Afflicting Incident.
The Louisville (Ky.) Courier, of the 25th ult., relates the following heart rending in-

Yesterday morning we witnessed a acene that we little believed could be enected within the borders of Kentucky. The steamer, G. W. Kendall was lying at the whaff at the foot of Wall street, preparing to start for New Orleans. On the forecastle deck stood a group, consisting of a master and five or six slaves, including a woman with a child at the breast, who were apparently gainst the sinves, including a woman with a child at the breast, who were apparently going to the South. Just as the last bell of the steamer rang out its peal for departure, and the lines were about to be east loose, the mother was bade to give up her infent, and was told that she must go without it. At this intimation the poor creature became frantic with grief. She caressed the child a moment, then flew to her trunk, into which had been packed various little articles of clothing that she had made up for it to wear. These she first pressed fervently to her lips, and then bestowed them upon the child. Her owner then ordered her to follow him, and she mechanically started to obey, but the promptings of nature were too strong within her swelling breast to be resisted, and with loud sobs of grief, she turned, embraced her child, and the were too strong within her swelling breast to be resisted, and with loud sobs of grief, she turned, embraced her child, and clung to it with the tennetty of despair.

The heartrending grief of the woman, and her frantic gestures, attracted the attention of persons passing along the levee, and strongly excited the sympathies of many. The owner was asked by a gentleman if he would sell, the woman and child. To this he assented, and demanded $650 for them. Upon inquiry, however, it was ascertained that the woman was to be sold down the river, and that the child would be disposed of here.—The bystanders volunteered to raise subscriptions to buy the child, and send it with its mother, and several of them proffered $10 a piece. At this juncture Captain Norton, the captain of the boat, came forward and told the owner of the slaves that he would not take him of his boat, and sent the whole party ashore, and in a few moments the steamer was dashing over the falls without them.

The Besmerized Children.

We recently mentioned that three children of Mr. Jones, near Clearspring, Md., were affected with singular symptoms, resembling mesmerized subjects. The Sentinel says, it is ascertained to be the effect of mesmerism, is ascertained to be the effect of measurism, but how communicated, is unknown. By reversing the passes, as used by measurizers to bring subjects out of the somnambulic state, they were restored to wakefulness in a few minutes. The children allege they were put into the state mentioned by a pediar, who visited the house the day before they exhibited the symptoms. The Sentinel says:

The little girl, the day before she became the communical process of the children remain affected, and one, it is feared, will die, as his legs are becoming

The editor of the Sentinel, in company with Dr. Garry, visited them a few days ago, and adds.

"They appear to delight to be asleep, as they term it, during which time they laugh, dance, run, and strive by every means in their power to get out. We took the mesmeric fluid off of them, probably eight or ten times, which required not exceeding ten to thirty seconds eight time. Any person can relieve them with the reversed passes, provided they are willing, otherwise they cannot be awakened. At the time of inditing this, which has been about two hours since last arousing them, we feel a considerable relaxation of the nervous system, together with pains in the head, arms, and extremities, which we alone attribute to our having extracted the nervous fluid and adds bute to our having extracted the nervous fluid from them. Numerous persons are daily visiting them."

EMIGRATION OF CANADIANS TO THE U. S .-The Rev. Arthur Chiniquy, the great Canadian agostic of temperatice, having recently been on a tour through the United States, has addressed a letter to the Melanges Roligoux, to which he says:

"I do not exoggerate when I say that there are no less than 200,000 Coundians in the U. States, and unless efficacious means are taken States, and unless efficacious means are taken to stop this frightful emigration, before ten years two hundred thousand more of our compatriots will have carried to the American Union their arms, their intelligence, and their hearts. It is no part of my present plan to eximine the causes of this deplorable emigration; but it must be always true, that when a people en masse quite its country, it is because that unfortunate country is struck with some hideous names is decurred by come again. that unfortunate country is struck with some hideous plague—is devoured by some cancer.

* * * God has placed in the heart of man love for his country; and when a man turns his back upon his country, and with the eye meistened by tears bids it an eternal adiru, it is because omething essential has been wanting to him in that country. It is because he has wanted bread, room or just liberty. I leave others to say which of the three has been deficient in Canada. All that I can assure you is, that in the United States these three essential elements of the life of nations. three essential elements of the life of nations are to be found in abundance."

Our Reputation Abroad

A late Barlin letter states that the general impression in Europe, even in Germany, where we are better known than elsewhere, is, that our country is an excellent place to make money in, and to be free from the annoyance of spies and the machinery of European government; but that the law affords no security to life or property, these lying at the mercy of the mob. The royalist papers leave nothing undone to deepen this impression.—
The occasional bloody street combuts, aspecially in the Southwester. States are over-The occasional bloody afreet computs, cape-cially in the Southwestern States, are eager-ly seized upon. Tarring and feathering scenes, the tearing of men from limb to limb by mobs, &c., are located at New York, and one article in the Paris Semaine, after funning one a catalogue of outrages, says:—

"When the jury does not tender a verdict in accordance with the judgment—sometimes, calas! with the pussions: of the crowd—the crowd reverses the sentence, seizes on the guilty man, tars and feathers him, and inflicts:

ice, on him under the eye of an unarmed Government! Government!
"This horrible popular execution takes place, however, in the nineteenth century, in a country of liberty, of good sense, and of free inquiry!

Who can contradict me?" Who can contradict me?"
This shows the extent to which prejudice will go in perversion. The time has certainly come, however, when we would tear away from our institutions and manners whatever we do not wish exposed to the closest scrutiny of the civilized world.

Sir/John Franklin.

In England the fale of Sir John Franklin, the Washington Globe says, has not yet lost any of its interest, nor have the public sympathles in any manner abated. It is stated that another exploring exhibition will be set on foot; on a large scale, and at agreat expense, with the view of finding him if possible, or of ascertaining the manner and circumstances of his death; if no more.

Mr. Gale, the agronaut, persists in his project of bringing hallouning to the sid of the explorer. His plan is certainly ingenious, and might be successful. It is, to send up balloons in the artic regions, with a long tail and a slow match. The tails are to be composed of circulars for Sir John and his party, which will be detheast from time to time, as the match is consumed and be thus scattered in over, a large extent of country. Some of the them, it is, thought, man be picked up by the may lost nayigators, and may be the cause of their being found and restored, to their country.

SINGULAR FREAK OF NATURE. The fable Singular Freak of Nature. The fable of liphs and lanthe, which forms one of the test most striking tales in Oyld's Metamorphoses, and was probably true after all.
