The following song and election returns were printed on a "Herald and Expositor extra, during the passage of the procession and distributed among the crowd. The returns have since been corrected up to the latest intelligence.

A NEW WHIG SONG.

WRITTEN FOR THE CELEBRATION Air-"OLD DAN TOOKER." The Locos met at Baltimore

To choose their man for forty-four, Where having voted, fought and spoke, They nominated James K. Polk. Down with the Polk and Dallas party,

At first the party kicked like Jacks, But soon became quite gentle hacks They swore that Jimmy Polk could shine And sweep all South of Dixon's line.

Four States have spoken since that day. And all their Poke has turned to Clay! CLAY is the boy can always whine; CLAY first—CLAY last—CLAY all the time! Down, &c.

The Locos are a sorry pack, Their Chicken cock lies on his back, While our Orn Coon with paw and nose, Cries "Chapman's Cock" no longer crow Down, &c.

The Locos are a thieving set, They stole from Tyler his Texas pet; We'll give them all the Texas thunder, But to the Tariff they must knock under. Down, &c.

When Polk was on our Congress floor, He voted against the suffering poor; Though this may suit his lordship, Polk, The PEOPLE any "it was no joke."

Down, &c. Poor Jimmy Poke you ere no go, Your "Chapman" can't begin to crow, Your Rooster's but a chicken yet, Although you are "Old Hickory's pet." Down, &c.

To graft the "HICKORY" on a Poke, Is really too much for a joke,: The stalk will wither, droop and fall, Then down comes Hickory, Poke and all. Down, &c.

Brave MARKLE now we recommend, The FARMER's and his Country's FRIEND. Destin'd our Commonwealth to save, He'll prove himself-as-Wise as Brave. Down &c.

The gallant " straight-outs " true and strong Will help to haul the team along, We hear them shouting stout and hearty, Down with the plundering HUMBUG party Down &c.

The Ludies-bless their faces sweet, The lovely Ladies now we greet; We'll toast the ladies night and day, And "go ahead" and vote for Clay. Down with the plundering humbug party, We're the boys of 1840.

It will be perceived by the proceedings that resolution was passed at the meeting on Saturday, directing Saturday the 31st inst. as the day or holding the usual delegate meetings, and Monday the 2d of September for the assembling of the County Convention to nominate a Ticket. TA note from Judge Reed informs us that we did injustice to Judge Hepburn, in noticing his adjournment of the Court on Monday week-as the adjournment was ordered at the request of several Whig members of the Bar. Our paragraph was not intended to censure the Judge for the adournment-it is folly to construe it so. We hope o have credit for more "magnanimity" than that. The remark we ascribed to the Judge he certainly made, for we heard him, and we only intended refer in jocular terms to the manner in which his Honor had been deceived with respect to the ming of that mass of people and those big wagons, which the Volunteer led him to anticipate! It is well known that after the adjournment not nore than four delegations came in-one from Dillstown, another from Perry and two others from South Middleton and Dickinson-in each of which there, was one big wagon and a few nuller ones. So much to relieve ourself of an injust charge of falsehood.
