Use of Sleep to the Body.

Solidification—that is, the conversion of blood into the solid parts of the bodygoes on during sleep. The chief end, indeed, and object, and intention of sleep would seem to be this final assimilation of our food, this solidification of the blood, into the several solid parts of the body.

The accomplishments of this miraculous change, seems to have required, that everything, both within and without the body, should be hushed into profound repose during the accomplishment of the mighty wonder, in order that nothing might disturb or interfere with the exquisite and miraculous process employed to effect it. To this end the portals of sensation are closed-the eye sees not-the ear hears not-the skin feels not-the very breathing is scarcely audible-the pulsations of the heart are scarcely perceptible-all the living energies are now concentrated into the greatest possible intensity like rays of light into a focus; and directed with almost exclusiveness, towards this simple

In the day, therefore, we make blood -in the night that blood is converted into solid matter. In the day we garner up the building materials-in the night repair up the building. The hour of rising, therefore, ought to be the time at which our physical strength is the greatest-and with perfectly healthy persons this is the case. The languor which sickly persons feel in the morning, arises from the process of repair not having been fully accomplished; the building has not been restored. The apparent. additional strength which is felt during the day, after eating, is only apparentit is merely excitement derived from the stimulous food; in the first instance in the slomach; and after that food has been assimilated, of new blood in the

Every-day Conforts and Luxuries.

. The variety of distant regions by which our every-day comforts and luxuies are supplied, is a geographical lesson familiar to our earliest infancy .--The child knows that the tea it is drinking came from the estate of a mandarin, and has possibly traversed half the course of the Yang-tse-kiang in its passage to this country. Its coffee was grown by swarthy Arabs, within the sound of the muezzin's voice. The snowy crystals .of sugar were extracted from a cane in Jamaica, by Christian Africans, or on the banks of the Ganges by Pagan Hindoos. If the cream is the production of Middlesex, the butter not improbably was churned and kneaded by Dutch or Belgian fraus. The material of the urn was perhaps found a quarter of a mile deep in Cornwall or Anglesia, but that of the teapot and the spoon were excavated by Indians from the heat of the Cordilleras, and separated from the ore by means of Hungarian quicksilver. The table was formed from a monarch of the woods which had seen a thousand years in the solitudes of Honduras, and attained its prime before Columbus was born. The blade of the knife came from the pine clad hills of Sweden, but its haft was borne for half a century in the mouth of an elephant which probably never saw a man. The table-cloth is a contribution from the Neva, and the work of bearded seris. The carpet is the work of Armenians, in the dominions of the Sultan .---The child's frock has passed through the hands of Virginia slaves, while the Italian subjects of Austria furnish "its sash. Its coral came from Australasian reef, its pearls from the bottom of the Persian Gulf. The lesson is endless- Almost any comfortable house in this metropolis has levied contributions on every people and clime. Countless tribes, names, conditions, manners and religions, rise to the memory as we walk through the rooms and ask of each other in succession. "Where did this come from?"

W. ROBACK, during his experience of over a quarter of a century. Do you doubt predestination? Then why not every man gain a celebrity of General Taylor, a Daniel Webster or a Henry Clay? And yet there are some who are foolish enough to doubt that a man may be born with the power to see into future events! How can it be possible that the destiny of man should be governed by the mero shuffling of a pack of cards? and yet there are thousands who allow themselves, with open mouths, to swallow allow themselves, with open mouths, to swallow the greasy words of some old woman, whose true skill consists in filling them with wonders that skill consists in filling them with wonders that are most difficult for the digestion of others, who are more-credulous, yet more scientific. It is such that bring discredit on a profession that has been acknowledged to be a science of the highest order from time immemorial and is the only profession that has any authority to sustain it. The high respect which General Taylor, and Charles Bet mainte, late King of Sweden had for Astrology, is shown by their letters for their Nativities to the subscriber, which it will give him great pleasure in showing to those who favor him with a c.il.

THYOF'S OF QUACKS.

LET EVERYMODY READ THIS CHARPULLY.—There is a Sareaparilla for sale in the different towns called S. P. Townsend's Sareaparilla. It is advertised as the ORIGINAL, GENUINE, and all mat. This Townsend is no dector and never was; but was formerly a worker on railroads, canals, and the like—yet he assumes the title of Dector for the purpose of gaining credit for what he is not. He says "the has attended two medical schools, and practiced for fifteen years!!" Now the truth is, he never practiced medicine a day in his life.! Such veriful, wicked misropresontation looks bad to the character and veracity of the man. I wish most sincerely, he had never made those statements of thinself or of me. When will mendearn to be honest and truthful in all their dealings and injercourse with their follow mon! He applied to one Ruel Clapp to assist him in manufacturing his mixture, staing the large sums he would make, as an inducement to embark in the business. These men have been invaliding and libeling me in all possible forms, in order to impress the public with the belief. This S. D. To from the cay I have said thegue of my name for 97 a week. I will give him $500 if he will-produce one sincle softlary proof of this. His statements of Thompson, Skillman & Co., are nothing but a tissue of falsehoods, simply made to deceive the public, and keep the truth down in regard to his scaring, fermenting—compositind. This is to caution the public to purchase none but Old Dr. JACOB Townsend's Sareaparilla, having on it the Old Doctor's likeness, his family Coat of Arms, and his signatureacross the Coat of Arms.
