The Grain Trade of the U. States.

GROWTH—CONSUMPTION—AND SUPPLY. The Commissioner of Patents, says Bicknell's Reporter, has prepared some valuable tables in relation to the grain trade of the United States.

Table with 2 columns: Grain and Quantity. Includes Indian Corn, Wheat, Rye, Buckwheat, Oats, and Barley.

The usual computation of statistics is, that five bushels of wheat are consumed by each individual; but inasmuch as in this country, animal food is more largely used than in any other, while Indian corn is substituted for wheat by a large class, and especially the slave population, it is assumed that an estimate of three bushels of wheat for the entire population, or three and a half each, excluding slaves, would be about correct.

Table with 2 columns: Wheat and Surplus. Lists production and consumption for 1817, 1818, 1819, and 1820.

With regard to the disposition of the surplus, the Commissioner says that the principal corn purchasing countries of the world are Great Britain, France, Holland, the West India Islands, British American colonies, Brazil and South America generally.

Table with 2 columns: Country and Bushels. Lists Great Britain, France, West Indies generally, British American Colonies, North America generally, and South America generally.

This is the estimate for the demand under ordinary circumstances. Of course a plentiful harvest will diminish it, while on the other hand a short harvest, or destruction of some crop like the potato, will greatly increase it.

On the Black Sea. She has, however, but few ports, and her transpositions from the interior are not so great as those possessed by the United States.

These sums include every expense (interest on the value of the land one item) which attends the cultivation of wheat, from the preparation of the land to thrashing and storing; of course the cost varies in different years in proportion as the harvest is abundant or scarce.

IT NEVER FAILS. YOURSELF. From this immense population, a species of disease, the dependence and propagation of which results from the use of opium.

Plainfield West of Camden, (FOUR MILES WEST OF FAIRFIELD.) FOURTH SESSION. THE FOURTH Session will commence on MONDAY, May 1st, 1847.
