ROBERT

HENRY CLAY. The following beautiful and sonnetizing lines, from the pen of one of our country's well-known poets, and the friend of abolition, were first published in the year 1830. They were true then, and are true now. Not fallen—no, as well the fall. And pillared Allegheny fall.

POLITICAL

From the Geneva, N. Y. Courier. THE LABORING-MAN'S SPEECH. AN INCIDENT. In conclusion, then, Mr. President, who are these aristocrats who walk upon their Turkey carpets and ride in their splendid coaches, and whose purses are bursting with untold gold, wringing from the hard toil of honest, uncomplaining industry?

POLITICAL

From the Geneva, N. Y. Courier. THE LABORING-MAN'S SPEECH. AN INCIDENT. In conclusion, then, Mr. President, who are these aristocrats who walk upon their Turkey carpets and ride in their splendid coaches, and whose purses are bursting with untold gold, wringing from the hard toil of honest, uncomplaining industry? Who, I say, are these rich nabobs, that they should call upon us, the poor men of the country, to be taxed to swell the profits of their lordly manufacturers?

THE POLK AND TEXAS CREED

The National Convention which nominated Polk and Dallas at Baltimore have dressed up, anew, and presented the party creed, which is to triumph in the election of those gentlemen. We omit so much of that creed, says the N. Y. Tribune, as is mere flattery—words of pleasant sound and meaning—and present the balance with a few explanatory comments. It is as follows:

RESOLUTIONS

Resolved, That the Federal Government is one of limited powers, derived solely from the Constitution, and the grant of power to it, therein, ought to be strictly construed by all the departments and agents of the Government, and that it is inexpedient and dangerous to exercise doubtful constitutional powers. Resolved, That the Constitution does not confer upon the Federal Government the power to commence and carry out a general system of Internal Improvements.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. CLAY

A SLANDER NAILED! We give below a letter from Mr. Clay taken from the National Intelligencer, in answer to one written to him by the Hon. John White, calling his attention to the charge that Mr. C. had said "If gentlemen will not allow us to have black slaves, we must have white ones." &c. in a debate on the Missouri question twenty-four years ago.

WASHINGTON, MAY 7, 1844.

MY DEAR SIR:—I have received your note, bringing to my notice a certificate subscribed by five gentlemen, members of the present House of Representatives, all of them—my political opponents, which inform me is going the rounds of the local papers. The object of that certificate seems to be to verify the correctness of an extract taken from the National Intelligencer of the 1st of July, 1820. "In that extract I am stated by a former member of the House of Representatives (I believe not now living) to have remarked, in a debate which occurred a year before, to the following effect: "If gentlemen will not allow us to have black slaves, they must let us have white ones; for we cannot cut our firewood, and black our shoes, and have our wives and daughters work in the kitchen."

GREAT WHIG CONVENTION

The Whigs of New Jersey held a great and joyous State Convention at the Trenton battle ground on Wednesday last. Mr. Webster arrived by the New York train on Tuesday evening, and Mr. King of Georgia, and Mr. Stanley of North Carolina, the next morning. The procession which was long, brilliant, and grand, left the Railroad depot at 11 o'clock, and proceeded to the extensive lawn in the rear of the State House, where most admirable arrangements were made for the occasion.
