Sunday Beading. Anticipation of the Birth of Christ.

BY REV. T. H. STOCKTON.

It was the object of hope for four thousand years. This is a wonderful fact, to begin with. There never was a generation in which his birth was not expected. It was the comfort of Adam and Eve. when they turned, into the fire guarded gate, from their last look on Eden, to go down into the world where the curse smoked before them. It was the selectest subject of the communion when Enoch walked with God, and hallowed the hour of his ascension into heaven. It was the brightest lamp in the sky when it rocked on the waves of the ocean world, beneath a sky that knew no noon or dawn. And when the flood had sub sided and the patriarch from the old world came out upon the misty moun-tains of the new, worshipped his Deliverer at the altar which glistened with the hues of the first rainbow-and his household became many families, and these families many tribes, descending from the summits and filling the lowlands—still, dearer to hope than the lost paradisc to memory, bloomed around the tents of the holy, the promise of the coming Messiah. It was this expectation that charmed Atram in the house of Idelatry, and led his pilgrim steps from the plains of Ur to the heights of Hebren. It was this, that shone in the serene imagination of Isaac, brighter than the evening star, when he went forth into the fields to meditate in the quiet eventide. It was this, that supported the dying Jacob better than his staff, and made his eyes flash with the visions of faith and the glory of the latter days. It was this that caused Joseph to turn away from the royal mausoleums-the magnificent pyramids of Egypt-and crave, as the resting place of his henored bones, some sylvan haunt in the land of the redeemed. It was this that shortened the centuries of toil to the chosen of the Lord, and cheered the house of bondage with the song of freedom. It was this that constituted the Gospel of the desert, which so many disbelieved and perished.

"When manna fell through soft nocturnal hour.
Till desert trees were white as almond flowit was the pure and wholesome symbol of that better "Bread of Life," which was to come "down from heaven" in after days. When the heart of the rock melted, and its fissured surface flowed with refreshing streams, "that rock was Christ," and those streams were gushing tokens of a free and full salvation. When the Shekinah appeared, in its radiant rest, on the mercy seat, it was only a faint drawing of the "Brightest of the Father's Glory" and an indistinct lymning of the "express image of his person." And so, when the tide of Jordan was severed by the first touch of the feet of the priests, who bore the ark; and the redeemed of the Lord passed over to their glorious inheritance, the ark "itself was the depository of their common and blessed hope, and the Lender of the Host, in name and office, the type of Jesus,the Captain of our Salvation .- And so. when the twelve tribes where spread abroad with their tents pitched in the sunshine of the hill-tops, and in the shade of the vales below, and under the branches of the palm trees on the plain, and brooks and lakes; sweeter and purer than the "milk and honey" with which the whole land so plenteously flowed, more soothing than the "oil of olives," more cheering than the "new wine," more nourishing than the "finest of the wheat," more glorious than the trophies of victorious war, and more blissful than the Sabbath quiet of unthreatened peace. -more joyous than all, more constant and triumphant in its joy, was the brightened prospects of this wondrous advent. And so, during the time of the Judges, and in the days of the Kings. It was the band of the national unionthe boast of national pride-the badge of national distinction. "The wilderness and the solitary place" were made glad "The wilderness by it; and because of it "the desert reioiced and blossomed as the rose." Nay, the glory of Lebanon' was made glorious as this voice was heard among the sounding cedars; "the excellency of Car-mel and Sharon" was made more excellent as this promise was whispered to the gales from the great sea, and breathed a celestial fragrance among the perfumes of the flowery plain. Lebanon saw in this revelation "the glory of the Lord;" and Carmel and Sharon beheld "the ex cellency of our God." And so the dewy steeps of Hermon, and the towering cone of Tabor, and the morning cliffs of Gilead, and the evening wells of Beersheba, and purple vintage of Eschol-all a-round the land on the hither side of Jordan, North, Sonth, East and West-in the sensons of the early and latter rain, and in the burning summer tide, and the freezing winter-tide, within the whole land and under the whole sky of that honored nation, every where and at all times, this supreme expectation was known and cherished .- But as the election at first expanded from a family to the world, and then again narrowed from a world to a family-and then again expanded from a family to the world, and then again narrowed to one family, and then again expanded to a nation, and then again narrowed to one of its tribes and one family of this tribe, within the borders of that tribe it exerted a greater influence-and within the tents of that family its chief power. Judah exulted on the heights of Zion, and the house of Jesse was glad on the hill side of Bothlehem. It fired the heart of David, while he sat on his throne, and caused the throne itself to tremble beneath him and the palace, and the tabernacle, and Jerusalem, and Judah, andfall Israel, to triumph, while the harp of inspirationa richer gift than empire-was swept by his raptured fingers, and the living anthems flew, like angels from the chords, filling heaven and earth with perpetual praise. It was this that enhanced the glory of Solomon, when the sovereignty of Israel was most extended and imposing, when kings sent tribute, and queens brought it, when caravans came from far lands, and fleets from far seas, and silver was a dust, and gold as the stones, and the City of the Great King led forth its streets of palaces from hill to hill, and the temple of Moriah grew up, in silent magnificence, to be the wor-ship-wonder of the world, and He, whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain.

came down in a cloud of glory, to sancit. fy its Most Holy Place—it was this (that heightened the pomp and confirmed the power;—and when the king became a curse, and the wise man a fool, and the smoke of idol-alters floated over the shrine of the Highest, it was this that lingered, in pale and anddened splendor, on all the empire, like the changed and feeble day, when the sun is in eclipse. And so when the ten tribes, where carried into irreclaimable captivity—and so when the CAN be expected from the subscriber, as he leaves at weeping by the streams of Babylon, with their harps hung, moaning, on the willows—and so when these latter returned to rebuild the wall of their beloved metropolis—and so when the second temple was opened and dedicated, and the willows—and so when these latter returned to rebuild the wall of their beloved inetropolis - and so when the second temple was opened and dedicated, and so down to the very time of his actual appearance, during all the changes of our thousand years, was the birth of Jesus the object of HOPE !

And fair trials has worked its wato popular favor. We need hardly repeat the fact, that this is a pure, anadisterated NATURAL MEDICINE, and is put up as it flows from the bosom of the carth, without admixture. In these days of Nostrum vending, we do not wonder at the increduity evineed by the community, upon the introduction of a New Remeay, but that increduity shall not suppress a medicine, whose powerful influence has mitgated and cured so many diseases incident to our race; were we to withhold a remedy like this from public notice, we should consider ourselves as guilty of keeping back something that was intended to relieve much human suffering, and dispel the gloom and pain of many a one, whose system has for years been racked and tortured by the foll cugines of Disease. Nay, do not wonder, gentle reader, and join with others in the cry, that it cupes too many diseases itor, if you will take the trouble to run over the list of diseases for which it is recommended, you will find that they are diseases affecting the same kind of tissues, and consequent ty. IT IS APPLICABLE TO ALL.

But the best evidence in favor of a medicine are the cures themselves. When these stand out in bold relicit, and when he who for years has and fered the tortures and pangs of an immedicable lesion, which has been hastening him to the narrow house, speaks out in its praise, what better evidence in four possession, of many astonishing cures, which will be furnished to any one who re tence in our possession, of many astonishing ures, which will be furnished to any one who re cures, which will be furnished to any one who re-ally doubts the efficacy of this wonderful remedy. The Earth, from which man, was created bears in her bosom remedies which if known, are ca-pable of restoring him to health and vigor, when prostrated by sickness and disease, . It was the opinion of the celebrated Dr. Rush, that there existed in Nature an-antidote to every malady to which man is liable. Every one is aware of the relief frequently obtained from Mineral Waters, in most chronic complaints. These singular medicaments, flowing out from the carth, saturated with su stances varied in their character, and holding them in complete solution, bear ample testimony to the fact, that they were compounded by the master hand of Nature, to repair the shattered vessels of our physical being, and set them with sails unfurled, prosperously upon he sea of life.

The Petroleum is one of this kind of remedies, and is endued with power*to relieve more human suffering than any other medicine extant.—Whet, taken perseveringly and according to the directions, it will our—Diarrhoea, Piles, Rheumatism, Gont, Neuralgia, Obstinate Eruptions of the Skin, Erysipelas, Pimples on the Pace Blotches, Piles, Chronio, Sore Eyes, Ring, Worm Tetter, Scald Head, Pains in the Bones, and Joints, and all that class of Diseases, in which alterative, or purifying Medicines are indicated.
