THE FAMILY CIRCLE.

THE PARADISE OF TEARS.

BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT.

Beside the River of Tears, with branches low,
And bitter leaves, the funeral willows grow;
The branches stream, like the dishevelled hair
Of women in the sadness of despair.

On rolls the stream with a perpetual sigh,
The rocks moan wildly as it rushes by,
Hyssop and wormwood border all the strand,
And not a flower adorns the dreary land.

Then comes a child, whose face is like the sun,
And dips the gloomy waters as they run,
And moistens all the region, and, behold,
The ground is bright with blossoms manifold!

Where fall the tears of love the rose appears,
And where the moss is wet with friendship's tears
Forget-me-not and violet, heavenly blue,
Spring, glittering with the cheerful drops like dew.

The souls of mourners, who no more shall weep,
Float swan-like, down the current's gentle sweep,
Go up the sands that shine along its side,
And in the Paradise of Tears abide.

There every heart rejoins its kindred heart,
There in a long embrace, that none may part,
Fulfilment meets Desire, and that fair shore
Beholds its dwellers happy evermore.

THE STREAM OF LIFE.—The following beautiful and impressive illustration of life is from Bishop Heber's farewell sermon, delivered many years since, upon the eve of his departure for India to his parishoners at Hudnot, in England:

"Life bears us on like the stream of a mighty river. Our boat, at first, glides swiftly down the narrow channel through the playful murmurings of the little brook, and winding along its grassy borders.—The trees shed their blossoms over our young heads: and the flowers on the brink seem to offer themselves to our young hands, we are in hope, and we grasp eagerly at the beauties around us; but the stream hurries us on, and still our hands are empty.

"Our course in youth and manhood is along a wider and deeper flood, and amid objects more striking and magnificent.—We are animated by the moving picture of enjoyment and industry passing before us; we are excited at short-lived success, or depressed and rendered miserable by some short-lived disappointment. But our energy and our dependence are both in vain. The stream bears us on, and our joys and griefs are both left behind us; we may be shipwrecked, but we cannot anchor; our voyage may be hastened, but cannot be delayed; whether rough or smooth, the river hastens towards its home—the roaring of the waves is beneath our keel, and the land lessens from our eyes, the floods are lifted up around us, and we take our last leave of earth and its inhabitants, and of our future voyage there is no witness but the Infinite and Eternal.

"And do we still take so much thought for the future days, when the days that are gone by have so strangly and uniformly deceived us? Can we still set our hearts upon the creatures of God, when we find, by a sad experience, that the Creator only is permanent? Or shall we not rather lay aside every sin which does most easily beset us, and think of ourselves henceforth as wayfaring persons only who have no abiding inheritance but in the hope of a better world, and to whom even the world would be worse than hopeless, if it were not for our Lord Jesus Christ, and the interest which we have obtained in his mercies?"

THE WORLD.—Truly the world is a lovely place. Not the minutest blade of grass, or the humblest flower I pass by without a blessing; or the perishing ephemeron, or the everlasting hills; or the faint tinkling streamlet, or the full, far-sounding ocean—all alike in their perfections, though differing in their degrees—all these are glorious to my eye and senses. But man!—here is the rending of the divine link—man is the outcast, the spoiler, the doomed. He is no more what he once was, and what he ought to be; and I seek no further proof of the necessity of a change in his nature and destinies.

The world—I mean the world of nature—is lovely. Tell me, dear reader, have you ever looked up straight into the clear heavens, when they were mirroring as soft a blue as your mistress's eye, and thought for an instant what Space was, without feeling a weight suddenly plucked off from your head, and a moving thrill which made your pulses leap within you, from the vague sense of habitation bearing the same relation to locality that eternity does to time! And then, when you saw the smiling fields stretching far, far away on all sides of you which led off your eye to rest at last on the distant hills, did you not pant to cast yourself abroad on that glorious scene, and involuntarily murmur—

"Oh that I were,
The viewless spirit of a lovely sound,
A living voice, a breathing harmony,
A bodyless enjoyment—born and dying
With the blest tone which made me!"

Once more, is there not something inexpressably awful in the solitary magnificence of the noonday sun, as he pours down those cataracts tides of glory on this lower world?—when you think that he is [illegible] and the same moment shining for countless miles on the expanse of the glittering sea and visiting the shady forest, the busy country, the peopled city; the palace of the nobles, the hut of the beggar; the happy home of health, the hospital-ward of sickness; the rich, the proud, the rejoicing, the lavishing, the dying, the dead, and the graves. Yes, all these things, so widely differing, yet forming part of the same human life, that glorious light takes in at once.

THE STREET SCHOOL.—"There are many things learned out of school; and no where is there more learned than in the streets. Bad boys almost always live in the streets. There they are out of the way of parents and teachers and masters. There they see plenty of entertaining sights.—There they meet with many play-mates, especially with those that are older and worse. There they can halloo and shout, laugh and sing, without restraint. Especially at night, all these things are worst, and then they learn very fast. The street school is very much a night school."

"When boys are sent on errands, they sometimes stop by the way, and take street lessons. They go out of their proper course and stand at corners, and gape at new sights. There are classes of the street school at the doors of the theatre and circus, and whenever there is a fire, a procession, or a training, or when a crowd follows the constable and his prisoner.

"The street lessons are various. Idleness is the first and the chief. Curiosity about evil is the next. Boldness and impudence are also taught. Then come profane and filthy words, vile jests, unclean songs, quarrelling, fighting, and even drinking. After a while, the pupils in the street school are far enough advanced to go to the upper institutions, such as the gaol and alms-house."

"Thousands of parents favor this school, and some who pass for good people. It is less troublesome than any other. If you wish your boy to be entered as a street scholar, all you have to do is to let him alone. Take no care about his company. Never rebuke him for coming late from school or an errand. Do not trouble yourself about the way he passes his evenings. Never mind what time he comes home at night. Especially do not trouble yourself about sending him to Sunday School.

"The street school is very expensive.—The price is not paid in advance, or in ready money, but is sure to be demanded with heavy interest. The payment is loss of conscience, loss of character, often loss of health, and sometimes the loss of the soul."

EDUCATE YOUR CHILDREN.—The following elegant extract ought to be read by every parent, and particularly by every farmer:

"If the time shall ever come when this mighty republic shall totter; when the beacon which now rises in a pillar of fire, a sign and a wonder of the world, shall wax dim; the cause will be found in the ignorance of the people. If our Union is still to continue to cheer the hopes and animate the efforts of the oppressed of every nation; if our fields are to be untrod by the hirelings of despotism; if long days of blessedness are to attend our country in her career of glory; if you would have the sun continue to shed its unclouded rays upon the face of freemen,—then EDUCATE ALL THE CHILDREN IN THE LAND! This alone startles the tyrant in his dreams of power, and rouses the slumbering energies of an oppressed people. It was intelligence that reared up the majestic columns of our national glory; and this alone can prevent them from crumbling into ashes."—Daniel Webster.

DOING GOOD.—If men and women generally knew the degree of good they would do, merely by a little personal inquiry and relief, we are very sure that no selfish or falsely sensitive feelings would withhold them from visiting the sick-beds of the poor. We have seen the different estimation in which the poor held those who were equally charitable to them in strict essentials, because the one visited them and the other did not. When a person of rank speaks soothingly, and with the expression of interest to one in poverty and sickness, he knows that all around is not destitution and abandonment; and he sees that those whom he used to look up to with reverence and respect, have some sympathy with what he feels—some compassion for what he suffers; and his eye rekindles and his heart grows warm with the gratification of one of the first wants that nature has implanted within us—that of fellow feeling and condolence. As one of the greatest masters of the heart has said, it is not "the bit and the sup" alone, but the giving them with "the look and kindness, which gars them digest saw weel," that is among the foremost of the good deeds by which the rich have it in their power to succor and to comfort the poor.

WOMAN AND LOVE.—Affection is woman's only element; to love to look up, is her destiny; and, if unfulfilled, nothing can supply its place. Life has no real business to her beyond the sweet beating of her own heart dwelling in the shadow of another's. She may crowd her days with gayety, variety, and what are called amusements; she will do so only to find their insufficiency. She needs the strength of duty, and the interest of affection.

FREDERICK AND WASHINGTON.—The greatest compliment ever paid by one military character to another, was paid by Frederick the great to Washington. "His hand is an army, and his head is a state council."

PROFANE SWEARING.—"Gentlemen, never swear." So said Washington, who we believe never allowed profane swearing in his presence or in his hearing, while in command of the army of the revolution.

☞ A gentleman in town, not long since put his spectacles on over his ear, and walked sideways nearly two miles through a violent shower of rain.

Cheaper than Ever.

TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT.

AS working cheap these hard times appears to be the order of the day among the tailors of the Borough, the subscriber does not feel inclined to be more backward than his neighbors in the work of reform—and therefore respectfully announces to his old customers and the public generally, that he intends for the future to work as cheap, and if needs be, perhaps a little cheaper, as any of his fellow craft, and he will do it too in the neatest and most fashionable style.

His shop is at the old stand in High street, two doors west of the Court House, and directly opposite Bentons Hotel, where he will at all times be found willing and able to please all who may favor him with their custom.

He returns his sincere thanks for the liberal patronage he has heretofore received and respectfully solicits a continuance of public favor; remember when you go to a store to purchase a Coat, Vest or pants, that the subscriber keeps a cheap and fashionable shop, and that he is determined to be behind none of his contemporaries in any thing.

PROTECTION AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE.

THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY MUTUAL PROTECTION COMPANY, being incorporated by an act of the Legislature of the present session, and fully organized and in operation under the direction of the following board of Managers, viz: Thomas C. Miller, John Moore, David W. McCullough, James Weakly, William Moore, Samuel Galbraith, Thomas Paxton, A. G. Miller, Philip Spangler, Samuel Woods, Abraham Kurtz, George Brindle, Scott Doyle, call the attention of the inhabitants of Cumberland Valley to the cheapness of their rates and the many advantages which this kind of insurance has over many others.

1st. Every person insured becomes a member of the company and takes part in the choice of officers and the direction of its concerns.

2d. For insurance no more is demanded than is necessary to meet the expenses of the Company and indemnity against losses which may happen.

3d. The inconvenience of frequent renewals is avoided by insuring for a term of five years. But policies can be taken for any period from one to five years.

4th. Any person applying for insurance must give his premium according to the cheapest class at the rate of five per cent on which will be $50 on to $1000 for which he will have to pay $2,50 for 5 years and $1,50 for survey and policy, and no more must be else sustained to a greater amount than the sum on hands will cover, and then no more will be required than a pro rata share of these rates i. e. much cheaper than those of other companies, except such as are incorporated on the same principles.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan 8, 1843.

MESSRS THOMPSON—Dear Sirs From a sense of gratitude to You and a desire that the afflicted may have recourse to your truly invaluable medicine, I would state the benefit I have experienced from its use. For some time past I have been afflicted with a distressing racking cough, accompanied with great oppression and difficulty of breathing with a sensation of tightness at the chest. Becoming greatly alarmed a friend who had been much benefited by your medicine recommended me to try it. I done so and in a very short time every alarming symptom disappeared, my expectoration became free, all oppression left me, my cough ceased and in a few days I was able to go out and attend to my business a well man. Any further information will be cheerfully given the afflicted by calling at my residence No 9 South Front street.

DOUGLASSVILLE, April, 19, 1843.

Mr. Oakeley—My son Edmund Leaf, had the scrofula in the most dreadful and distressing manner for three years, during which time he was deprived of the use of his limbs, his head and neck were covered with ulcers. We tried all the different remedies, but to no effect until recommended by Dr. Johnson, of Norristown, and also Dr. Isaac Hiester, of Reading, to use your Depurative Syrup of Sarsaparilla, of which I obtained several bottles; the use of which drove the disease entirely out of his system, the sores healed up, and the child was restored to perfect health, which he has enjoyed uninterruptedly ever since, to the astonishment of many persons who seen him during his affliction. I have thought it my duty, and send you this certificate, that others who have a like affliction in the family may know where to obtain so valuable a medicine.

FACTS WORTH KNOWING

Dr. Leidy's

Sarsaparilla Blood Pills;

Are the only Pills in existence containing Sarsaparilla.

Their composition is of a peculiar character, composed of Vegetable Extracts that are diuretic, sidorific, expectorant and cathartic, by which combination they are adapted to most forms of disease and may be taken at all times, by young and old, robust and feeble, with perfect safety, without interfering with habits, occupation, or regular course of living.

They will at all times, be found serviceable as a Purgative, cleansing the stomach and bowels, as well as a purifier of the blood and animal fluids, in addition to their other qualities; because, containing Sarsaparilla and other valuable medical extracts in their composition, and which makes them preferable to all other Pills.

More than 1,000 Certificates have been published at various times of their efficacy in various diseases, and where all other medicines had failed; as the public must have read many of them, further publication of them is deemed unnecessary, on account of the great expense.

More than 100,000 Boxes

have been sold in Philadelphia alone, the past year thus showing that in the place where they are manufactured, they have a reputation, greater than any other pills—which arises from the fact that Dr. Leidy is well known at home as a regular Physician, and his pills are consequently employed with greater confidence than any other; in addition to their known efficacy.

Let it be remembered

it is not the quantity of pills or other medicine you can get for the same money, is the best or cheapest but the quality. Of cheap medicines or pills, you, of course, get the most; and you are induced to take the more, under the impression if a little does good, more will do more good, and you make drug shops of your stomachs, causing oftentimes serious injury to yourselves for life.

Dr. Leidy's Blood Pills are composed of more expensive ingredients, and require more nicety and labor in their preparation, than any other pills—the apparatus alone for preparing the extracts contained in his pills, costing over three thousand dollars.

Price 25 cents a box.

They are prepared only, and sold wholesale and Retail, at Dr. Leidy's Health Emporium, No 191 North Second street below Vine st. Also by

To the Public.

THOMPSON'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF TAR AND WOOD NAPTHA.

For the Prevention and Cure of Pulmonary Consumption.

OF all diseases incident to our climate there is none so universal and at the same time insidious and fatal as Consumption. In this country especially Pulmonary Consumption is emphatically a scourge, and in its resistless career sweeps o'er the land as a destroying Angel, laying low with relentless hand the strongest and fairest of our race! Hitherto all efforts to arrest this dread disease have proved in vain and all that seemed within our power was at best the alleviation of suffering, rendering somewhat smoother the certain progress to the tomb.

The Compound Syrup of Tar is a combination heretofore unknown, exerting a power over the disease scarcely conceivable; having a specific action on the mucous tissue and at the same time bringing the whole system under its powerful influence it completely eradicates the cause of disease be it hereditary or otherwise, and thus by striking at the root of the complaint imparts tone to debilitated organs, affords renewed vigor to the general system and thus restores the patient to permanent health.

This invaluable medicine is put up in bottles, having the following words blown in the glass—"Thompson's Compound Syrup of Tar for Consumption" without which none is genuine.

Price 50 cents per bottle. Six bottles for $2,50.

CARSLEY'S COMPOUD PURATIVE SYRUP.

For the cure of Obstinate Eruptions of the Skin; Pimples or Pustules on the Face; Biles which arise from an impure habit of body; Scaly Eruptions; Pains in the Bones; Chronic Rheumatism; Tetter; Scrofula or King's Evil; White Swellings; Syphilitic Symptoms; and all disorders arising from an impure state of the blood, either by a long residence in a hot, and unhealthy climate, the injudicious use of Mercury, &c.

This Medicine has frequently been found highly beneficial in Chronic Coughs, or Colds of long standing.

This Medicine has been extensively used in the United States with decided benefit in Scrofula, Mercurial diseases, and in all cases of an ulcerated character. As an alterative in the spring, and fall seasons, it is unequalled. It possesses many advantages over the decoctions, and is introduced as a preparation more portable, not liable to injury by long keeping, and better adapted to the use of persons travelling or residing abroad.

The proprietor begs leave to call attention to the following certificates, selected from a large number approving its efficacy:

READING, March 3, 1839.

This certifies that my wife Mrs. Deem, had for nearly eleven years suffered from a scrofulous eruption resembling tetter which ate deep holes in her face, neck and arms, the constant discharge of which destroyed her health, and frequently confined her for different periods to her bed, during which time her sufferings were very great. The best medical attendance was obtained, and all the known remedies were tried with but an alleviation of her complaint, which always returned with increased malignity. Having lost all hopes of recovery, she had almost determined to give up the use of any other medicines, when I was, however, by persuasion, induced to try Oakeleigh Depilatory of Sarsaparilla, the use of five bottles of which has removed the disease, and restored her to perfect health.

THOMAS DEEM,
opposite the depot, Reading, Pa.

This is to certify that my little son, about eight years old, had suffered for a long time from extensive sores on the right knee and leg, supposed to have been white swelling, which I found impossible to heal, even by the aid of the most respectable medical ladies, until I was recommended to use Mr. Oakeley's Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, 8 bottles of which not only healed the sores, but perfectly restored the child's health, which had suffered much in consequence of this affection.

CATHARINE DINGEMAN,
7th, above Penn street, Reading.

The above case was presented to me both before and after the use of Mr. Oakeley's Syrup of Sarsaparilla, and I have no hesitation in believing that I was the agent of his restoration.

JOHN P. HIESTER, M. D.

DOUGLASSVILLE, April, 19, 1843.

Mr. Oakeley—My son Edmund Leaf, had the scrofula in the most dreadful and distressing manner for three years, during which time he was deprived of the use of his limbs, his head and neck were covered with ulcers. We tried all the different remedies, but to no effect until recommended by Dr. Johnson, of Norristown, and also Dr. Isaac Hiester, of Reading, to use your Depurative Syrup of Sarsaparilla, of which I obtained several bottles, the use of which drove the disease entirely out of his system, the sores healed up, and the child was restored to perfect health, which he has enjoyed uninterruptedly ever since, to the astonishment of many persons who seen him during his affliction. I have thought it my duty, and send you this certificate, that others who have a like affliction in the family may know where to obtain so valuable a medicine.

Yours, truly, A. D. LEAF.

CHILDREN CRY FOR SHERMAN'S LOZENGES, and grown people say they are the pleasantest and most effective medicine in use. Enormous quantities are sold, and every body likes them. Freeman Hunt, Esq., editor of the Merchants Magazine, says they cured his cough in a few hours. The Rev. Mr. Dunbar, of the McDougal street church, was cured of a very bad cold and cough in one day. The Rev. Mr. Anthony, of the Methodist Church, was cured of consumption by them.

SHERMAN'S WORM LOZENGES have saved the lives of thousands. Ask W. E. Evans, Esq., 6 Walker st., the Hon. Edward Porter, Hon. Mr. Beardsley; Dr. S. Hunter, and nearly all our physicians, what they think of Sherman's Lozenges, and they will tell you they are excellent—the only infallible medicine known.

SHERMAN'S CAMPHOR LOZENGES are real antidotes to headache, palpitation, sea sickness, lowness of spirits and despondency—or the effects of dissipation. Capt. Chadwick, of the Wellington, Mr. Ackerman, the great sign painter, Mayor Clark, and almost every body knows their value.

POOR MAN'S PLASTER—Sherman's we mean—costs 12½ cents, and is sure to cure rheumatism, lumbago, pain or weakness in the breast, side, or back; also piles—and the cure women has been applied to the part. Ask Joe Hoxie, or any one who has used it, and would give $5 for one sooner than five cents for all other plasters.

Sold in Carlisle at HUNTER & KNEEDLER'S Book Store, East High street, who are sole Agents for Carlisle.

Worms! Worms!

IF parents knew the value and efficacy of Dr. Leidy's Patent Vegetable Worm Tea, they never would be without it in their families, as children are subject at all times to Worms.

Dr. Leidy's Worm Tea is composed of vegetables altogether, and may be given to children of all ages. Directions accompany each package.

Children suffer much, often, at times, from so many things being given them for worms, without any effect. Much medicine given to children, has a tendency to destroy their general health, and they are more or less delicate ever after.

To avoid the necessity of giving medicine unnecessarily when you are certain your children have worms give them at first Dr. Leidy's Worm Tea. It is all that is necessary.

Reference might be made to several hundred parents in Philadelphia city and county, of the efficacy of Dr. Leidy's Worm Tea. Try it and you will be convinced.

Price 12½ cents a small, and 25 cents a large package. Prepared only, and for sale, wholesale and Retail, at Dr. Leidy's Health Emporium, No. 191 North Second street, below Vine, sign of the Golden Eagle and Serpent, Philadelphia.
