THE BIBLE. Lamp of our feet! whereby we trace Our path when wont to stray. Stream from the fount of heavenly grace! Brook by the traveller's way!

Bread of our souls! whereon we feed; True manna from on high; Our guide and chart, wherein we read, Of realms beyond the sky!

Pillar of fire, through ages dark— Or radiant cloud by day; When waves would whelm our tossing bark, Our anchor and our stay.

Pole star of life's tempestuous deep, Beacon, when doubts surround Compass, by which our course to keep; On deep sea, lead to sound!

Riches in poverty! our aid-Our aid in every needful hour.
Unshaken rock! the pilgrim's shade—
The soldier's fortress, tower.

Our shield and buckler in the fight; Victory's triumphant palm; Comfort of grief—in weakness, might; In sickness, Gilead's balm.

Childhood's preceptor—manhood's trust— Old age's firm ally— Our hope, when we go down to dust, Of immortality!

Pure oracles of truth divine!
Unlike each fabled dream
Given from Delphi's mystic shrine,
Or groves of Academe!

Word of the ever-living God!
Will of his glorious Son!
Without thee how could earth be trod,
Or heaven itself be won?

A FATHER'S PRAYER.

In a certain town in Massachusetts, a club of young men who were accustomed to meet to enjoy themselves, as they called it, had gone on from one step to another, until they had. become full-grown, barefaced infidels, strongin the faith. There was one who had been taught the truths of the Bible in the Sunday School. He far exceeded all the rest, and by his knowledge of that sacred book would turn its solemn texts into the vilest ridicule. He would take the parables of Christ, and, by interspersing obscene jests and vile remarks; turn their import into scorn. He would lift his hands, and with a solemn countenance and reverential words say, "Let us pray;" and commencing in a manner seemingly becoming an address to the Majesty of heaven, and with an address to the Majesty of heaven, and with such an expression of awe as to strike horror even into the minds of his infidel companions, would soon turn the whole into the utmost heaven-daring and God-insulting ridicule. On one occasion, very late in the night, he was net, not a great distance, from his home, by one of his companions, and during the conversation, said he to his companion, "John, I don't go home very early now-a-days. I come down here, and if I see a light over home, I walk about the road here but I don't go in.—I used to go home almost as late as 12 o'clock sometimess, but I would find myold father and I used to go home almost as late as 12 o'clock sometimess, but I would find myold fither and mother sitting there and the old man would say, in a tone of paternal mildness and tendernes, 'It is rather late, William; your mother and I have been waiting some time for you; so-we-will-have prayers-now.'—But-oh, I can't bear it! So, if I see a light there, I don't go in."

Infidelity may scoff at the Bible, but it cannot always escape the reproofs of conscience.

A GREAT MAN'S PREFERENCE.

I envy no quality of mind or intellect of others-not genius, power, wit, or faucy; but if I could choose what would be most delightful, and most useful to me. I should prefer a firm religious belief to every other blessing, for it makes life a discipline of goodness, cre-ates new hopes when all other hopes vanish, ates new hopes when all other hopes vanish, and throws over the decay, the destruction of existence, the most gorgeous of all lights; awakens life even in death, and from corruption and decay, calls up beauty and divinity: makes an instrument of torture and of shame the ladder of ascent to paradise; and far above all combination of earthly hopes, calls up the most delightful visions, palms and amaranths, the gardens of the blessed; the security of everlasting joys, where the sensualist and skeptic view only gloom, decay, and annihilation.—Sir Hamphrey Davy.

A SWEARER REBUKED.

A clergyman riding across a bridge near where two men were fishing, overlieard one of them swearing most dreadfully. He dismountthem swearing most dreadfully. He dismounted, tied his horse, and entered into conversation with the swears, asking him many questions about his employment, and at length "what kind of bait he used?" He answered, "Different kind for different fish." "But cannot you catch fish without bait?" "No," said he, starting at the minister, "they would be great fools to bite at the bare hook." "But," said the minister "I know a fisherman who said the minister, "I know a fisherman who catches many without bait." "But who is he," asked the fisherman. "It is the Devil, and he catches swearers without bait. Other sinners want a bait, but the silly swearer will bite at

PRAYER .- As the sails of a ship carry it into harbor, so prayer carries us to the throne and bosom of God; but as sails cannot, themselves, speed the progress of the vessel, unless filled with a favorable breeze, so the Holy Spirit must breathe upon our hearts, or prayers will be motionless and useless.

Among the numerous discoveries Science has nade in this generation to facilitate the business of life-increase its enjoyment, and even prolong he term of human existence, none can be named of more real value to mankind, than this contribution of Chemistry to the Healing, Art. - A vast trial of its virtues throughout this broad country, has proven beyond a doubt, that no medicine or comination of medicines yet known, can so surely control and cure the numerous varieties of pulmonary disease which have hitherto swept from our midst thousands and thousands every year. Indeed, there is now abundant reason to believe a deed, there is now abundant reason to believe a Remedy has at length been found which can be relied on to cure the most dangerous affections of the lings. Our space here will not permit us to publish any proportion of the cures effected by its, use, but we would present the following opinions of eminent mon, and refer further enquiry to the circular which the. Agents below named, will always be pleased to furnish free, wherein are full particulars, and indisputable proof of those facts. From the President of America Cleenard Profession HITCHOCK.

FROM ONE OF THE FIRST PHYSICIANS IN MAINE. IN MAINE.

Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell. Dear Sir:—I am now constantly using your Cherry Pectoral in my practice, and prefer it to any other medicine for pulmonary complaints. From observation of many severe cases, I am convinced it will cure coughs, colds, and diseases of the lungs, that have put to defiance all other remedies.

I invariably recommend its use in cases of consumption, and consider it much the best remedy known for that disease. Respectfully yours. known for that disease. Respectfully yours, I. S. CUSHMAN, M. D. PREPARED AND SOLD BY JAMES C. YER, PRACTICAL CHEMIST, LOWELL,
