at the prison door, exerting ourselves both by force and argument, a party, utterly without our knowledge, was in the dungeon, of which we were not acquainted, either by the jailer or any other person, who, before we were aware of it, had the prisoners in the open street, where we were unable to make further opposition, and they were gone in less than a second.

The jailer says that a pistol was held at his breast, and this is all we can at present say of that circumstance.

Your Honor's most obedient servant.

JOHN ARMSTRONG.

P. S. The bearer Mr. Cunningham is a prudent young man—knows the state of these things, and may be depended on in any question your Honor, or the Chief Justice, may think proper to ask.

The following will cast some additional light on this point.

Hon. JOHN PENN.—Please your Honor

Through I am very certain you will receive full intelligence of the affair of Frederick Stump before this can reach you yet as my conduct and character are so much concerned, I pray your Honor to receive the following plain statement of the case, as all the vindication I can offer is my conduct, James Galbreath, Esq., brought to Carlele, and delivered to me the chief justice's warrant on the 31st day of January, immediately on the receipt thereof, I summoned a guard to attend me next day to go in quest of Stump; but that very evening, Captain Patterson brought him with his servants, and delivered them to me. Next day I summoned a guard to set off with the prisoners on Monday morning, and accordingly my guard attended at the jail early, and I was just ready to set off in obedience to the chief justice's warrant, having the same morning received a letter from the sheriff of Lancaster, who waited for me at John Harris' Col. Armstrong sent for me, and told me they had concluded to keep Stump, and not send him down. I alleged to him, I was not obliged to obey any orders of any magistrate in Cumberland county, as I had the chief magistrate's warrant to the contrary. But he insisted, I should not take him off, but discharge my guard, which I absolutely refused, whereupon the Col. went to jail and discharged my guard, brought up the prisoner, examined him and by mittimus, committed him; and wrote to some other justice to attend in Carlele on Wednesday.

On Wednesday, while said justices were sitting in council, a large party under arms came very near Carlele and sent in messengers to the magistrates and to me, claiming that they should be well used, and not sent to attend in Carlele on Wednesday.

As I was just ready to set off in obedience to the chief justice's warrant, having the same morning received a letter from the sheriff of Lancaster, who waited for me at John Harris' Col. Armstrong sent for me, and told me they had concluded to keep Stump, and not send him down. will pay very little regard to my endeavor, I am your Honor's Fearful, that I have already argued too largely, I will close this No. and that shortly hereafter, another sheet of "My Collections" will be transmitted.

A NARRATIVE OF CRIMINALS.
Lancaster, Pa. May 11, 1845.

ROBERT AND THE FALLS.
Every body knows, says the St. Louis Reveille, that the West is a great place for getting married in, and it is pleasant to know that the fair ones are just as satisfied with their condition afterwards. We don't know who "Clarinda" is, or how or where her letter first became public, but here it is:

Hallmarks, Grand Illinois, 1800, & 44.
Dear Clarinda—I got here two weeks ago, and here I shall certainly spend my days. Mr. Garrison, that came out with me left me at Shekigo, and I was glad on it, for I never did see a feller stick to a gal as he did to me, and it warn't for nothing, neither—but he didn't talk of marryin' me, but was jest hagin' round me, but I told him to keep his distance—this is the way to use such fellows. I've a notion that here in a fix with a gal down Kanick—any how, I wouldn't look at him now, for I've had five fellers to spart me since I came here, and another wants to cum, so I gave him the bags. One of my spartes got three quarter sechins and hois, is six foot tall, and four yoke oxen, and is a widder and wants to marry me next week, but I shall wait a little and see if I can do any better; for between two widowers are as queer and talk fit up so, they always frizen me—but howsumever I spose they don't mean more than their men. This country is very large and so is men, and the prays they say is follin but I don't see but they are as still as any other place. Meetings is scarce here and wheat don't fetch but 2 and 6—any and potatoes they almost give away and such lots of children the unfeeling mothers feed their babies on pork and potatoes on account of milk sickness in this country, a pity way to grow babies I guess you'll think.

Now you must cum out I know you'll make your fortune here. Jim sez, there's only one gal on the hill of big prays, with golden hair like yours and she got an offer every day in the week after she got here. Now she's got a husband a nice house and farm and a pair of twins. You can't help liking the country—tell Amy if she comes here she won't have to keep wishing and a looking for the fellers as we used to in Westbrook, out here they rite after you before you think of it. Tell mother I hope she'll come to see me as soon as I get to housekeepin and if she thinks on it she may bring them little red socks in the bill of my chest. When you cum be sure and go with the steamboat Chesapeake, Captain Wiley at Butler—he is the nicest man on the water, was so good to us all. I shall love him if he is a married man. Give my love to Jane, and ask her how she and Bill gets on; and if he's popped the question yet. She may have him for all me—I can do better. I can pick up my likins among the fellers here. Nobody can't help liking this country. No more from your loving Cousin till death.

MORAL INFLUENCE OF SHADE TREES.
Nothing presents to the eye more delightful evidence of good moral sentiment, as well as refinement, in city or country, than streets and dwellings shaded by ornamental trees. It is indeed questionable, whether a few dollars can be expended in any other way, to contribute so much for the improvement of taste, as well as for the satisfaction of the whole community, as in planting such trees. How grateful to the eye and soothing to the spirit, in a bright sunny day, if, instead of the glare of a constant succession of brick walls, the side walks of our city streets were lined by a rich variety of beautiful foliage. And what an innocent and healthful pleasure, as well as an elevation of moral feeling, must the exhibition of such foliage afford to the tenant of every graceful home in the country, and to the thousand passing travellers. How much of the unpleasantness of summer travel might be relieved, and what an impress of beauty and moral grandeur might be given to American scenery and American character, by leaving and planting such rows of useful and ornamental trees, along the ten thousand avenues of the nation.

This sheet, by the season, will be passing away, for securing from the forest abundant supplies of these ornaments and comforts, which, like the flowers of the field, will flourish, and will properly reckon among the benign "smiles of Heaven," and which cannot be slighted or underrated by any without evidence of ingratitude, intolerance, evennessness or ingratitude to the Giver of all good.
