BY MARTIN F. TUPPET

"My times are in thy hands."
Yet will, I trust! in all my fears,
Thy mercy, gracious Lord, appears,
To guide me through this vale of tears, To guide me through this vale or tea.
And be my strength;
Thy mercy guides the ebb and flow
Of health and joy, or pain and woe,
To wean my heart from all below,
To Thee at length.

Yes—welcome pain—which Thou has sent-Yes—farewell blessing—Thou hast lent— With Thee alone, I rest content, For Thou art heaven;-My trust reposes, safe and still.
On the wise goodness of. Thy will,
Grateful for earthly good or ill
Which Thou hast given.

O blessed friend! O blissful thought! With happiest consolation fraught, Trust Thee I may, I will, I ought, Then let whatever storms arise,
Their ruler sits above the skies,
And lifting unto Him mine eyes, 'Tis calm within

Dangers may threaten, foes molest, Poverty broad, disease infest, Yea, torn affections wound the breast For one sad hour;
But Faith looks to her home on high,
Hope casts around a cheerful eye,
And love puts all the terrors by
With gladdening power.

To Young Wen.

There is no moral object so beautiful to m as a conscientious young man. I watch him as I do a star in the heavens: clouds may be before him, but we know his light is behind them, and will beam again; the blaze of others' prosperity may outshine him, but we know that though unseen, he illumes his own true sphere. He resists temptations not without a struggle, for that is not a virtue; but he does resist and conquer; he hears the sar casm of the profligate and it stings him; for that is the trial of virtue, but he heals the wounds by his own pure touch. He heeds not the watchword of fashion if it leads to sin; the atheist, who says not only in his heart bu with his lips, "there is no God," controls him not, for he sees the hand of a creating God and reveres it of a persevering God, and rejoices in it.

Woman is sheltered by fond arms and loving counsel; old age is protected by its experience, and manhood by its strength; but the young man stands amid the temptations of the world like a self-balanced tower; happy he who seeks and gains the prop and shelter of morality. Gaward, then, conscientious youth! raise thy standard, and nerve thyself for goodness. If God has given thee intellectual power, awaken it in that cause; never let, it be said of thee he helped to swell the tide of sin by pouring his influence into his channels.—

If thou art feeble in mental strength throw mot that into the polluted current. Awake, arise, young man! assume the beautiful garb of virtue! it is easy to sin, but it is difficult to be pure and holy. Put on thy strength then! let thy chivalry be aroused against error! let truth be the lady of thy love—defend ther.—S. Rose. Woman is sheltered by fond arms and lov

The Bible.

"I am of the opinion that the Bible contains more true sublimity, more exquisite beauty, more pure morality, more important history, and finer strains of poetry and eloquence, than usan he collected from all other books, in whatever age or language they may have been written."—Sir William Jones.
"I will hazard the assertion that no man ever did or ever will become truly eloquent, with-out being a constant reader of the Bible, and an admirer of the purity and sublimity of its language."—Fisher Ames.

"The Bible is a book worth more than all the other books which were ever printed," [Patrick Henry.

"Young man, attend to the voice of one who has possessed a certain degree of fame in the world, and who will shortly appear before his Maker; read the Bible every day of your life."—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

Live not for Self.

Who are the happiest men? They who live to benefit others—who are always ready with a word to encourage—a smile to cheer—a look to persuade, and a dollar to assist. They are never fearful lest a good trade or an excellent bargain should fall into the hands of a poor bargain should fall into the hands of a poor neighbor—but the more rejoice when such a one meets with encouragement. In this cold and selfish world such characters are rare; but yet there are a few God-like minds, who are not altogether swallowed up in self; who read their duty in the scented flower, the passing breast the relling ocean, and the blade of read their duty in the sounted flower, the pus-sing breeze, the rolling ocean, and the blade of grass. Such men we honor wherever we find thom—in the palace or the hut—around our dwelling or on a far distant Island. We see in their characters true glory and wisdom. Like just stewards of the manifold grace of God, they impart to others in such a degree as to lease their Maker, and secure a passport t

AHE constant, unsolicited application for Life Insurance; gives the most abundant and gratifying proof that the public mind-is deeply impressed with the vast importance of this subject. The great object, however, of Insurance should be safety, otherwise the whole motive to insure may be disappointed. Too much care cannot be practised in the selection of an office with which to effect the contract.—The choice should be regulated not by present and constant large inducements, as this, is certainly incompatible with future benefits. The premiums on life are calculated for the future, if present and prospective benefits therefore are given, the result ultimately, must terminate in litigation, cisappointment and ruin. The objectiment at by this institution is stability and perpetually. The rates of premium have been carefully prepared with reference? to fluctuations.—The cash system of payments has also been adopted. Unpid premium rotes constitute no part of the assets—of this company, and every contingency being fortified with an ample capital, security stamps the whole system. This feature, paramount to all other considerations commends the company to public favor. VAYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL:

For the Cure of COUGHS, COLDS HOARSENESS, BROW-CHITIS, CROUP, ASTH-MA, WHOOPING-COUGH AND CONSUMPTION.

Among the numerous discoveries Science has made in this generation to facilitate the business of life—increase its enjoyment, and even prolong he term of human existence, none can be named of more real value to mankind, than this contribution of Chemistry to the Healing Art. A vast trial of its virtues throughout this broad country, has proven beyond a doubt, that no medicine or comination of medicines yet known, can so surely control and cure the numerous varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to beliance. deed, there is now abundant reason to believe t deed, there is now abundant reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on to cure the most dangerous affections of the lungs. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures effected by its use, but we would present the following opinions of eminent men. and refer further enquiry to the circular which the Agents below named, will always be pleased to furnish free, wherein are full particulars, and indisputable proof of these facts. "I deem the CHERRY PECTORAL an admirable composition from some of the host articles in the Materia Medica, and a very effective remedy for the class of diseases it is intended to cure."

New Aaven. Ct., Nov. 1, 1849.

MAJOR PATTISON, President of the S. C. Senate, states he has used the Cherry Pectoral with wonderful success to cure an inflammation of the lungs.

FROM ONE OF THE FIRST PHYSICIANS TN MAINE.

Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell. Dear Sir:—I am now constantly using your CHERRY PECTORAL in my practice, and prefer it to any other medicine for pulmonary complaints. From observation of the present space ages 1 am constant spaced it will have practice, and prier it to any other medicine for pulmonary complaints. From observation of many severe cases, I am convinced it will cure coughs, colds, and diseases of the lungs, that have put to defiance all other remedies.

I invariably recommend its use in cases of consumption, and consider it much the best remedy known for that disease. Respecially yours,
