The All-wise Creator has implanted in all organized bodies an innate disposition to self-preservation. The vital powers possess the property of resisting the influence of external cauces, but as the BLOOD is the common par-bulum from which all parts of living matter derives its renovating elements, and consequent y, upon which the life of organized beings de-pend, it is probable that in cases of a accident or where artificial means have been employed to deprive it of an essential property, the vital effects of the whole system will be directed to situational and hereditary affections, this find has undergone some primary alteration, which is the cause of the special disense, or which essentially contributed to its production. WHAT IS GOD !

In an early meeting of one of the commit tees of the Westminster Assombly, the subjec of deliberation was to frame an answer to the question, "What is God?" Each man feitthe unapproachable sublimity of the divine idea suggested by these words; but who could ven-ture to give it expression in human langunge! All shrunk from the too sacred task in awe-struck, reverential foar. At length it was re-solved, as an expression of the committee's deep humility, that the youngest member should make the attempt. Ho-consented; but begged that the brethren first unite with him in prayer for divine enlightement. Then in slow, solemn accents, he thus began his pray-er: --- "O God, thou art a spirit, infinite, eter-mal and unchangeable in thy being, wisdom, power, holiness, justice, goodness and truth." When he censed; the first sentence of his pray-er was immediately written down and adopted, at the west profered accent and the total barrent. of deliberation was to frame an answer to the er was immediately written down and adopted God's own must perfort answer that could be con-ceived; as indeed, in a very sacred sense, God's own muswer, descriptive of himself.— This individual, it is supposed," was George Gillesnie.
