BY FREDERIKA BREMER.

There was once a poor and plain little girl, dwelling in a little room, in Stockholm the capital of Sweden. She was a poor little girl indeed then; she was lonely and neglected, and would have been very unhapily deprived of the kindness and care so necessary to a child, if it had not been for a very peculiar gift. The little girl had a fine voice, and in her holiness, in trouble or in sorrow, she consoled herself by singing. In fact, she sung to all she did; at her work, running or or resting, she always sang.

The woman, who had her in care, went out to work during the day, and used to lock in the little girl, who had nothing to enliven her solitude but the company of a cat. The little girl played with her cat and sang. Once she sat by the open window and stroked her cat and—sang, when a lady passed by. She heard the voice, and looked up and saw the the little singer. She asked the child several questions, went away, and came back several days later, followed by an old music master, whose name was Crelius. He tried the little girl's musical ear and voice, and was astonished. He took her to the director of the Royal opera at Stockholm, then a Count Puhe, whose truly generous and kind heart was concealed by a rough speech and a morbid temper. Crelius introduced his little pupil to the Count, and asked him to engage her as "eleve" for the opera. "You ask a foolish thing!" said the Count, gruffly, looking diedain fully down on the poor little girl.
"What shall we do with that ugly thing? See what feet she has! And then her face! She will never be presentable. No, we cannot take her! Away with her!"-

The music master insisted almost indignantly. "Well," exclaimed he at last, "if you will not take her, poor as I am, I will take her myself, and have her educated for the scene; then such snother ear as she has for music is not to be found in the world."

The Count relented. The little girl was at last admitted into the school for eleves at the opera, and with some difficulty a simple gown of black bombazine was procured for her. The care of her musical education was left to an able master, Mr. Albert Berg, director of the song-school of the opera.

Some years later, at a comedy given by the eleves of the theatre; several pe sons were struck by the spirit and life with which a very young eleve acted the part of a beggar girl in the play. Lovers of genial nature were charmed pedants almost frightened. It was our poor little girl, who had made her first appearance, now about fourteen years o age, frolicsome and full of fun as a child A few years later still, a young debutante was to sing for the first time before the public in Weber's Freischitz. At the rehearsal preceding the representa-tion of the evening, she sang in a man-ner which made the members of the orchestra once, as by common accord, lay down their instruments to clap their hands in rapturous applause. It was our poor, plain little girl here again who had now grown up and was to appear before the public in the role of Agatha. I saw her at the evening representation. She was then in the prime of youth, fresh, bright and serene as morning in may, perfect in form-her hands and arms peculiarly graceful-and lovely in her whole appearance through the expression of her countenance, and the noble simplicity and calmness of her manners. We saw not an actress, but a young girl full of natural geniality and grace. She seemed to move, speak and sing, without effort or art. All was nature and harmony. Her song was distinguished especially by its purity, and the power of soul which seemed to swell her tones .- Her "mezzo voice" was delightful. In the night scene were Agatha, seeing her lover come breathes out her joy in a rapturous song, our young singer, on urning from the window, at the back of the theatre to the spectators again, was pale for joy. And in that pale joyousness, sang with a burst of outflowing love and life that called forth not the mirth but the tears of the auditors.

of the auditors. From that time she was the declared favorite of the Swedish public, whose musical taste and knowledge are said to be surpaised nowhere. And year after year she continued so, though after a time, her voice, being overstrained, lost somewhat of its freshness, and the public, being satiated, no more crowded the house when she was singing. Still, at that time, she could be heard singing and playing more delightfully than ever in Panima (in Zauberflote) or in Anna Bolens, though the opera was almost deserted. It was then late in the spring, and the beautiful weather called the people out to nature's plays. She evidently sang for the pleasure of the song. By that time she went to take lessons of Garcia in Paris, and so gave the finishing touch to her musical education There she acquired that warble in which she is said to have been equaled by no singer, and which could be com-pared only to that of the soaring warb-bling lark, if the lark had a soul

And then the young girl went abroad and sang on foreign shores and to foreign people. She charmed Denmark che charmed Germany, she charmed England. She was caressed and court ed everywhere, even to adulation. At the courts of kings, at the houses of the o great and noble, she was feasted as one of the grandees of nature and art. She was covered with laurels and jewels. But friends wrote of her—"In the midst of these splenders she only thinks of her Sweden, and yearns for her friends and her people."

One dusky October night, crowds of people (the most part, by their dress, seeming to belong to the upper class of society,) thronged on the shore of the Baltic harber at Stockholm. All looked toward the sea. There was a rumor of expectance and pleasure. Hours pass-ed away, and the crowds still gathered and waited and looked out eagerly to ward the sea. At length a brilliant rocket rose joyfully, far out at the entrance of the harbor, and was greeted by a general buz on the shore. "There she comes! there she is!" A large steamer now came thundering on, ina king its triumphant way through the flocks of ships and boats lying in the harber, towards the shore of the 'skepps bro." Flashing rockets marked its way in the dark as it advanced. The crowds on the shore pushed forward as if to meet it. Now the leviathen of the waters was heard thundering nearer and nearer, now it relented now again pushed on, foaming and splashing, now it lav still. And there, on the front of the rockets, a pale, graceful young woman, with eyes brilliant with tears, and lips radiant with smiles, waving her handkerchief to her friends and countrymen

on the shore. It was she again-our poor plain neglected little girl of former days— who now came back in triumph to her fatherland. But no more poor, no more plain, no more neglected. She had become rich; she had become celebrated; and she had in her slender person the power to charm and inspire multitudes.

Some days later, we read in the papers of Stockholm, an address to the public written by the beloved singer, stating with noble simplicity that, she once more had the happiness to be in her native land she would be glad-tosing again to her countrymen, and that the income of the operas in which she was this season to appear, would be devoted to raise a fund for a school where eleves for the theatre would be educated to virtue and knowledge."-The inteligence was received as it deserved' and of course the opera house was crowded every time the beloved singer sang there. The first time she again appeared in the "Sonambula" (one of her favorite roles,) the public, after the curtain was dropped, called her back with great enthusjasm, and received her, when she appeared, with a roar of "hurrahs." In the midst of the burst of applause a clear, melodious warbling was heard.

The hurrahs were hushed instantly. And we saw the lovely singer standing with her arms slightly extened, somewhat bowing forward, graceful as a bird on its branch, warbling as no bird ever did, from note to note; and on every one a clear, strong, soaring war-ble—until she fell into the retournelle of her last song, and again sang that joyful and touching strain: "No thought can conceive how I feel at my heart." She has now accomplished the good work to which her latest songe in Sweden have been devoted, and she is again to leave her native land to sing to a remote people. She is expected this year in the United States of America, and her arrival is welcomed with a general feeling of joy .- All have heard of her

The Company add a BONUS at stated periods to the insurances for life. The first BONUS was appropriated in December, 1844, amounting to 10 per cent, on the sum insured under the oldest polices; to 84 per cent., 7½ per cent., &c, &c., on others, in proportion to the time of standing, making an addition of $100; $87.50; $75. &c., &c. to every $1,000, originally insured, which is an average of more than 50 per cent on the premiums paid, and without increasing the annual payment to the Company.

Life Pills and Phonix Entrers. These Medicin's have now been but no the public for a period of FIRTEEN YEARS, and during that time have maintained which character in almost every part of the globa for their every ordinary and immediate power of natoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

IN MANY THOUSANDS of certificated instances, they have even resoned sufferers from the very verge of an utimely grave, after all the deceptive neatrons of the day had atterly failed; and to many thousands they have permanently secured that uniform enjoyment of health, without which life litself is but a partial blessing. So great, indeed, has their efficacy invariables and health, without which life litself is but a partial blessing. So great, indeed, has their efficacy invariables upon be mirroralised to those who were acquainted with the beautifulty philosophical principles upon which they are compounded, aftit upon which they consequently act. It was to their manifest and censible action in jurifying the springs and channels of life, and enduring them with renewed tone and vigor, that they were indebted for their name.

and channels of life, and enduing them with reuewed tone and vigor, that they were indebted for their name.

Unlike the best of pernicious quackeries which beast of vegetable lagredieuts, the LIFE MEDICIMES are pariely and solely vegetable; and contain neither Mercury, nor Antimony, nor Arsenic, nor any other mineral in any form whatever.
They are entirely composed of extracts from rare and powerful plants, this virtues of which, though long-known to several Indian tribes, and recently to some eminent pharmaceutical chemists, are altogether unknown to the ignorant protenders to medical science; and were never before administered in so happily efficacious a combination.

The first operation is to loosen from the coats of the stomach and bowels the various impurities and crudities constantly settling round then; and to romove the hardened faces which collect in the convolutions of the small intestincs. Other medicines only partially cleause these, and leave such collected masses behind to produce habitual Costiveness, with all its train of evils, or sudden Diarrhusa with its imminent dangers. This fact is well known to all regular anatomists who examine the human bowels after death; and honce the prejudice of these well-informed men against the quack medicines of the age. (The second effect of the VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES is to cleanse the kidneys and the bladder; and, by this means, the liver and lungs, the healthful action of which entirely depends upon the regularity of the urinary organs. The blood, which takes its red color from the agency of the liver and lungs, hefore
it passes into the heart, being thus purified by them,
and nourished by food coming from yelean stomach,
courses freely through the veins, renews every part of the system, and triumphantly informs the banner of health in the blooming check.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES are well known to be infallible

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and acconditumeds, and creating a flow of pure healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss of Appetite Hearthurn, Headlache, Restlessness, Ill-temper, Anxiety, Lunguer, and Mclincholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

Costiveness, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence: all violent purges leave the bowels costive within-two-days

Diarrhosa and Cholera, by removing the pharp acrid fluids by which these complaints are occasioned, and by promoting the lubricative secretion of the mucous membrane.

Fovers of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of perspired. ration in such cases, and the thorough solution d all intestinal obstraction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing ocal inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

Drossies of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder: they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the es of GRAVEL.

Also Worms, by dislodging from the turnings the bowels the slimy matter to which these rentures adhere Asthma and Consumption, by relieving the air-versels of the lungs from the nuccus which even slight colds will occasion, and which, if not removed, because hardened, and produces these drendful diseases.

dreadful diseases.

Scuryy, Ulcers, and Inveterate Sores, by the perfect parity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

Scorbutic Eruptions and Bad Complexions, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occanications. sions all cruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will the worst cases.

PILES. As a remedy for this most distressing and obstinate malady, the VEGETABLE LIFE MEDICINES deserve a distinct and emphatic recommendation. It is well known to handreds in this city, that the former proprietor of these valuable Medicines was himself afflicted with this complaint for upwards of the triver years; and that he tried in vain every remedy prescribed within the whole compass of the Medicine which is now offered to the public, and he was oured in a very short time, after his recovery had been probounced not only improbable; but absolutely impossible, by any human means. ays be cured by one dose, or by two

FEVER AND AGUE.

For this scourge of the western country these Medicines will be found a safe, speedy, and cortain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—TRY THEM, BE SATISFIED, AND BE CURED.

Bilious Fevers and Liver Complaints. Bilious Fevers and Liever Company General Debility, Loss or Appetite, and Diseases of Females—these medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—King's Evil., and Scrovilly in its most forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. NIGHT SWEATS, MERVOUS COMPLAINTS OF ALL KINDS, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, PAINTEE'S Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES. RIEKUURIAL JISSASES.

Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercoure, will find these Medicines a perfect cure, as they never ful to eradicate from the system all the effect of Mercoury infinitely seemer than the most powerful preparations of Sarsaparilla. A single trial will place them beyond the reach of competition, in the astimation of every patient. stimation of every patient.

BE CAREFUL OF COUNTERFEITS.

Several have lately been discovered, and their netarious authors argested, both in the city of New York and abroad.
