HERALD & EXPOSITOR

CARLISLE, PA.

Wednesday Morning February, 28 1844.

☞V. B. Palmer, Esq., No. 59 Pine street, below Third, Philadelphia, is authorized to receive subscriptions and advertisements for the "Herald & Expositor," and give receipts for the same.

☞We are indebted to Mr. Gorgas of the Senate for a copy of the bill abridged in another column.

☞An original Poem, and a column or more of good reading for Farmers, will be found on our first page.

☞We have received No. 7, of the Junius Tracts, published by Greely & McElrath, N. Y. It is entitled Labor and Capital.

☞The proceedings of a celebration of the 22d by the Silver Spring Riflemen and Cumberland Guards together with a number of citizens of Silver Spring township, were received too late for insertion in this week's paper. They shall appear in our next.

☞Campbell's Semi-monthly Magazine for February 16th is embellished with a splendid engraving of the Love-Letter, from an original picture by W. Hilton, a distinguished Historical painter of the British school. It contents embrace a rich variety of readable articles from the last English magazines, consisting of reviews, poetry, miscellany, art and science.

Published by Campbell, 98 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, for $5 per annum.

Mr P. F. Ege of the 'Statesman' poetically announces in the last number of that paper, that "An Editor he was before

But an Editor he is no more—" having transferred the establishment to Mr. E. S. Ege, whom we cordially welcome into the fraternity. The new Editor says, very facetiously, that having given Mr. Van Buren a helping hand in 1840, in his hour of gloom, he can more cordially support him now when Mr. V. B's. prospects are so much brighter! That's too funny, Major, for a beginning!—it beats the illustrations!

Celebration of the 22d!

☞We have seldom seen our goodly borough exhibit a greater degree of animation and excitement than it did on Thursday last. There is no day more purely embalmed in the deepest affections of our countrymen than that which gave birth to the great and good Washington, and the shine is far distant, we trust, when its anniversary shall fail to call up from every American heart a throng of grateful recollections, or pass without eliciting some tribute of affectionate respect to the venerated character of the Father of our country. In our borough, beside the usual military honors paid to the day, the occasion seemed to inspire all classes with a grateful and joyous spirit. The weather was most favorable to public demonstrations—the air being mild, clear and spring-like and our streets were thronged with citizens enjoying the enlivening scenes of the day.

In the morning the elegant company of U. S. Light Artillery from the Barracks, visited town under the command of Lieut. Deas, and after parading through the various streets, were drilled for an hour or two in the square. This spectacle attracted, as the exciting and beautiful drills of the Artillery seldom fail to, a very large crowd of boys and men, and elicited the highest admiration of all. The skill, precision and promptness with which the rapid and difficult movements of this corps are performed, exhibits the utmost perfection of discipline and reflects distinguished credit upon both officers and men. Capt. Washington's company has rendered itself popular here, not only for its fine soldierly appearance, which makes it an ornament to our town, but for the excellent general deportment of the men.

In the afternoon, our citizen soldiers, Capt. Hunter's and Lieut. Cornman's companies of Artillery, and Capt. Sanderson's Infantry, who had also been on drill in the morning, paraded through the streets for platoon firing, and made the town resound with the sharp quick crack of their musketry. Their appearance was unusually fine, and their marching and manual exercises executed in admirable style.

In the evening an exhibition of a different character presented its attractions, and if throughout the day the public attention was engrossed by martial glitter, and

"Beauty's eye
Had been all the brighter where gay pennants fly,
And brazen helmets danced,
And sunshine flashed upon the lifted lance"—

the evening was happily destined to witness the "triumph of mind," and the emulous Student become in his turn the "observed of all observers." A communication from a very intelligent and respectable source, which will be found in another column, has however precluded a particular notice at our hands of the oratorical exhibition of the Belles Lettres Society of College.—Suffice it to say that the exhibition passed off with brilliant eclat. A dense mass thronged the church, which was brilliantly illuminated, and the floor and galleries sparkled with a galaxy of flashing eyes and lovely faces. The music by a chorus of amateurs under the able direction of Prof. E. L. Walker, was most admirable, and contributed to the highest gratification of the audience. The speeches were in good taste and worthy the encomiums of our correspondent, and if we except the disorderly conduct of a noisy few of the audience, the exhibition passed off in admirable style and to the entire satisfaction of all present.

We subjoin the titles of the pieces and the names of the speakers, as they appeared in the programme. The second and last pieces were not spoken:

1. Anniversary Address.—A. B. McCalmont, Franklin, Pa.
2. Ireland and Repeal.—John Gracey, Baltimore, Md.
3. Triumphs of Mind.—J. D. Boswell, Philadelphia.
4. Independent Thought.—S. J. Powell, Snow Hill, Md.
5. The Rovers of Palenque.—A Poem.—R. S. Maclay, Concord, Pa.
6. The Right and the True.—J. S. Gorsuch, Baltimore co. Md.
7. The Elements of Power.—J. M. Follansbee, Washington City.

☞The birth-day of Washington was observed by our neighbors of Shippensburg, with more than ordinary manifestations of regard, as we learn from the 'Democrat.' An appropriate celebration of the day was made by the 'Vigilant Fire Company,' and in the evening a lecture was delivered before the Company and citizens by Mr Spackman, of our State Senate. The subject of the lecturer was, the "Propagation of Christianity," which was treated with the ability and eloquence for which that gentleman is distinguished.

☞The Whigs of Maine at the Legislative convention, holden in Agusta on the 7th instant, nominated Hon. George Evans, of the United States Senate, for the office of Vice President.

State Conventions.

☞State Conventions of both the Whig and "Democratic" parties assemble in Harrisburg on Monday next, the 4th of March, for the purpose of selecting candidates for Governor. The meeting of so large a number of persons, with the unusual degree of interest which is felt in the subject of their deliberations, will most probably attract a large number of visitors and make the seat of government for the time a scene of much animation and excitement.

Our neighbors of Harrisburg are not apt to permit such occasions to pass unimproved to their own pecuniary benefit, as well as in the display of cordial hospitality. They are very much given in Harrisburg to the practice of holding Fairs,—as those brilliant bazaars, fitted up with more than oriental magnificence, are termed, where fair merchants unconsciously put their own charms 'in market,' as well as all sorts of delicate fabrics of fancy texture and refreshing viands to tempt the eye and please the taste. We happen to know something of the gorgeous style in which these things are 'got up' there, and know that they present allurements which none of mere mortal mould may resist. The unsuspecting Legislator who visits them forgets the meaning of 'economy' and 'retrenchment' and makes involuntary 'appropriations' to any extent desired. We should not be at all surprised if there should be a 'blue-stocking' Fair in Harrisburg on Monday, and would therefore advise every visiter to go "with a pocket full of rocks," as he will wish he had after he gets there!

New Magazine.

Columbian Lady's and Gentleman's Magazine.—This is the title of a new candidate for popular favor in the Magazine line, the February number of which we have received. It is edited by John Inman of well known literary reputation, and published by Israel Post, at No. 3 Astor House, New York.

We would heartily commend this Magazine to the public patronage. It is got up in a style of superior elegance, and is filled with contributions from the most accomplished writers of the country, amongst whom are Mrs. Sigourney, Mrs. Embury, Mrs. Osgood, and Bryant, Tuckerman, Neal, Paulding, Hoffman and others. Each number will be embellished with steel engravings, a plate of the Fashions, and a piece of music.—The steel engraving of "the Sisters," in the February number, presents a brace of creatures so exquisitely fair as to quite entrance some of the 'gallant, gay Lotharios' who frequent our sanctum, and make them deeply "sigh that they ever saw such!" An excellent feature of this Magazine is that all tales published in it will be given entire in one number, so that the absorbing painful and breathless interest of the sentimental reader will not be kept in harrowing suspense for an entire month to learn the happy or heart-breaking denouement of some story of the "love of woman" or other "fearful thing!"

The Columbian Lady's and Gentleman's Magazine may be had at Mr. Kneedler's Book Store on East High Street, for twenty-five cents a number.

"Augmented Taxation."

☞We have given under the Legislative head in to day's paper a synopsis of the provisions of a bill introduced into the Legislature by the Committee on Ways and Means. It provides for the collection of sufficient money by taxation to meet the interest on the State Debt. We do not know with what favor it may meet in the Legislature, but we are glad that the subject is now in a tangible shape before the House.

A Tyler Convention.

☞The Philadelphia papers speak of a Tyler Convention having been held in that city on the 22d, but we have not seen its proceedings. We learn however that John Tyler was nominated for the Presidency! The whole Tyler party of Cumberland county in the person of Mr. Edward Showers, attended the convention. Wonder if Cumberland took the banner? Col. Andrews, late Clerk of the House, at Harrisburg, also figured in its proceedings.

Tavern Licenses.

☞Applicants for Tavern License must recollect that their petitions must not only be published three times, but the last insertion must be ten days before the meeting of the Court. Next week will be the last opportunity before the April term.

The Girard Will Case decided.

The Philadelphia Inquirer says: We learn that the Judges of the Supreme Court have unanimously decided the Girad Will Case, in favor of the city of Philadelphia. The opinion will be delivered in a few days. Our information is from a source of the highest respectability.

☞The different correspondents who talked so furiously in the last 'Volunteer,' of whipping in the refractory locos to the support of Mr. Van Buren, are replied to with the true spirit of men who will not be trampled upon, by the Editor and a correspondent of the last Shippensburg 'Democrat.' Mr. Van Buren will not go down in these 'diggins.'

Father Matthew, the distinguished Temperance Reformer of Ireland, having been kindly offered a free passage to this country in any of the splendid London or Liverpool packets belonging to Messrs. Grinnell, Minturn & Co., has accepted the offer in the same generous spirit in which it was tendered, and intends coming to New York in June.

☞The Whigs and Antimasons of Allegheny county, have, in Convention, recommended Mr. Clay for the Presidency, Mr. Denny for the Vice Presidency and Gen. Markle for Governor. Mr. Denny was elected the Pelegate to represent the District in the Baltimore Convention.

An English Company have purchased a large tract of land on the Savannah river, above Agusta, on the South Carolina side, with the intention of erecting a manufacturing establishment on a large scale. The Company it is said have a capital of some millions; and they intend transferring a large portion of it to this country.

Suicides.—Chauncy Stebbins, of Hopkinton, N. H., hung himself on Saturday last, and Edward Cox of Memphis, Tenn., drowned himself on the 2d inst. Each committed the fatal act under the influence of rum. Mr. Ira Jacobs, of Chickopee Falls, Mass., committed suicide by hanging on Thursday last. Insane.
