Notice.

The relations, or friends, of. WM. S. Magacons, late a "gunners mate" on board the U. S. ship-Oho, who died in San Francisco, U. C. 26th September 1849, can receive some information which may be beneficial to them, by applying to the editor of the Carlisle Herald.

An interesting letter from Washington, noticing Mr. Clay's second speech in favor of his Compromise Resolutions, will be found on the fourth page

A crowd of new and long advertisements has much curtailed the space usually devoted to reading matter, in to-day's paper .-Our friends will excuse this encroachment for a short time.

Dr. Lambert's Lectures.

Dr. J. S. LAMBERT, author of a very popular work on Anatomy and Physiology, commenced a course of Lectures on these subjects, on Thursday evening last, which he has not yet concluded. He will deliver three lectures more on this and succeeding evenings, in the Sons of Temperance Hall, Bestem's Row. His lactures so far have been attended by crowded and intelligent audiences, who thus evince their interest and satisfaction. As a lecturer Dr. Lambert is eloquent and earnest. There is an air of down-rightness about him, (says the editor of the Easton Whig, in whose opinion we fully concur) that makes a favorable impression upon one's mind as soon as he begins to speak. And this impression is strengthened as he proceeds. In truth he is an admirable popular lecturer. His matter is practical in its bearings, and made perfectly plain, and easy of comprehension. His illustrations are clear and often amusing. His style is transparent. His delivery is pleasing, natural, animated and impressive. The subject of the Doctor's lectures is highly important. How necessary that the structure of our body, that "harp of a thousand strings," should be well understood by us, that we may know rightly how to use it, and how to defend it from injury. And what elevated conceptions of the wisdom and goodness of God, a thorough acquaintance with our physical frame awakens in the mind. The work on "Popular Anatomy and Physiology," published by Dr. Lambert, we understand has already been adopted as a text-book in many of the leading academies and schools of the country. This is the best testimony to its excellence. It contains over 400 pages of reading matter, and is illustrated with one hundred and fifty lithographic and wood engravings. Price $1.

"The Alleghanians."

It will be seen by an advertisement in anothcolumn that this celebrated band of Glee and Quartett singers will give a concert in this borough, on Saturday evening next, at Education Hall. They have acquired a high reputation in the East, West and South. All the leading papers in those sections of the country. have pronounced them to be the best band of singers in America, and all unite in awarding them the highest praise both as professiona musicians and private members of society. The N. Y. Tribune of December 15th, contains an article of over a column in length which is devoted to an exposition of the superior excellencies of English and American music, in which paid to the "Alleghanians." The Tribuns says :

"Quite recently, too, there has arisen a quar-ette band of native vocalists, under the name "Quite recently, too, there has a risen a quar-tette band of native vecalists, under the name of "The Alleghanians," whose public performs ances are so perfect und exquisitely expressive of the very spirit of the English Glee, that they promise to revive the popularity of this charm-ing music. In Boston, the musical taste of whose citizens cannot be questioned, they have been listened to with the greatest admiration; and in every other place where they have been heard they have elicited the most unanimous

There is one idea which we would impress There is one idea which we would impress upon our readers in the country where the "Alleghanians" may happen to pass. It is that in the principal churches of Europe, and the principal cities of this country, the choir consists of only four voices, and that the Alleghanions are an admirable model for amateurs to study. They have already laid the foundation admirable church questettes in different parts of the country, and in this way their influence is destined to be widely and actively beneficent."

Such praise as this should be sufficient to satisfy all our readers of the superior merits of "Alleghanians," and we trust that it will also induce them to turn out an masse, to the concert on Saturday evening. Let our friends from the country, get up some nice little parconcert. Our word for it, they will be delighted with the excursion and thank us for the suggestion. A Part Mark 125 January

Letter from the State Treasurer.

The following letter has been sent to the Senate by Ms. Ball, State Treasurer, in reply to a resolution of that body, adopted on the seipt of a complaint from the canal board, that the bill due to the Messrs. Norris for lo-complices, had not been paid on presents It is a complete relutation of all the tion. charges brought by the opposition, and exhibits, in a measure, the unscrupulous manner Treasurer in the discharge of his duty :-

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Harrisburg, February 5, 1850. SENATORS:—The resolution of your honoable body of the 26th ultime is before me. My absence in Prinadelphia, on public day has prevented an earlier reply.

The engines referred to were purchased, it seems, under the authority given in the sixteenth section of the last appropriation bill. This being true, it scarcely justifies the sale by the Canal Commissioners of five locomotives worth at least TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS, for the paltry sum of THIRTY-THREE HUNDRED AND NINETY DOLLARS, thereby SACRICING NINETY DOLLARS, thereby SACRICING UPWARDS OF TWENTY ONE THOU-AND DOLLARS, which evinces gross ig-

I am not aware of having purposely refused at any time "money appropriated to the management and repairs of any of the other lines of the public works."

Let us calmly and featlessly await the Since I have been responsible for the maagement of the State finances, I have not received from the Canal Commissioners, at any time, a moments notice of their intention to draw on the Treasury, other than was furnished by the actual presentation of their drafts. While it is both my duty and my pleasure to provide the ways and means to inswer every call, nevertheless, the interests of the State, as every business man will understand, cannot be sustained, if other branches of the government refuse to harmonize with this department. To such a degree have the Canal board carned their antagonism, that upon the appointment of officers, whose duties bring them in contact with the Treasury, they have not furnished notice of the charge. In the payment of money, care is required. For that purpose the names of officers must be known; as also a knowledge that they have given the requi red bond before money can be advanced them. The first notice I have received of the change of officers, was the presentation, by the new encumbents, of drafts for large ms of money. Senators are aware, that the Treasury has Treasurer, whoever he may be, should have the co-operation of co-ordinate branch es of the government, rather than to have so powerful an arm as the Canal Board, exising their authority to draw money out reference to the general interests, or the

Mr. Ball's Letter.

The Harrisburg correspondent of the I the Senate in answer to their call upon him ported. for information as to his course in relation to the paying of the claim of Norris, Brothers, and any others to whom money was due, when read in the Senate caused great con sternation in the Locoloco Camp. The revelations are of a character so unexpected to them, that they were completely taken by surprise. They had placed entire cofidence in the veracity of those who had been making charges against the propriety of Mr. Ball's official conduct; and anticipated that an investigation would, whilst it established the correctness of the charges, give them something to use for the disgrace of our Treasurer, by way of showing how they ap, preciated his noble and successful efforts to escue the State from that lamentable situation in which she was placed by his predecessors in office. They reckoned without their host; and the libeliers of Mr. Ball have been convicted of intentional falsehood and misrepresentation.
