

Democratic Whig Nominations
FOR PRESIDENT.
GEN. Z. TAYLOR
OF LOUISIANA.
VICE PRESIDENT,
MILLARD FILLMORE
OF NEW YORK.
CANAL COMMISSIONER,
NER MIDDLESWARTH
OF UNION COUNTY.

ELECTORAL TICKET.
SENATORIAL.
John P. Sanderson, Lebanon.
Thomas M. T. McKennan, Washington.
REPRESENTATIVE.
1. Jos. G. Clarkston
2. J. Price Westberry
3. James M. Davis
4. Thos. W. Duffield
5. Daniel O. Hiner
6. Joshua Danagan
7. John D. Steel
8. John Landies
9. Jos. Schmucker
10. Charles Snyder
11. Wm. G. Hurley
12. Francis Taylor
13. Henry Johnson
14. Wm. Collier, sr.
15. Wm. McClain
16. Chas. W. Fisher
17. A. C. G. Curtin
18. R. Davidson
19. Joseph Markle
20. Daniel Agnew
21. And. W. Loomis
22. Richard Irvin
23. Thomas H. Hill
24. S. A. Parlane

A meeting of the Whig State Central Committee has been called, to assemble at Harrisburg the 20th inst. (to-morrow) to make arrangements for a gubernatorial nomination.

The Canal Commissioners have authorized the Collectors of tolls on our public improvements to permit the Volunteer Companies of the first and second Regiments from Pennsylvania, on their return from Mexico, to pass to their homes over the public works free of toll.

Gen. Taylor will pass the Summer with his family at Passacongo, a delightful watering place about twenty miles from Biloxi.

The Government has determined to make a permanent military station at Corpus Christi, and has purchased a site for the purpose of erecting a barracks.

Hon. Wm. G. Bates—The Westfield News Letter contains a letter, written by Hon. W. G. Bates, one of the delegates at large from Massachusetts, to the National Whig Convention, in which he comes out strongly for Taylor and Fillmore.

Taylor among the Boatmen. A gentleman lately returned from the western part of Pennsylvania stated, that out of forty-eight canal boats which he saw on the Pennsylvania Canal, forty-two had the Taylor flag flying, and the other six were divided among four candidates.

Gov. Johnston. The Whig press of the state hails the accession of Gov. Johnston to the Executive chair with unexampled enthusiasm. The papers all rejoice that the Whig Senators have made a happy choice, and predict the best results to the State and the party from his administration. Known to be a true Whig and an able statesman, and an honest man, all feel confident that he will honor the station to which he has been called. From the Mt. Vernon Journal, one of the first Whig journals in Pennsylvania, we take the following extract, merely adding that the sentiments we endorse fully and without reservation.

Mr. Johnston is the first Whig who has occupied the Executive chair during the last ten years; and we are confident that he will administer the laws, that the people will be well satisfied to continue the Whig succession for at least ten years to come. Of Mr. Johnston it is unnecessary to speak; he is well known in Pennsylvania, and universally esteemed. His talents are of the highest order; his character is unblemished; and his course in the Legislature has been moderate, wise, and just. At home he is greatly beloved by his neighbors and friends, and he was elected to the Senate in a district which gives a large Locofoco majority. We look forward to his administration with the highest confidence.

The American flag, worked by American ladies resident in the city of Mexico, the stars and stripes of which floated over the capital of Mexico, has been brought home by Captain Charles Taylor, 2d Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, who was superintendent of the Police, and will be delivered by order of Gen. Butler to the War Department for preservation.

Hon. Wm. R. King, it is officially announced, has been appointed by the Governor of Alabama to fill the vacancy occasioned by Mr. Boggs's resignation of his seat in the Senate of the United States. This is a great acquisition of talent to the Alabama Legislature, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Hon. Thomas Edwin, of Ohio, General in the late war, has been elected to the office of Secretary of the Treasury, and will be sworn in on the 20th inst. His appointment is a great honor to him, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the Treasury.

Ohio papers, in favor of General Taylor. The Ohio papers, in favor of General Taylor, are making a great impression. The Cincinnati Enquirer has published a long and able article in support of Taylor and Fillmore, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

The Popular Revolution.

The signs of the times, meeting the eye, indicate the elevation of Gen. ZACHARY TAYLOR to the Presidency, by a majority unprecedented in the political history of this country. The murky clouds of Locofocoism which have so long darkened the political horizon, are rapidly disappearing before the bright sunlight of Whig victory. From every quarter we continue to receive the cheering intelligence that the PEOPLE, irrespective of party, are thronging around the Taylor banner, with an enthusiasm that knows no bounds. The name of the laurel-crowned Hero is acting like a talisman upon his countrymen! His praises are heralded by every tongue, and the malignant opposition of his Locofoco slanderers is crushed beneath the avalanche of popular opinion! Why that takes time to contrast the situation of the rival parties, can doubt the result in November next. What earthly power can check the whirlwind of popular enthusiasm that is rapidly bearing the noble-hearted old Hero of Buena Vista towards the Presidential chair, or stay the torrent of public indignation that threatens to overwhelm and annihilate every vestige of Locofocoism! As well attempt to resist the mighty mountain torrent, or "bind the chainless and unbidden wind."

The patriotic masses, who love their country more than party, are now fully aroused—the spirit and enthusiasm of '40 and '44 is again abroad in the land—the Whig fires which then burned so brightly, are being re-kindled in every valley and on every mountain cliff, and will serve as beacon-lights to illuminate our pathway to a civic triumph, equal in importance and brilliancy, to that achieved by our glorious old standard-bearer, on the bloody heights of Buena Vista.

"TAYLOR AND THE PROSPERITY OF THE COUNTRY," is the motto inscribed upon the folds of the broad Whig banner, and the patriotic People of all parties, in every section of the Union, are coming to the rescue, armed at all points, and with a fixed resolution to do battle with patriot hearts and strong arms. The determination of the people to crown our Nation's bravest champion with the highest honors of the Republic, is too palpably evident to be mistaken. The popular demonstrations everywhere, furnish conclusive evidence, that the lion-hearted old Hero who "NEVER SURRENDERS" is destined to be the successor of the present unworthy occupant of the White House.

The fiat of the People has gone forth on the wings of devotion and love, and there will be no resisting its might!

Whigs of Cumberland county, you have an important part to perform in the great struggle now going on between the PEOPLE and the spoils cohorts of Locofocoism. Let none flatter in the performance of their duty. Now is the time for preparatory action. Arise, therefore, at once, and present an undivided front to the foe. Buckle on your political armor, and nobly resolve, in the language of the gifted Cooper, to "follow the Whig-standard into the thickest of the fight!"

Mr. Cooper's Position. The evident disposition, generally manifested throughout the State, says the Gettysburg Star, to know the wishes of the Hon. JAMES COOPER, relative to the nomination of a candidate for Governor, induces us to make known his position. Mr. COOPER has no wishes on the subject. He is in the hands of his friends; in whatever way they dispose of him he will be satisfied. If they nominate him, he will not refuse to act as their standard-bearer, and will do his best to secure victory for the party. If they should nominate another, he will be equally well satisfied, and will labor as hard for him as he would have done for himself. The success of the Whig cause is always the first object with Mr. Cooper, and it rests entirely with his Whig friends to determine what disposition shall be made of his name and services in the present campaign.

More Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

Locofoco Harmony. The Pittsburg American says, the locofoco disaffection, since the nomination of candidate Cass, "is nowhere more marked than in Clarion, one of their strongest holds. Here it is broadest and most impetuous to be feared or concealed. Besides many leading gentlemen of the party who would rather be in evidence of the fact, we need only refer to the names of Judge Myers, a gentleman of acknowledged ability, and deserved influence in that and other counties in this State, and an elector on the Polk ticket in 1844. Judge Myers has abandoned the party in an open and unambiguous manner, and is an open advocate for the election of Zachary Taylor.

There are many others from the same section who will testify to the fact, and we trust will result in a more efficient administration of the laws.

COMMENCEMENT.

The literary exercises of Commencement week at Dickinson College, were unusually interesting, and attracted great numbers of strangers as well as of our citizens.

The oration of the Rev. B. H. NADAI, on the late lamented Prof. Caldwell, was a well written production, and evinced a clear comprehension of the character of that excellent man. It is a feeble proof of the strength of logic and lineament in the Professor's moral and intellectual constitution, that a comparative stranger should have gained in a few months so definite and correct a perception of all his leading traits, as was exhibited in Mr. Nadai's address.

The Sophomore exhibition came off on Tuesday evening, and did great credit to the youthful speakers. At the close of the exhibition, a splendid copy of Shakespeare was presented by the class to Prof. McCracken.

The address of Hon. CHARLES GIBSON before the Belles Lettres Society, on Wednesday morning, was a chaste and eloquent production, and fully sustained the high reputation of the speaker. His subject was historical, and touched upon the salient points in our State and National annals, with a just appreciation and delicate discrimination of the characters of our great men. His portrait of William Penn was drawn with the hand of a master. He also connected the present with the past very ingeniously, by summoning the ancient worthies, Penn, Franklin and Washington from their celestial abode, to mark the progress of improvement and civilization in the land they loved so well. The numerous and enlightened audience were delighted and instructed by the address, and there appears to be a general desire that it may be published.

The eulogium on Dr. Eaton, late President of the College, was delivered by the Rev. John McCracken, D. D. The reputation of the eloquent Professor is so well established in this community, that we hardly need assure our readers of the merit of his performance. His delineations of the life and character of that noble hearted and eminent man, met a hearty response in the bosom of his auditory, and the deep solemnity of the speaker's utterance not only revealed his own feelings, but awakened similar feelings in all who heard him.

The address of the Rev. S. M. VAIL, of New Jersey, before the General Union Philosophical Society, was a sound and able exposition of the character of a scholar, and of his duties in relation to the present state of the world. The performance indicated learning and careful research, and proved that the speaker himself was imbued with the spirit which he recommended to others.

Major B. C. of our own town, and a member of the Pennsylvania Convention, has written a paper on the subject of the "Barnburners in Pennsylvania," in which he has shown that the "Barnburners" in Pennsylvania, are not so much a new party, as they are represented to be. He has shown that they are a mere offshoot of the Locofoco party, and that they are not so much a new party, as they are represented to be.

The Van Buren or Barnburners Meeting—There was quite a demonstration of the friends of Van Buren, in the Market House, last evening. The meeting was organized by calling George W. Jackson, Esq., to the chair.

Mr. E. D. Gazzam reported a set of resolutions to the meeting, approving of the proceedings of the Van Buren Convention, and making various suggestions to complete a full organization of the friends of liberty and a free soil, throughout the State. The resolutions were adopted by acclamation.

Mr. W. S. addressed the meeting at some length, and other gentlemen also spoke. The meeting was large, and good order prevailed.

The Whig Platform.—The New Orleans Bulletin replies to those leeches who complain that the Convention at Philadelphia did not promulgate any platform of principles.

"Why should they have done so? Where was the necessity of it? The Whig platform is well known, and is immutable. It is the broad platform of the Constitution, with the acknowledged rights of the people to do or to demand anything authorized by that instrument, and denying the power of our rulers to do anything in violation of its provisions. This is the Whig platform. Their delegates to the Convention were not authorized to promulgate or to pledge them or their candidate to any other platform; and we hope the day is far distant when the President will stamp his measures or avow his obligations to carry out the principles or policy designated by an irresponsible body, after the example of Mr. Polk and the Baltimore Convention of 1844.

A SERMON FROM CAPT. BRAGG.—We have already mentioned the presentation to this distinguished officer, (the little more grape, Capt. Bragg) of the bloody flag of Buena Vista, on the 4th inst., of a splendid sword, by the citizens of Mobile. The ceremony took place in the theatre, which was crowded with a fair audience. The presentation speech was made by G. R. Lindsay, and in his reply, Capt. Bragg said:

"For all the success which has attended me in performing these duties, (in the battles in Mexico) I have been indebted to the confidence and kindness of my commander, and the gallantry and devotion of those who served under me."

Passing by the incidents of Fort Brown and Monterey, to which you have so eloquently alluded, I may be pardoned for saying, in reference to the more memorable field of Buena Vista, that the credit which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the honor which has been awarded you for the part performed by you in the latter battle, has its origin in our noble old chief, who is ever inclined to bestow on others the honor justly due to himself. To Gen. Taylor, and to him alone, belongs all the glory of that achievement, and it is to him that we owe the victory of Buena Vista, and the