Mr. Clay's Second Speech on his Compromise Resolutions,

WASHINGTON, February, 5. This has been a day of extraordinary interest, shared alike by the old and the young, and without regard to sex or condition. It had been announced that Mr. Clay was to address the Senate at length, on his Compromise, which was sufficient to excite public curiosity, and to ensure a large attendance. For hours before the regular time of meeting, the galleries vere densely thronged, and every avenue leading to them and to the floor of the chamber, was crowded with anxious and patient spectators The ladies asserted their prerogative so sternly as to super-sede the standing rules, and the chairs of "grave and reverend" Senators were graced with presence and beauty, that seemed better fiitted to legislate in Tita nia's realm. It has been my good for-tune to witness many of these grand and brilliant exhibitions, but I have never before seen a senatorial spectacle presenting so many attractions of intellect, station wealth, fashion and display. The 'pomp, pride and circumstance' of the world was present, and he who could fail to receive aspiration from such an audience, must have wanted a soul to receive it. It was an inspiring scene to behold-one of those striking pictures of life which eling to the memory in after years, and which one treasures from personal association, as a part of the history of an illustrious states man, passing from the great stage of pub-lic affairs. The magnitude and moment of the question; the advanced period of Mr. Clay's life; his fame as an orator, and, more than all, his patriotic endeavor to compromise and heal the difficulties which now distract the Union, contributed to give unusual and exciting interest to the occasion. As soon as the ordinary business wa disposed of, Mr. Mangum called for the special order of the day, and Mr. Clay rose to address the Senate. He seeme deeply impressed with the solemnity of the duty which he had undertaken to discharge, and commenced by invoking divine interposition to direct the councils of the nation. He ascribed the source of all the danger which now threatened the country, to the struggle between parties for ascendancy in the two sections, and implored senators on both sides to divest themselves of all political considerations, and meet the question like patriots, who were resolved to sacrifice every thing but honor for the good of the country. After a beautiful and thrilling exordium, in which he seemed to rise up like some guardian spirit to admonish of approach ing peril, he took up the resolutions seri atim, beginning with that which provides for the admission of California, and ending with the one in regard to the boundary of Texas. His speech was intended as a serious and statesmanlike exposition of the principles involved in the resolutions, and therefore Mr. Clay endeavored to address the reason and intelligence of the Senate, rather than to appeal to its imagination or feeling. His positions were taken with caution and sustained with a bility, particularly that in which he main tained that the subsisting laws excluded slavery in the territory acquired from Mexico. The argument by which he labored to satisfy the Senate that the adjustment of the boundary of Texas bolonged to Congress, and not to the Supreme Court, or any other tribunal. was less forcible and convincing. He spoke for two hours; without appearing to suffer physical or intellectual prostration, and then yielded to an adjournment, for the purpose of renewing the discussion to morrow on the remaining resolutions. The evident inclination of the speec was favorable to the northern view of the question, and from that fact some parts of it were not received with particular favor by the South. Indeed, it was evident from the tone of opinions to day, as well as from declarations made by Southern Senators when the resolutions were first introduced, that the compromise could not expect the support of that section. Notwithstanding this obvious embarrasment, Mr. Clay is sanguine of success, and flatters himself with the belief that his proposition will finally be adopted, with slight modifications. This confidence is derived, to a great extent, from the vote on Root's resolution, and the inferences which have been drawn from it. If that fact furnishes the only ground of hope, Mr. Clay, and those who think with him

In commenting upon that vote yesterday, I endeavered to show upon the most undoubted evidence, that the northern Whigs who sustained the motion to lay on the table, took that mode of expressing their partiality towards the policy of the President, whilst, at the same time, they endeavored to remove at the same time, they endeavored to remove a cause of agitation. It was no denial or repudiation of the principle asserted by the Free States, nor designed as a surrender of the proviso in any form. They adopted that course, knowing it might subject them to misrepresentation, but feeling, at the same time, that they were acting for the best interests of the country. The Whigs who refused to follow the lead of Mr. Root, are as sincerely the friends of the great principle which lies at the bottom of the Proviso, as either he or those who profess so much zeal in the cause of free soil. They yielded nothing of conviction or ording in presented nothing of conviction or opinion in pursuing the policy which they adopted, and are enti-tled to credit and respect for the moral cour-age exhibited under such disadvantageous appearances. If the South is determined to moist on the establishment of territorial governments, and will not acquiesce in the re-commendation of the President, then the Provise will be attached as sure as it is proposed, and by the vote of the very men who voted to lay Root's resolution on the table. They desire that this cup should pass from their lips, and they have exhibited every dis-position to avoid an issue wholl menaces uch alarming consequences, and is so unacceptable to one quarter of the Union. But if it must come, they will not shrink from the responsibility. Largue, therefore, from these premises as well as from other information, that My Clarks these premisea, as well as from other information, that Mr. Clay's Compromise cannot pass, and that the territorial governments which it confirmations to the North because it will not assent without the restriction, and to the South because it will not assent without the restriction. Therefore the proposition is to that extent impracticable; while that proposed by the President is practicable, since it assents no principle which the South can dispute, and surrenders none which the North pule, and, surrenders none which the North claims. The struggle now pending is a vital one them it is a contest of life and death? Triey, are now equals in the Senate, but cannot remain so after the admission of California.

The struggle now pending is a vital one between the two sections. It extends far beyond the mere tertion; in dispute for the South knows well that, from the Rio Grande o the Psicific; there is not land enough adapted to the psicific; there is not land enough adapted to the psicific; bisis is not land enough adapted to the psicific; bisis is not langue plantation. That section insist upon the recognition of a principle which will not exclude it begaster from participation in such acquirations as Mexico and Cuba, which are considered as inevitable—belonging to the "manifest destipy" of the country. They would, yield the present question under any reasonable guaranty for the foture.

Hence the resolute resistance which has been exhibited that far, and which will continue to be reside until the South contest. tinue to be mide until the South can leel as sured there is no purpose in the North to exercise the power of numbers unjustly or to disseminate the wild and dangerous seeds of abolition among the slave holding States. (Extract from the London Medical Jonrnal.)

"C. J. B. Williams, M. D., F. R. S., Professor of Medicine in University College, London, Consulting Physician to the Hospital for consumption, &c., says: I have prescribed the Oil in above four hundred cases of tuber; culous disease of the Lungs, in different stages, which have been under my care the last two years and a half. In the large number of cases, 206 out of 234, its use was followed by marked and unequivocal improvement, varying in degree in different cases, from a temporary retardation of the progress of the disease and a mitigation of distressing symptome, up to a more or less complete restoration to apparent health.

to a more or less complete restoration to apparent health. ront health.

"The offect of the Cod Liver Gil in most of these cases was very romarkable. Even in a few days the cough was mitigated, the expectoration diminished in quanty and opacity, the night sweaks ceared, the pulse became allower, and of better volume, and the apposite, flesh and strength were gradually improved.

"In conclusion I repeat that the pure fresh oil from the fiver of the Cod is more beneficial in the treatment of Pulmonary Consumption than any agent, medicinal, dietotic or regimenal, that has yet been employed."

As we have made arrangements to procure the Cod Liver Oil, fresh from head quarters, it can now be had chemically pure by the single bottle, or in boxes of one dezen each.

Its wonderful efficacy, has induced momerous spurious imitations. As its success depends entirely on its purity, too much care cannot be used in procuring it genuing.

RHEUMATISM, BRONCHITIS AND DYSPEPSIA Rev. Dr. Landis, a Clergyman New Jersey, of distinguished attainments and exalte putation :reputation:—

Sidney, New Jorsey, July 12, 1846.

Dr. A. H. Christie—Dear Sir: You wish to know of me what has been the result in my own case, of the application of THE GALVANIC BELT AND NECKLACE My reply is as follows:

My reply is as follows:

For about tweiny years I had been suffering from Dyspepsia Every year the symptoms became worse, nor could I obtain permanent relief from any course of medical treatment whatever. About fourteen years since, it consequence of frequent exposure to the weather, in the discharge of my pastoral duties, I became subject to a severe Chronic Rheumatism, which for year after year caused me indescribable anguish. Farther: in the winted of 46 and 46, in consequence of preaching a great dea, in my own and various other churches in this region, I was attacked by the Bronchitis, which soon became so severe as to require an Immediate suspension of my nain my own and various other churches in this region, i was attacked by the Bronchitis, which soon became so severe as to require an immediate suspansion of my partoral labors. ## Medicins MOFFAT'S Life Pills and Phoenix Bitters. These Medicines have how been before the public for a period of FIFTEIN YEARS, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe for their extraordinary, and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

IN MANY THOUSANDS of certificated instances, they have even rescued sufferers from the very verge of an untimely grave, after all the deceptive nestrums of the day lind utterly failed; and to many thousands they have permanently secured that uniform enjoyment of health, without which life itself is but a partial blessing. So great, indeed, has their efficacy invariably and infullibly preved, that it has appeared scarcely less than miraculous to those who were acquainted with the beautifully philosophical-principles upon which they are compounded, and upon which they consequently act. It was to their manifest and sensible action in purifying the springs and channels of life, and enduing them with renewed tone and vigor, that they were indobted for wed tone and vigor, that they were indebted for and channels of life, and enduing them with renewed tone and vigor, that they were indebted for their name.

Unlike the host of pernicious quackeries which boast of vegetable ingredients, the LIFE MEDICINES are purely and solely vegetable; and contain neither Mercury, nor Antimony, nor Arsenic, nor any other mineral, in any form whatever. They are entirely composed of extracts from rare and powerful plants, the virtues of which, though long known to several Indian tribes, and recently to some eminent pharmaceutical chemists, are altogether unknown to the ignorant pretenders to medical science; and were never before administered in so happily efficacious a combination.

The first operation is to ignore from the coats of the stomach and boyels the various impurities and crudities constantly settling round them; and to remove the hardened faces which collect in the convolutions of the small intestines. Other middicines only partially cleanes these, and leave such collected masses behind to produce habitual Costiveness, with all its train of ovils, or sudden Diarrhoza with its imminent dangers. This fact is well known to all regular anatomists who examine the human bowels after death; and hence the prejudice of these well-informed men against the quack medicines of the age. The second effect of the VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES is to cleanes the kidneys and the bladder; and, by this means, the liver and lungs, the healthful action of which entirely depends upon the regularity of the urinary organs. The blood, which takes its red color from the agency of the liver and lungs, before it passes into the heart, being thus purified by them, and nourished by food coning from a clean stomach, courses freely through the veins, request every part of the system, and triumphantly mounts the banner ourses freely through the veins, ropows every part of the system, and triumphantly mounts the banuer of health, in the blooming cheek.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES are well known to be infallible.

LIFE MEDICINES are well known to be infallible

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure healthy bite, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill-temper, Anxiety, Languor, and Melancholy, which are the genefal symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

Costiveness, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violonce: all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

Diarrhoea and Cholera, by removing the sharp acrid fluids by which these complaints are occasioned, and by promoting the lubricative secretion of the mucous membrane.

Fevers of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of perspiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of ration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half, that time, by removing local inflanmation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

Dropsies of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder: they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have effor been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also Worms, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

Asthma and Consumption, by relieving the air-vessels of the lungs from the inucous which even slight colds will occasion, and which, if not removed, becomes hardened, and produces these dreadful diseases.

dreadful diseases.

Scurvy, Ulcers, and Inveterate Sores, by the porfect purity which these LIFE MEDI-CINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

Scorbutic Eruptions and Bad Complexions, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all cruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions. The use of these Pills for a very short time will ffect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will

COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two even in the worst cases.

PILES. As a remedy for this most distressing and obstitute malady, the VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES doserve a distinct and emphatic techniques of the source of the so valuable Medicines was himself afflicted with this complaint for upwards of THENTY-FIVE YEARS; and that he tried in vain every remedy proscribed within the whole compass of the Medicine which is now offered to the public, and he was cured in a very short time, after his recovery had been prenounced not only improbable, but absolutely impossible, by any human means.

FEVER AND AGUE.

For this scourge of the western country these Medicines will be found a safe, speedy, and cortain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—TRY THEM, BE SATISFIED, AND BE CURED.

Bilious Fevers and Liver Complaints. General Debility, Loss of Appetite, and Distances of Appetite, and Distances of Appetite, and Distances of Emales—these medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—King's Evil, and Scropula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night's Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Compliants of all kinds. Papetation of the Harp. Proposition MERYOUS DEBILITY, NERVOUS COMPLAINTS of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painter's Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES. Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mencourt, will find these Medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system all the effects of Mercury infinitely sconer than the most powerful preparations of Sarsuparilla. A single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition, in the estimation of every nationt. estimation of every patient.
