a modification of the tariff, it must be borne in mind that it is demand. ed by the Spectator, Mr. Calheun's late organ, (or rather the late Mr. Calhoun's organ,) as a matter of local interest to the South. Now, the Whigs of the South are not opposed to the present duties they have had triumphant victories since the pas sage of their Tariff Act of 1841, when it was an issue before the people; I cannot then but fairly draw the inference that an attempt will be made by Northern locofocoism to repeal the tariff, mere. ly as a matter of party conciliation to their Southsign that the American people are liable to be aller of party conciliation to their Southways thus imposed open? Liability to occasional error is an infirmity from which no individual is the interests of the majority be sacrificed to the the interests of the majority be sacrificed to the visionaries of the South, and shall Van Buren receive Northern support when he opposes its interand a confirmed defect of character. Can we'ex- ests, merely to catch the votes of a faction, and a small faction in the South? There is no such thing as a wish for practical "free trade," even in the South; General Clinch, recently elected by a largely increased vote in Georgia, is a known ated upon by appliances, from the use of which every friend of free government must turn with advocate of the present tariff; so are the Hon. Senator Berrien and Mr. Stephens of the House; Mr. Chappel, the other Whig member from that State, is an 'impracticable,' and although strongly of the neonle being subject to mental "aberation" attached to Mr. Clay, I learn he is willing to mad and "infirmity !" A broad charge of insanity ify the present tariff, but not to surrender the flatly urged against the people because forsouth principle. I would I had any influence with this gentleman, that I might say to him-try the present bill, see how it operates in practice; le theory sleep for a year or two, and give the tariff as now constituted, a fair trial. If it is found to be oppressive on any section or interest; if it is found to produce more revenue than the wants of ed patriot General-William Henry Harrison, that it insults their character by charging them adopted by the Young Men's Whig Convention a rigidly economical government may require; if it found in any instance prohibitory, or offering more-than fair equality between the domestic and foreign interests, then after the objectionable parts, and let the necessary modifications be made; out till the trial is made, let not its good effects e impaired by creating doubts of its permanency.

I might refer to Louisians, whore the sugar lanters demand that their great staple should be rotected, and to this demand Mr. Calhoun has returned a favorable answer. Does not this concede the principle of protection, as incidental to a tariff! And if Louisiana is right in asking the shield of the law for her sugar, have not all the other States an equal claim on legislation for their respective local interests? Then a tariff must be a thing of compromise; we must reconcile conflicting interests as far as possible, and the pure republican spirit of our constitution demands that while the rights of the minority are not unreason. ably impaired, the will of the majority, expressed brough their legislative representatives, is the supreme law of the land. I protest then against the corrupt combination, by which the dearest interests of the people of the North are to be sacriiced to Southern faction. I protest against Van Buren's elevation to power, over the prostrate orm of domestic industry! I protest against the paricidal act of striking down our institutions for ne sake of elevating one man to power or ridling politician of a rival. These blows of faction are death to the community at large; all experince has taught this, and history warns us against ostracism of any kind. Some graphic author has observed, who I remember not, but his words are impressed on my mind, "the poison which passed the axe which fell apon the neck of Cicero, severed little Magician, whereupon a brother Loco of the the head of Rome." I apply this extract as most mistaken, I regret to see him so swindled by his | Pariff, and they will en ultra-that it is one of the balances of our government-if we all thought alike, we should be the prey of deniagogueism and our national safety is based only on the contrariety of opinion. It now remains to be seen, whether the friends of Mr. Calhoun will be gulled by the pretended attempt of Van Buren's friends to modify or repeal the existing tariff. It now remains to be seen whether the developements made by "leaky vest sels" of the party, will not open the eyes of the Calhounites to the fact, that no modification of the tariff will be offered in the House, unless it be of such a character as to make its rejection by the Senate perfectly certain! It remains to be seen whether the Southern chivalry will soffer them selves to be used as the ladder to elevate Van Buren, while he cheats, deceives and dupes them ! Will the bare fact of introducing a modified tariff bill, and giving it a hallow support, be considered as surrendering the ground occupied by the North on the subject of protection? If so, then Calhounism is indeed degraded to the footstool of Van

The latter gentleman submit ted amendments to the resolutions appended to the Report of the majority of the Committee on Electinns.' It will be remainbered that the Committee's resolutions denounced the District System Law of the last Congress, as "invalid, unconstiutional and inoperative." In the course of the unanswerable arguments which the advocates of which you seem to be very active members, my that law have made in the House, the locoface majority has found that this denunciatory position was entirely untenable: they therefore yielded their ground, gave up the whole question, and Mr. Dromgoole's amendments simply affirm that the members elected by General Turket are entitled to their scats! A more convincing argument the Governor of IOWA, covering the proceedings against their whole course could not be made of the Territorial Legislature, asking that Lowa against the majority than they themselves offer may be admitted into the Union as an indepenby adopting this course. If they dare not pass dent State. Lo-co-fo-co Defined. The Editor of the Whig Clarion, a spirited campaign paper, published at Raleigh, North Carolina, furnishes a new explanation of the meaning of this political appellative, which we publish for the especial benefit of all concerned. He says it was given to a noisy clique of pot-valiant politi. cians, in one of their towns, who habitually congregate at the bar-room of the principal hotel, to luxuriate on the beauties of Locolocotsm and whiskey. A stout, brawny Kentucky drover, who stood six feet and upwards in his stockings, a dea lover of Henry Clay-as all true-hearted Ken tuckians should be-had endured their "wisdon ical" lucubrations, and provoking taunts, until he could bear it no longer, and in the bitterness of his soul, he pronounced them all a pack of " Lo ofocos."

A port disciple offered to bet that he could not tell the meaning of the word. " Not tell the neaning of that words quoth he of the "Bloody ground." "Well, what is it?" "You all know well enough what Lo means-low in principles, 48 cts. Oats 32 a 33 cts. low in patriotism, low in rightcourness; and now particularly low in spirits. Well, Co means the company—the whole gang of you; in short, the low company. And then as to Fo, it is as ensily seen as told. It means for to your country's best interest, for to a good currency, for to American abor against the labor of English paupers, and to cap the whole, for to Henry Clay, the eleverest fellow in all creation. Well, the other Co is the company of all this, the foe company; and together, forms a kind of double co-partnership, of friends." They looked at his fists, and his eye, and wore discreet.

TWELVE AND A-HALF CENTS A BOX. TWELVE AND A-HALF CENTS A BOX.
The proprietor of this invaluable legacy of a great man, has for some time failed to present them to the public in an advertisement. The reason is a plain one. So much has their use given satisfaction, and so strongly have they been recommended to one another that it has been utterly impossible to supply the demand, both here and for country agents. During the present month, more than two hundred gross or nearly THIRTY THOUSAND BOXES, have been sold in this city and vicinity, and supplied to or nearly THHETY THOUSAND DUALS, may been sold in this city and vicinity, and supplied to Agents-throughout-the United States, and many orders have been on hand weeks before they could be shilled. In fact it needs not the spirit of prophecy to furcted the day when the only Pill in the will be that invented by the immortal Dr. Benjamin Rush, that invented by the immortal Dr. Benjamin Rush, that invented by the immortal Dr. Benjamin Rush, the greatest physician America over saw.
