DEINNENCL

PITHY PARODY. The following parody was first published in 1750, but has lost none of its force from being rather ancient—it is full as applicable at the present time as it could possibly have been then:

To dun-or not to dan? That is the question. Whether 'tis better that the purse should suffer (From lack of cash) by baneful emptiness, Or, by a genite dun, to fill it up:
To dun-io get the money—and be enabled
To live—and pay your debts—'tis a consummation Devouity to be wished. To dun—to be deny'd—Deny'd with "Call Acain." Ay, there's the rub; For in that "call again" what evils come—What disappointment—sore chaggin—and woe— What disappointment—sore chagria—and woe— What time is wasted—and what shoes are worn in consequence—must give us pain.

That makes so many debts not worth collecting;
"Tis this that sickens business to despair,
And keeps from Honest Ladon its reward.

THE ART OF INSECTS. The lord of creation plumes himself upon his powers of invention, and is proud to enumerate the various useful arts and machines to which he has given birth; not aware that "He who teaches man knowledge, has instructed the despised insects to anticipate him in many of those. The builders of Babel doubt less thought their invention of turning earth into artificial stone, a very happy discovery; yet a little bee had practised this art, using indeed a different process on a small scale, and the white ant on a larger one, ever since the world began -Man thinks that he stands unrivalled as an architect, and that his buildings are without parallel among the works of the inferior order of animals. He would be of a very different opinion did he attend to the history of insects; he would find that many of them had been architects from time immemorial; that they have had their houses divided into various apartments, and containing staircases, gigantic arches, domes, collonades, and the like; nay, yet even tunnels are ex-cavated by them so immense compared with their own size as to be twelve times bigger than that projected by Mr. Dodd to be carried under the Thames at Gravesend. The modern fine lady, who prides herself on the lustre and beauty of the scarlet hangings which adorn the walls of her drawing-room, or the car-pets that cover its floor, fancying that nothing so rich and splendid was ever seen before, and pitying her vulgar ancestors, who were doomed to unsightly white wash rushes, as ignorant, all the while, that before she or her ancestors were in existence, and even before the boasted Tyrian dve was discovered, a little insect had known how to hang the wall of its cells with tapestry of a scarlet more brilliant than any of her rooms silken carpets both in tissue and texture infinitely superior to those she so much admires. No female ornament is more prized and costly than lace, the invention and fabrication of which seems the exclusive claim of the softer sex. But even here they have been anticipated by the little industrious creatures, who often defend their helpless chrysalis by a most singular covering, and as beautiful as singular, of lace. Other arts have been equally forestalled by these creatures .-What vast importance is attached to the invention of paper! For nearly six theusand years one of our commonest insects has shown how to make and supply it to its proper purposes; and even steboard, superior in substance and polish to any we can produce, is manufactured by another. We imagine that nothing short of human intellect can be e-ual to the construction of a diving bell or air pump—yet a spider is in the daily habit of using the one, and what is more, one exactly in principle to ours, but more ingeniously contrived; by means of which she resides unwetted in the bosom of the water, and procures the necessary supplies of air by a much more simple process than our alternating buckets—and the caterpillar or the moth knows how to imitate the other, producing a vacuum when necessary for its lon, or Pekin in all their glory? That insects should thus have forestalled us in our inventions, ought to .urge us to pay a closer attention to them and their ways than we have hitherto done; since it is not improbable that the result would be many useful hints for the improvement of our arts and manuface tures, and perhaps for some beneficial discoveries. The painter might thus probably be furnished with more brilliant pigments, the dver more delicate tints. and the artizan with a new and improved set of tools. In this last respect insects deserve particular notice. All their op-erations are performed with admirable precision and dexterity, and though they do not usually vary the mode, yet that mode is always the best that can be conceived for attaining the end in view .-The instruments also with which they are provided are no less wonderful and various than the operations themselves They have their saws, and files, and angurs, and gimlets, and knives and lancets and scissors, and forceps, and many other implements, several of which act in more than one capacity, and with a complex and alternate motion to which we have not yet attained in the use of our tools. Nor is the fact so extraordinary as it may seem at first, since 'He who is wise in heart and wonderful in working, is the inventor and fabricator of the apparatus of insects; which may be considered as a set of miniature patterns drawn for our use by a Divine

PHILOSOPHY OF FARMING.—Here is the secret of good farming. You can-not take from the land more than you restore to it in some shape or other, with-out rulying it and so destroy, your capi-tale. Different soils may require different modes of treatment and cropping, but in every variety of soil there are golden rules to attend so. Drain until you find that the water that falls from the heavens does not stagnate in the soil, but runs through it and off it freely. Turn up and till the land until your foot sinks into a loose, powdery loam, that the sun and air readly pass through. Let no weeds occupy a place where a useful plant could grow: Collect every particle of manuse that you can whether liquid or solid Let nothing on the farm go to waste. Put in your crops in that course which experience has shown to lead to success in their growth, and to en enrichment, not impoverishment of the land Give every plant room to spread its roots in the soil and its leaves in the air.

She was severely afflicted with the secofula on different parts of the body; the glands of the neck were greatly enlarged and her limbs much swollen. After uffering over a year and finding no relief from he remedies used, the disease attacked, and below the knee suppurated. Her physician he remedies used, the disease attacked, and below the knee suppurated. Her physician advised it should be laid open, which was done, but without any permanent benefit. In this situation we heard of, and were induced to use SANDS' Sarsadarilla. The first bettle produced a decided and favourable effect, relieving her more than any prescription she had ever taken, and before she had used, six bettles to the attangabating and delight.

Old Dr. Jacob Townsend THE ORIGINAL DISCOVERER OF THE Genuine Townsend Sarsaparilla. Old Dr. Townsend is now about 70 years of age, and has long been known as the AUTHOR and DISCOVERER of the GEN UINE ORIGINAL "TOWNSEND SARSAPARILLA". Being poor, he was compelled ujimit its manufacture, by which menns it has been kegilout of market, and the sales circumscribed to those only who had proved its worth, and known its value. It had reached the ears of many, nevertheless, as those persons who had been healed of nore diseases, and saved from death, proclaimed its wonderful

This GRAND AND UNEQUALLED PREPARATION is manufactured on the largest scale, and is called for throughout the length and breadth of the land, especially as it is found incapable of degeneration or deterioration. Unlike young S. P. Townsend's, is improves with age, and never changes but for the better; because it is propared on scientific principles by a scientific man. The highest knowledge of Chemistry, and the latest discoveries of the art, have all been brought into requisition in the manufacture of the Old Dr's Sarsaparilla. The Sarsaparilla root, it is well known to medical men, contains many medicinal processes, and some properties which are inert or use, protection, and some properties which are inert or use, produce, fermentation and acid, which permit for one, produce, fermentation and acid, which permit are so weldlike that they entirely ordered and acid, which permit are so weldlike that they entirely ordered in its manufacting. Moreover, these volatile principles, which fly off in vapor, or as an exhalation, under heat, are the very essential medical properties of the root, which give to it all its value.

Any person can boil or stow the root till they get a dark colored liquid, which is more from the coloring matter in the root till unform anything else; they can then strain this insipid or vapid liquid, sweeten with sour molasses, and then call it "SARSAPARILLA EXTRACT or SYRUP." But such is not the article known as the GENULINE OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S HEALING POWER.

GENUINE OLD DR. JACOB TOWNSEND'S SARSAPARILLA.

This is no prepared that all the inert properties of the Sarsaparilla fopi are first removed, everything capable of becoming acid or fermentation is extracted and rejected; then every particle of medical virtue is secured in a pure and concentrated form; and thus it is rendered incapable of losing any of its valuable and healing properties. Prepared in this way, it is made the most powerful agent in the Cure, of luminership Diseases.

Hence the reason why we hear commendations on every noise in its favor by men, women, and children. We find it doing wonders in the cure of GONSUMPTION, DYSPEPSIA, and LIVERGOMPLAINT, and in RHEUMATISM, SCROFTULA, PILES, COSTIVENESS, all CUTANES, and all affections arising from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

To James McAllister—Dear Sir: I take pleasure in making known to you the great benefit I have received by using your Vegetable Ointment, or the World's Salve, I had an ulcor, or running sore, on the ear, of many years standing; I have applied to several physicians, but all to no purpose; but by using your Ointment a few days it was completely dried up and well. I have used it for burns, for which I find it an excellent article; also in all cases inflamation. ED. Thorn.

The Capital being paid up and invested, together with accumulated premium fund, affords a FREECT SECURITY to the insured. The premium may be paid in yearly, hall yearly, or quarterly payments.

The Company add a BONUS at stated periods to the insurances for life. This plan of insurance is the most approved of, and is more generally in use, than any other in Great Britain, (where the subject is best understood by the people, and where they have had the long-set experience,) as appears from the fact, that out of 117 Life Insurance Companies there, of all kinds, 87 are on this plan.

The first BONUS was appropriated in December, 1844; amounting to 10 per cent. on the sum insured under the oldest polices; to 84 per cent., 7½ per cent., &c, &c., on others, in proportion to the time of standing, making an addition of $100; $87.50; $75.6c., &c. c. to every $1,000, originally insured, which is an average of more than 50 per cent on the premiums puid, and without increasing the annual payment to the Company.

The operation of the BONUS will he seen by the following examples from the Life Insurence Register of the Company, thus: est. The Capital being paid up and invested, to
