THE SEAROH AFTER REST. When first the dove, afar and wide, Skimmed the dark waters o'er; To seek beyond the heaving tide. A green and peaceful shore.

No leafy bough, nor life-like thing, Rose 'min the swelling main-The tone bird-sought, with fattering wing, The hallowed ark again.

And ever thus man's heart hath traced

- A lone and weary round;

But never yet, 'mid earth's dark waste,

A resting place has found.

The peace for which his spirit yearns, Is ever sought in vain, fill like the dove it homeword turns. And finds its God again.

Gur Dependence upon GQd.

The economy of the human frame when seriously contemplated, has a tendency to excite admiration and astonishment, and to impress us with a sense of our continual dependence on a Superior Power. What an immense multiplicity of machinery must be in action to enable us to breathe, to feel and to walk !- Hundreds of bones of diversified forms, connected together by various modes of articulation; hundreds of muscles to produce motion, each of them acting in at least ten different capacities; hundreds of tendons and ligaments to connect the bones and muscles; hundreds of arteries to convey the blood to the remotest part of the system; hundreds of veins to bring it back to its reservoir, the heart; thousands of glands secreting humours of various kinds from the blood; thousands of lacteal and lymphatic, tubes, absorbing and conveying nutriment to the circulating fluid; millions of pores, through which the perspiration is tinually issuing; an infinity of ramifications of nerves, diffusing sensation throughout all the parts of this exquisite machine; and the heart at every pulsa-tion exerting a force of a hundred thousand pounds, in order to preserve all this complicated machinery in constant operation! The whole of this vast system of mechanism must be in action be in action before we can walk across our apartments! We admire the operation of a steam-engine, and the force it exerts. But though it is constructed of materials which the mines can suply, in a few months, some of its essential parts are worn and deranged, even although its action should be frequently discontinued. But the animal machine, though constructed, for the most part, of the softest and most flabby substances, can go on without intermission in all its diversified movements, by night and by day, for the space of eighty or a hundred years! the heart giving ninety six thousand strokes every twenty-four hours, and the whole mass of blood rushing through a thousand pipes of all sizes every four minutes! And is it man that governs these nice and complicated movements? Did he set the heart in motion, or endow it with the muscular force it exerts? Man knows neither the secret springs of the machinery within him, nor the half of the purposes for which they serve, or of the movements they perform. Can any thing more strikingly demonstrate our dependence every moment on a Superior Agent, and that it is, "in God we live and move, and have our being?" Were a single pin of the machinery within us, and over which we have no , control. either broken or deranged, a thousand movements might instantly be interrup-

It was considerations of this kind that led the celebrated physician Galen, who was a sceptic in his youth, publicly to acknowledge that a Supreme Intelligence must have operated in ordaining the laws by which living beings are constructed. And he wrote his excellent treatise "On the uses of the parts of the human frame," as a solemn hymn to the Creator of the world. "I first endeavor from His works," he says, "to know myself, and wards by the same means to show him to others; to inform them, how great is his wisdom, his goodness, his power."-[Dick's Christian Philosopher.]

ted, and our bodies left to crumble into

Knowledge.

We always fail when we judge of the fate of others. Life is double—an internal and external life; the latter often open to the eyes of all, the former only seen by the eye of God. Nor is it alone those material things which we conceal from the eyes of others, which often make the apparently splendid lot in reality a dark one, or that which seems sad orasolitary, cheerful and light within. Our characters, our spirits operate upon all that fate or accident subjects to them We transform the events of life to our own uses, be those uses bitter or sweet; and as a piece of gold loses its form and solidity when dropped into an acid, so the hard things of life are resolved by the operations of our minds into things least resembling themselves. True, a life of study and of thought may seem to most men'a calm and tranquil state of existence. Such pursuits gently excite, and exercise sofily and peacefully the highest faculties of the intellectual soul, but age brings with it indifference even to those enjoyments-nay, it does more, it teaches us the vanity and emptiness of a man's knowledge. We reach the bounds and barriers which God has placed across our path, with bitter disap-pointment, at life's extreme close that when we know all, we know nothing. This I have learned and it is all that I have learned in eighty years, that the one knowledge really worth pursuing is the knowledge of God in his word and in his works the only practical application of that science, to do good to all God's creatures.

The Sabbath.

"I have found," says the great Lord Chief Justice Hale, "by a strict and diligent observation, that a due observance of the duties of Suuday has ever had joined to it a blessing upon the rest of my time; and the week that has been so begun has been blessed and prosperous to me: -And, on the other side, when I have been negligent of the duties of this day, the rest of the week has been unhappy to my own secular em-ployments. So that I could easily make an estimate of my success the week fol-lowing, by the manner of my passing this day. And I do not write this light ly, but by long and sound experience.

TRIALS .- A Christian without trials would be like a mill without wind or water; the contrivance and design of the wheel-work inside would be unnoticed and unknown, without something to put it in motion without. Nor would graces grow, unless they were called in to exercise; the trials and difficulties we meet with not only prove, but also strengthen the graces of the Spirit. PETROLEUM, OR ROCK OIL. A'NATURAL REMEDY! Procured from a Well in Allegheny scounty, Pa., 4000 feet below the earth's surface.
Put up and sold by Sam'l M. Kier, Canal Basin, 7th St. Pittsbung, Pa.

The healthful balm from Nature's secret spring, The bloom of health, and life, to man will bring, As from her lepths the magic liquid flows, To calm our sufferings, and assuage our woes.

PETROLEUM-

THIS great remedy of Nature, afopeated-and fair trials has worked its wato popular favor. We need hardly repent the fact, that this is a pure, unadulterated NA TURAL MEDICINE, and is put up as it flows from the bosom of the earth, without admixture. In these days of Nostrum vendings, we do not wonder at the inscreduity evinced by the community, upon the introduction of a New Remeay, but that increduity shall not suppress a medicine, whose powerful influence has mittgated—and cured so many diseases incident to our race; were we to will-ity shall not suppress a medicine, whose powerful influence has mitigated—and cured so many diseases incident to our race; were we to withhold a remedy like this from public notice, we should consider ourselves as guilty of keeping back something, that was intended to relieve much human suffering, and dispet the gloom and gain of many a one, whose system has for years heer racked and tortured by the fell engines of Disease. Nay, do not wonder, gentle reader, and join with others in the cry; that it cures too

many diseases; for, if you will take the troubleto run over the list of diseases for which it is recommended, you will find that they are diseases affecting the same kind of tissues, and consequent
by ITTS APPLICABLE TO JLL.

But the best evidence in favor of a medicine are the cures themselves. When these stand out in bold relief, and when he who for years has saffered the tortures and pangs of an immedicable lesion, which has been hastening him to the carrow house, speaks out in its praise, what better cyidehee need be wanted? We have the cvidence in our possession, of many atomishing cures, which will be farmished to any one who really doubts the efficacy of this wonder ful remedy.

The Earth, froit which man was created, bears in her bosom remedies which if known, are capable of restoring him to health and vigor, when prostrated by sickness and disease, It was the opinion-of-the-celebrated Dr.-Rush, that, there existed in Nature an antidote to every malady to which man is liable. Every one is aware of the relief frequently obtained from Mineral Waters, in most chronic complaints. These singular medicaments, flowing out from flie earth, satursted with su stances varied in their character, and holding them in complete solution, bear ample testimony to the fact, that they were compounded by the master hand of Nature, to repair the shatered vessels of our physical being, and set them with saits unfurled, prosperously upon he shattered vessels of our physical being, aw set them with sails unfurled, prosperously upo set them with sails unfurled, prosperously upon he sen of life.

The Petroleum is one of this kind of remedies, and is endued with powersto relieve more human suffering than any other medicine extant.—
When taken perseveringly and according to the directions, it will cure—Biarrhoca, Piles, Rheumatism, Gont, Necaralgia, Obstinate Eruptions of the Skin, Erysipelus, Pimples on the Pace Blotches, Piles, Chronic, Sore Eyes, Ring Worm Tetter, Scald Head, Pains in the Bones, and Joints, and all that class of Diseases, in which alterative, or purifying Medicines are indicated.

System.

Syst.m.

THE constant, unsolicited application for Life Insurance, gives the most abundant and gratifying proof that the public mind is deeply impressed with the vast importance of this subject. The great object, however, of Insurance should be safety, otherwise the whole motive to insure may be disappointed. Too much care cannot be practised in the selection of an office with which to effect the contract.—The choice should be regulated not by present and constant large inducements, as this, is certainly incompatible with future benefits. The promiums on life are calculated for the future, if present and prospective benefits therefore are given, the result ultimately, must terminate in litigation, disappointment and ruin. The objection of the future of the sestence of promium have been carefully prepared with reference to fluctuations.—The cash system of payments has also been adopted. Unpaid premium notes constitute no part of the assets of this company, and every contingency-being fortified with an ample capital, security stumps the whole system. This feature, paramount to all other considerations, commends the company to public favor. Explanatory pamphlets, blanks, application papers information, and every facility will be cheerfully turnished by WM M.
