The Plough and the Sickle. BY MON. TRISTAM BURGESS!

With a ploneer axe what a conquest is made i, What a field from the forest is won! What a field from the forest is won! What regions, reduced from the wilderness shade, Are now warmed in the beams of the sun!

From the rock where our fathers in exile first landed Their clearing from river to river has spread; And mountains and plains by their sons are com manded, Till now on the beach of the Pacific they tread.

What a farm for a nation to cultivate now! And gather the wonderful harvest it yields; 'Tis an empire, reduced to the sickle and Plous An empire of gardens, and orchards and fields

Hail, nation of Farmers; rejoice in your toil, And shout when your thervest is o' at; Beceive the oppressed to your tand wife a smile, But frown every foe, from your Iron cound shore

And he, who by deeds has now reached a high sta And is called to preside o'er the commonwealth Must relinquish his farm, to save our young nation
As for Rome Cincinnatus relinquished his Plough

The Plough and the Sickle shall shine bright in glory, When the Sword and the Sceptro shall crumble in And the Farmer shall live both in song and in story. When Warriors and kings are forgotten in dust:

· From the Germantown Telegraph, Matters to be Attended to in November.

This is necessarily a busy month with the farmer. There are many things at this season which require his attention, and which he must attend to personally or experience loss. It has been remark ed that woman's work is never done, and the same observation applies with perhaps even more correctness to the labors of the husbandman. Everything around him is in action, and there is not a month a week or a day in the year, in which he cannot find something that requires to be done. Nor should we wish it otherwise. Man is a being destined to endless progression and improvement, and he has been so constituted by the Almighty that his chief happiness consists in action. But I am digressing. As soon as the yards are cleared of the manure, they should be covered with a layer of loam, turfs, muck, chip-dung, rotten wood and leaves. These materials are all powerful absorbents, and will tend to take up and retain the liquid portions of the manure for future use. If the soil intended to receive the /manure made, be of a light arenaceous or sandy texture, the deposition of a layer of clay at the bottom of the cattle-yards is advisable, as this substance will have a powerful tendency to render such lands more compact and retentive of moisture. If, on the contrary, the land be heavy and viscid, the material used should be sand. The beneficial result issuing from a judicious amalgamation of the natural earths, are numerous and permanent though we have no doubt they have in some instances and by some theoretical authors, been greatly over-estimated.

. In most sections the operation of draining or ditching is performed in August, but it frequently happens that the month is too wet, and when such is the case it is usual to defer it till November. This is an important labor, and may be made extremely profitable, especially to such as possess large tracts of low, wet, boggy soil, unproductive in its natural state, but highly fertile when properly drained of the superabundant water, and improved by the spade or plough. There are in New England, Maryland, Delaware, &c.. thousands and tens of thousands of acres of this description of soil, which might be reclaimed, and rendered richly and permanently productive at a slight expense. In many cases all that is requisite to this end, is the construction of a good and competent ditch around the margin or edge of the swamp, in order to arrest the efflux of water from the surrounding highlands. The matter thrown out of the drains, should be conveyed to the barn or hog yard, to be there converted into, or impregnated with the fertilizing principles of marries.

English turnips and cabbages should now be taken from the soil and housed They should never be suffered to remain out longer-than the twentieth. . See that your logs are well attended and supplied with wholesome and nutritious food-also with comfortable pens and a sufficiency of clean dry straw for Charcoal, salt and brimstone should also be frequently administered to them. It is a bad policy to keep fatting swine after the weather becomes ex-

See that your fences are all up before the ground closes. This will prevent injust to your grass and grain lands. Cut your wood in the woods preparatory to hauling with the first snows.

Cows WORKED AS OXEN -A corres pondent of the Southern Cultivator says: I have worked cows in harness, not under the yoke, without detriment in any respect; ou the contrary, their calves were superior to the rest of the stock tention the cows received. THIS new and valuable Medicine, now used by the medical profession with such astonishing efficacy in the cure of Pulmonary Consumption, Scrotola, Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, General Debility, Complaints of the Kidneys, &c. &c., is prepared from the liver of the COD FISH for medicinal use, expressly for our sales.
(Extract from the London Medical Jonrnal.)

a.C. J. B. Williams, M. D., F. R. S., Professor of Medicine in University College, London, Consulting Physician to the Hospital for consumption, &c., says: I have prescribed the Oil in above four hundred cases of tuber-culous disease of the Lungs, in different stages, which have been under my care the last two years and a half. In the large number of cases, 206 out of 234, its use was followed by marked and unequivocal improvement, varying in degree in different cases, from a temporary retardation of the progress of the disease and a mitigation of distressing symptoms, up to a more or less complete restoration to apparent health "The check of the Cod Liver Off in most of these cases was very remarkable. Even in a few days the cough was mitigated, the expectoration diminished in quantity and opacity, the night sweats ceased, the pulse became slower, and of better volume, and the appetite, flesh and strongth were gradually improved.

"In conclusion I repeat that the pure fresh oil from the liver of the Cod is more beneficial in the treatment of Pulmonary Consumwifor. in the treatment of Pulmonary Consumption than any agent, medicinal, dietetic or regime-nal, that has yet been employed."

nal, that has yet been employed."

As we have made arrangements to procure the Cod Liver-Oil, fresh from head quarters, it can now be had chemically pure by the single bottle, or in boxes of one dozon each.

Its wonderful efficacy has induced numerous spurious imitations. As its success depends entirely on its purity, too much eare cannot be used in addecising it grounds.

entiroly on its purity, too much care cannot be used in procuring it genuins.

Every bottle having on it our written signature, may be depended upon as genuine.

Pamphlets continging an analysis of the Oil, with notices of it from Medical Journals, will be sent to those who address us free of postage.

Messrs. Sands: Gentlemen—Sympathy for the afflicted induces me to inform you of the remarkable cure effected by your Sarsaparilla in the case of my wife. She was soverely afflicted with the scrofula on different parts of the body; the glands of the neck were greatly enlarged and her limbs much swollen. After uffering over a year and finding no relief from he remedies used, the disease attacked, and below the kuee suppurated. Her physician advised it should be laid open, which was done, but without any permanent benefit. In this situation we heard of, and were induced to use SANDS Sarsadarilla. The first bottle produced a decided and favourable effect, relieving her more than any prescription she had ever taken, and before she had used six bottles, to the astenishment and delight of bottles, to the astonishment and delight of her friends, she found her health quite restored. It is now over a year since the cure waterfeeted, and her health remains good, showing the disease was thoroughly eradicated from the system. Our neighbors are all knowing to these facts, and think very highly of Sands? Sarsaparilla.

Heen healed of done diseases, and saved from death, pro-cissmed its-wonderful HEALING POWER.

This GRAND AND UNEQUALLED PREPARATION is manufactured on the largest scale, and is called for throughout the length and breath of the land, especially as it is found incapable of degeneration or deterioration. The properties of the land, especially as it is found incapable of degeneration of deterioration. The properties of the land, especially as it is found incapable of the land, especially as it is found incapable of the land, especially as a scientific stant. The highest knowledge of Chemistry, and the latest discoveries of the art, have all been brought into requisition in the manufacture of the Old Drie Sarsaparilla. The Sarsaparilla root, it is well known to medical men, contains many medicinal properties, and some properties which are liner of useless, and others, which if retained in proparing it. For use, produce fermentation and acid, which is injurious to the system. Some of the properties of Sarsaparilla are so volatite that they entirely evaporate and are lost in the preparation, if they are not preserved by a geientific process, known only to those experienced for its manufacture. Moreover, the properties of the root, which give to full the value of the properties of the root, which give to full the value of the properties of the root, which give to full the value of the properties of the root, which give to full the value of the root which give to full the value of the root which give to the late of the root which give to the full to value.

Any person can hold or stew the root till they get a dark colored liquid, which is more from the coloring matter in the root that from anything else; they can then strain this insipid or vapid liquid, sweeten with sour molasses, and then call it "SARSAPARILLA EXTRACT or SYRUP."

This is so prepared that all the inert properties of the Sarsaparilla root are first removed, everything capable of becoming acid or formentation is axtracted and rejected; then every particle of medical virtue is secured in a pure and concentrated form; and thus it is endered incapale of losing any of its valuable and heading properties. Prepared in this way, it is made the most powerful agent in the Cure of international Diseases.

The Capital being paid up and invested, together with accumulated premium fund, affords a perfect security to the insured. The premium thay be paid in yearly, hell yearly, or quarterly payments.

The Company add a BONUS at stated periods to the insurances for life. This plan o insurance is the most approved of, and is more generally in use, than any other in Great Britain, (where the subject is best understood by the people, and where they have had the longest experience,) as appears from the fact, that out of 117 Life Insurance Companies there, of all kinds, 87 are outhins plan.

The first BONUS was appropriated in December, 1844, amounting to 10 per cent. on the sum insured under the oldest polices; to 84 per cent., 7½ per cent., &c., &c., on others, in proportion to the time of standing, making an addition of $100; $87:50; $75, &c., &c. to every $1,000, originally insured, which is an average of more than 50 per cent on the premiums paid, and without increasing the annual payment to the Company.

The operation of the BONUS will be seen the Company.

The operation of the BONUS will be seen by the following examples from the Life Insurance Register of the Company, thus: Sum Bonus or Amount of Policy & Bonus payable a the party's decease Policy.
