SUICIDE OF A CLERGYMAN. - The Rev. James Jackson, a young and promising clergyman of the Episcopal Church, located Massachusetts, drowned himself last week. It appears from the Republican that he had returned but a few days from the South, where he had been travelling two months for the restoration of his health, which I ad been impaired by a laborious performance of his clerical duties. 'The Coroner's inquest had no hesitation, upon the very render an instant verdict of "insanity."

A "Note Book," ARRANGED TO A HAND SOME TUNE .- The New York papers inform us that a wealthy centleman called on Bisliop Onderdonk one day last week, and on taking leave, thade him a present of a book. On taking off the wrapper and o pening to the title page, there was a hundred dellar bank note; on turning over leaf there was another; a third leaf, and there was a third bill; over the fourth leaf a fourth bill; and over the fifth leaf a fifth bill, until it seemed as though the book was a volume of one hundred dollar bills.
