A Day in Lowell.

EXTRACT OF A LETTER DATED LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 16, 1845.

As I promised to keep you advised of every thing that was particularly interesting during my visit to the East, I take this occasion to give you some idea of what is done in Lowell, and in doing so the difficulty is not as to what I shall write, but where I shall begin. This city of spindles is made up in the main of eleven corporations, with a gross capital of over twelve millions of dollars. The corporations have in operation thirty-six mills, generally six stories high, beside the calico print works and bleaching works, and employ 6,300 females and 2,000 males. These mills consume annually, 12,500 tons of anthracite coal, 3,200 cords of wood, 600,000 bushels of charcoal, 800,000 pounds of starch, and 61,000 bales of cotton; and put out to their operatives over $1,500,000 a year. They manufacture annually of cotton goods, about 76,000,000 yards, and of this amount there is printed at the print works about fourteen millions of yards.—The process of carding, spinning and weaving cotton is so generally understood that I will pass it over; but the matter of printing is so different from what you might suppose, that I will attempt to give you some idea of it, and that too in as brief a manner as possible. The cotton web designed for printing, is first perfectly bleached, which is a most beautiful operation, and is completed in about ten hours. The bleach house is so extensive that fifteen hundred pieces per day can be bleached. The web is then put into the printing machine, which is a cylinder press, with a very long apron which carries it over warm cylinders to dry the print, and so constructed that four or six copper printing rollers with as many different colors can be introduced; but the most singular part of the process is, that the colors which you see printed on the web are not the colors which the piece is to have when finished. The colors as printed by the press are fugitive and merely imparted to the paste or thickening which is imprinted by the rollers, to enable the operator to judge of the perfectness of the work. This thickening, contains the mordant, that is, the peculiar substance which combining chemically with the cloth, enables it to dye a peculiar color, according to the nature of the mordant and dye wood. The cloth dyes merely where the mordant is applied, that is, on the printed figure only. The mordants generally used are alumn and coperas, each of which is first changed to accetate of alumnia, or iron, that is, the color maker takes away the oil of vitriol from the alumn and copperas, and substitutes vinegar in its place. After the webs are printed they are transferred to the dye kettles or vats; and I may state that with madder, iron dyes black and purple, according to its strength, alumn dyes red and various shades, and a mixture of the two dyes chocolate, so that the singular spectacle is here presented of various colors, coming out of the same dye kettle, according to the mordants used and the colors are all fast. After the pieces are dyed they are effectually washed in dash-wheels, aged or sized and put up for packing. This whole process is one of the most beautiful I ever witnessed.

The next matter that struck us as exceedingly ingenuous was the card machine, for manufacturing cotton and woolen cards. In this machine, a piece of leather of the width desired, is placed on a horizontal slide, the wire for the teeth upon a reel.—The machine being set in motion, punches the holes, cuts and bends the wire and sets the teeth at the rate of about one hundred and fifty per minute. This remarkable machine operates in this way.—There is a little two pronged stabber, with spurs about a quarter of an inch in length and a square shoulder which is forced forward and punches the holes. While this operation is going on, the wire is drawn forward between kind of complicated plyer until it strikes a guage that gives the teeth their proper length, when it is cut off bent round at both ends, and instantly forced through the holes that the punch has just left, and caught on the other side of the leather by another pair of plyers, which give the teeth their proper set. I saw twelve of these extraordinary machines in a small room, and each were setting the card teeth so fast that I could not keep the count.

To give a description of all the machinery would make a book, and then it would only be half understood. I shall therefore close this letter with a few words in regard to the general appearance of the Lowell Factories, and of the female operatives.—The factories are kept as most boarding houses. A number of laboring women are constantly employed in scrubbing them.—The girls all appeared healthy, cheerful and contented, and many of them very intelligent. They are the very antipodes of all we have read of English factory girls.—Here, at the ringing of the bell at half past 5 o'clock, you will see 8000 girls leaving the mills, all genteelly dressed, some indeed, a little extravagantly, with hand some gold ear rings, breast pin, gold pencil, &c., repairing to their boarding houses which are generally owned by the corporations not with a view of speculation but for the purpose of having a supervisory care over the whole of their female operatives. These houses are rented at cheap rates by the agents of the mills. There are no males permitted to board in the female boarding houses, all the keepers of the houses usually act as the counsellors and advisers of their boarders, who are nearly all from a distance. The girls earn from one dollar and fifty cents to five dollars and fifty over and above their board, which is furnished them at the lowest rate of one dollar and twenty five cents. This, it will be perceived is better than hiring out to service, and they show it. One fourth of these females are either members of churches or teachers or members of Sunday Schools; and this is some evidence of the high state of morality of the place—which am told will compare favorably with any place of equal size in the United States. Besides being contented and happy, many of these ladies are possessed of a laudable ambition. In the long winter evenings they club together in their boarding houses, hire a piano, engage a teacher, and pass their time in learning to discourse sweet melody. Some of them have even gotten up a literary society, where they meet together every fortnight, to read over their productions in prose and poetry, and the best pieces are selected for publication in the "Lowell Offering!" a monthly periodical published by the factory girls, that has not only elicited the admiration of our own people, but has been re-published in London under the significant title of "Mind among the Spindles," and when the Offering is presented to us by these artless unpretending girls, and we peruse its pages, the idea involuntarily forces itself upon us that there is more mind among the spindles than in many of our fashionable boarding schools.

GEORGE W. CROSS,

Wholesale Foreign and domestic Dry Good Store, No. 30 Bank st. Philadelphia.

(1st st running south from Market st. below 3d.)

All goods are sold at Package or Auction cost prices for next cash, or if on 6 months credit 5 per cent is added to the bill.

The subscriber intends to keep what is strictly called a "one price store" and to sell all his goods at Package or Auction cost prices for next cash, or on time for approved credit, and will then add 5 pr ct., to the bill for the credit. He has established his business on that principle and finds it gives general satisfaction. Customers can rely on buying their goods at the very lowest market rates, as the lowest prices are asked first, by which, time is saved to both purchaser and seller, and no necessity for beating down. He has constantly on hand, and will continue to be supplied with a good assortment of seasonable Dry Goods, designed for and adapted to the near country trade to which he now invites the attention of the merchants of this neighborhood, impressed with a belief that they like many others will patronize the system of transacting business adopted and strictly adhered to by the advertiser.—Call and see.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR IS DUE.

It may be truly said, that no one has ever been so successful, in compounding a medicine, which has done so to relieve the human family, to rob disease of its terrors, and to restore the Invalid to health and comfort, as the Inventor and Proprietor of that most deservedly popular family medicine DR. SWAYNE'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF WILD CHERRY; and it has been so generally patronized by the Profession and others, both in this country and in Europe, nor has there ever been so great an effort in the short space of only six or seven years, to deceive the credulous and unthinking, by putting up Nostrums of various kinds, by various individuals, affixing the name of Wild Cherry and as much of the name of original preparation as will screen them from the lash of the law, and one of the Impostors who puts out the counterfeit, is the shop and call it the Balsam of Wild Cherry, has had the impudence to caution the public against the Original preparation, Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, which is doing so much good in the world.

☞ BEWARE OF SUCH IMPOSTERS ☜

And purchase none but the original and only genuine article as prepared by Dr. Swayne, which is the only one compounded by a regular Physician, and arose from many years' close attention to the Practice of the Profession, and which lead to this great discovery. Thousands and tens of thousands of the best testimonials of the unparalleled success of Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry for the cure of

CONSUMPTION,

Coughs, Colds, Spitting Blood, Liver Complaint, Tickling or Itching in the Throat, Nervous Debility, Weakness of Voice, Palpitation or Disease of the Heart, Pain in the Side or Breast, Broken Constitution from various causes, the abuse of calomel &c. Bronchitis, Asthma, Whooping Cough, &c., are here declared to the world years before any other preparation of Wild Cherry came out. The most skeptical may satisfy themselves as to the truth of the above, by a little inquiry in Philadelphia. The genuine article is prepared only by Dr. Swayne, whose office has been removed to N. W. corner of 8th and Race streets, Philada. The Balsam and other spurious articles of Wild Cherry has been sold out and resold out, and the proprietors are obliged to resort to Falsehood and Stratagem to make their own out of it. The genuine article is put up in plain style in square bottles, covered with a blue wrapper, with a yellow label with the proprietor's signature attached.

☞ The Public are requested to remember that it is Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, that has and is repeatedly performing such miraculous cures of diseases which have baffled the skill of the Profession, and set at defiance the whole catalogue of Patent Medicines, which are daily puffed through the organs of the press. Therefore ask for Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, and purchase no other."

PROTECTION AGAINST LOSS
BY FIRE.

THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY MUTUAL PROTECTION COMPANY, being incorporated by an act of the Legislature of the presentsession, and fully organized and in operation under the direction of the following named Managers, viz: Thomas C. Miller, John Moore, David W. McCollough, James Weakly, William Moore, Samuel Galbraith, Thomas Paxton, A. G. Miller, Philip Spangler, Samuel Woods, Abraham Kurtz, George Brindle, Scott Doyle, call the attention of the inhabitants of Cumberland Valley to the cheapness of their rates and the many advantages which this kind of insurance has over any other.

1st. Every person insured becomes a member of the company and takes part in the choice of officers and the direction of its concerns.

2d. For insurance no more is demanded than is necessary to meet the expenses of the Company and indemnify against losses which may happen.

3d. The inconvenience of frequent renewals is avoided by insuring for a term of three years. But policies can be taken for any period from one to five years.

4th. Any person applying for insurance must give his premium note for the cheapest class at the rate of five per centum, which will be $50 on the $1000 for which he will have to pay $2,50 for five years and $1,50 for survey and policy, and no more unless he sles sustained to a greater amount than the fund on hands will cover, and then no more will be required than a pro rata share. These rates are much cheaper than those of other companies, except such as are incorporated on the same principles.

Harrisburg, May 1, 1844.

1000 Persons in Philadelphia alone, can testify to the wonderful efficacy of that powerful remedy, THOMPSON'S COMPOUND SYRUP OF TAR AND WOOD NARTHA Read! Read! Astonishing cure of Chronic Bronchitis!

Philadelphia, May 23, 1844.

Mr. S. THOMPSON—Dear Sir: For more than four years past I had been dreadfully afflicted with an affection of the throat, which my physician pronounced "Chronic Bronchitis," caused by repeated and neglected colds. The distress suffered is indescribable. My throat was literally raw with violent coughing, so that blood would come from it; also great oppression, pain and tightness at the chest man fever—in short all the usual pulmonary symptoms showed themselves, showed themselves, causing entire loss of necessary repose—my throat was leached and blistered over and over again. I made trial of every known remedy, and at different periods had the advice of six physicians, and all with no avail. About two months since I made trial of your Compound Syrup of Tar and Wood Naptha, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt relief. I continued until I had taken seven bottles, which completely removed the disease and restored me to perfect health, and I firmly believe I should not now be living, had it not been for your invaluable medicine.
