Memorandum furnished by Dr. Ro gers, one of the most eminent physicians | S in St. Petersburg, in regard to the prevention and treatment of cholera.

"The substance of all that is known respecting the prevention and treatment of cholera may be easily condensed, for respecting the prevention and treatment of cholera may be easily condensed, for popular use, in a very small space. As no very successful method of treating cholera has yet been discovered, it becomes an object of the utmost importance.

Also, an assortment of M J Tobias & Co., John Harrison, G & R Beesley, and other converges of the disease. comes an object of the utmost importance to prevent the occurrence of the disease; and it is satisfactory to know that we possess means, by the use of which we can diminish very much the liability to the uterly for the proportion to the virulence. its attacks. In proportion to the virulence | 5 with which the poison of cholera is developed in a locality, every person residing there is more or less under its influence. When it is highly developed, the slightest irritation of the intestinal canal is sufficiet to bring an attack of the disease Although it may be generally said that by adopting proper precautions one may enjoy comparative immunity from attacks of the disease, yet occasionally the system is so susceptible of the action of the poison that the disease occurs even in cares where every reasonable precaution had been adopted. The general direction relative to cholcra may referred to two heads: First, those which regard the prevention of the disease; and, second, those which relate to the treatment till medical aid can be procured. 1. It is of the utmost importance to avoid whatever tends to chill the body such as exposure to cold, or to diminish the energies of the system, whether the cause be physical or moral, such as insufficient sleep or insufficient nourishment, depressed feelings, such as fear, &c. To avoid the use of all uncooked vegetables, as-salad and cucumbers. When the epidemic is prevalent in a locality, the use even of cooked vegetables has often been the exciting cause of the disease. The use of fruits, nuts, raisins, cheese, smoked and salted provisions. pork, pastry, &c., is very injurious.-Cold drinks, ices, and vipous drinks should be avoided. Curds, whey, milk if it generally disagrees with the individual, should be abstained from. Purgative medicine should be used with the greatest circumspection during the prevlence of the epidemic, and never, if possible, without the advice of a medical man : and even when employed, they should be of the mildest kind, such as calcined magnesia, castoroil, or rhubarb. The use of saline purgatives should be completely abandoned. It is not to be forgotten that the smallest dose of purgative medi "ne often acts with great violence during the prevalence of cholera .-2. One of the first means to be employed is a sinapism over the whole abdomen, which can be repeated according to circumstances. Sinapisms should also be applied to the legs and arms, and to some parts of the spine, particularly any part of st which may be painful. At the commencement of the attack 10 or 15 drops of Sydenham's laudanum are to be given in a small cupful of peppermint tea, with a small quuntity of brandy. If the draughts be rejected by vomiting within an hour, it can be repeated.—When the disease is advancing towards the stage of collapse, or if it be already at that stage, 30 to 60 drops of the subjoined drops can be given every half parts of the spine, particularly any part joined drops can be given every half hour, or every hour, according to the degree of prostration of the strength of the patient. Bags filled with heated sand or salt, or bran, should be wrapped round the extremities and applied along the March 21. the extremities and applied along the body, in order to keep up the heat of the surface, and thereby to give more energy to the circulation of the blood in the skin. The patient should be kept well covered up so as to produce, if possible, a warm perspiration. It this can be accomplished, the danger of the disease is already much diminished; and it is frequently a salisfactory sign, that the energy of the system is sufficient to throw off the disease. To remove the cramp, friction, with any strong liniment, the one made according to the subjoined receipt can be employed. The application of sinapisms to the affected limbs and the vapor bath are of great service. Small morsels of ice allowed to distalve in the mouth tend to lessen the thirst and sickness, and to stop the vomiting. Such are the principal means which may be employed until medical advice can be procured. As a summary of precautionary measures, I should say keep the body warm, avoid the use of indigestible food, especially whitever has been found habitually to disagree with the individual; use plain soup, roast beef, or steak or mutton chop. The above was furnished by Dr. Rogers at my request, and is, I have no doubt, entitled to great consideration, and as he is not only a scientific but a sensi-ble man, has resided ten years in St Petersburg and Moscow, though raised and educated in Scotland, and is considered one of the most eminent physicians in the Russian empire.

TO BUTTER MAKERS.

The subscribers having purchased the right of Cumberland county for making Crowell's Patent Thermometer Chorn, they would respectfully inform the Farmers and public in general, that they will make and offer for sale their Churns at the Cabinet Ware-room of Geo. Spangler, in 'N. Idnover street, next door to the office of D. Smith, Esq.

The principal advantage this Churn has over all others is, that it is so constructed that the top can be taken off so as to give free access to the inside of the churn, which experience shows should be churn, for the purpose of admitting cold or warm warter, so as to bring the exact temperature of the croam, which experience shows should be compendant of the croam We would most respectfully invite the public to call and examine for themselves. GEO. SPANGLER, (SAM'L. MYERS.)

Mr. Geo. Spungler—Sir: We have been using the Thermonicter Churn I got of you for some time, and find it far superior to the old barrel churn for several reasons; first, great saving of time in getting butter, the average time of churning about fifteen minutes, (all weathers); secondly, the butter when obtained is much firmer than when using any other churn; finally, my folks say they would not exchange it for any other churn and twice the original cost of the Thermonieter Churn. Thermometer Churn. Sep. 28, 1848.] G. W. SHEAFFER.

Mr. Goo. Spangler—I have had the Crowell Thermometer Churn you made, for me in use at my place, and I do not hesitate to say that no Former should be without it. Fifteen miputes is all the time required to make Butter, and the value of this saving of time and labor consists in this, that it requires no more time at any one season than another; and that the temperature season than another; and that the temperature of the cream, necessary to make butter, is produced with certainty, and without the admixture of warm or cold water with the cream itself.

For the benefit of the better part of man (wo For the benefit of the botter part of man (wo-man) I give the scrifficate. After using the Thermometer Churn made by Mr. Spangler of this place, I would have none other in my family. We have been using the old barrel churn for thirty years past, and I must say it is not to be compared to Crowell's Thermometer Churn, either for speed of churning or convenience; in the old barrel churn it took generally from four too six hours to churn the churning, now in the Thermometer Churn we can churn butter in from fifteen to twenty minutes, by brining the cream to the proper temperature. I can recommend it to the public as no cheat. USEPH SHROM.

Atwood's Empire Cooking tove: N again calling attention to this unequalled STOVE, the proprietor, has the pleasure to inform the public that (externally) it has undergone an entire change—the pipe and hearth placed opposite each other, and a SUMMER HEARTH AND BOILING APPARATUS, being added, thus rendering it faultless, and unless there is another faultless Stove in the market, this is unquestionably the best, as it now embraces every valuable improvement possessed. less there is another faultiess stove in the market, this is unquestionably the best, as it now embraces every valuable improvement possessed by any other. Stove, in addition to some peculiar to itself, secured by Letters Patent.

The success of this Stove, since its introduction is unequalled. Nothing has ever been offered for coulinary purposes that has given such general, satisfaction. Stoves have been copied after its form; jaome dealers have even used its fundamental principles, but the proportions were so unlike the original, that they bear the relative value that a counterfeit does to a genuine coin.

Complete COOK and other COOK STOVES hin great variety; Persons desiring these admirable Stoves, are requested to call at the Stove and Alin-Waro manufactory of the subscriber, on Main street, Carlisle, who is agent for Cumberlard county $310.8500000.
