Third Lecture. more. Subject-The Triumph of Truth. Dr. hands. Massey bears a distinguished reputation in Baltimore as a Lecturer, and in the Lecture to be delivered in Carlisle will introduce a subject to which he has paid particular attention, -that of Electricity, -in which he will notice important principles, heretofore almost entirely overlooked or neglected, showing the pecudiseases, by which any required action in the system can be produced or undue action retar- outh of allegiance to the people and governded, and depending so entirely on the particu-Iar modification, that they who suppose the them with such unbounded hospitality. virtue thereof to consist in the mere operation of an electrical machine or galvanic battery, will immediately see their error. We shall not undertake to give any sketch which shall be delivered in the present course. as we could not do so, in the limited space we have, with either justice to the lecturers or benefit to our readers. We hope, rather, that our readers in town will attend them and hear Character, was listened to with deep interest, is recommended. roplete as it was with strong thoughts and sound instruction on a subject of the highest importance to the young particularly. While such lectures are offered to our community it will be a source of deep mortification indeed, should there be any falling off from crowded audiences on each occasion. The paltry price of admission can certainly prove no hindrance to a large attendance, especially when the fund so raised is devoted to the relief of our many suffering fellows, to whose calls we cannot turn a deaf car. We hope therefore to see a large turn-out at the luture lectures.
