FICUS RELIGIOSA.

BY DISHUP DOANS. The Banyan, of the ludim Isles,
Strikes deeply down its massive root;
And spreads its branching life abroad,
And bends to earth with scarlet fruit;
And, when the branches reach the ground,
They firmly plant themselves again:
Then rise, and spread, and droop, and root
An overgreen, and ondless chain.

And so the Church of Jesus Christ, The blessed Banyan of our God, Fast rooted, upon Zion's mount, Has sent its sheltring arms abroad; Has sent its sheltring arms abroad;
And every branch; that, from it, springs,
In sacred beauty, spreading, wide,
As, low, it bends, to bless the earth,
Still, plants another, by its side.

Long, as the world, itself, shall last, Long, as the world, itself, shall last,
The sacred Banyan, still shall spread;
From clime, to clime, from age to age,
Its sheltering shadow shall be shed:
Nations shall seek its "pillared shade;"
Its leaves shall for their healing be:
The circling flood, that feeds its life,
The blood, that crimsoned Calvary.

ACCESS TO GOD.

However early in the morning you seek the gate of access, you find it already open; and however deep the midnight moment when you find you'reelf in the sudden arms of death, the winged prayer can bring an instant Saviour near; and this wherever you are. It needs not that you ascend some special Pisgah on Moriah. It needs not that you should enter some awful shrine, or put off your shoes on some ho, y ground. Could a memento be rear-ed on every spot from which an accomplasome ho.y ground. Could a memento be rear-ed on every spot from which an acceptable prayer has passed away, and on which a prompt answer has come down, we should find Jehova-shamma, "the Lord hath been here," Jehova-shamma, "the Lord hath been here," inscribed on many a cottage hearth and many a dungeon floor. We should find it not only in Jerusalem's proud Temple and David's cedar galleries, but in the fisherman's cottage by the brink of Gennesarct, and in the upper cham ber where Pentecost began. And whether it be the field where Isane went to meditate, or the maker had! where Isane went to state the field where Isane went to state to she where Isane went to meditate, or the rocky knoll where Jacob lay down to sleep, or the brook where Israel wrestled, or the den where Daniel gazed on the hungry lions and the lions gazed on him, or the hill sides where the man of sorrows prayed all night, we should still discern the prints of the ladder's feet let down from heaven—the landing place of mer-down from heaven—the landing place of mercies, because the starting point of prayer.

And all this whatsoever you are. It needs no saint, no proficient in piety, no adopt in eloquent language, no dignity of earthly rank. It needs but a simple Hannah, or a lisping Samuel. It needs but a blind beggar, or a loathsome lazar. It needs but a penitent publican, or a dying thiof. And it needs no sharp ofdeal, no costly passport, no painful expinations. noan, or a gying thior. And it needs no sharp ofdeal, no costly passport, no painful expinion, to bring you to the mercy seat: or rather, I should say, it needs the costlest of all: but the blood of atonement—the Saviour's mediate the cost of the but the blood of atonement—the Saviour's merit—the name of Jesus—priceless as they are, cost the sinner nothing.—They are freely put at his disposal, and instantly and constantly he may use them. This access to God in every place, at cyory moment, without any price or personal merit—is it not a privilege?—Rev. J. Hamilton.

EMBRACING THE GOSPEL.

Let those who enjey the blessing of the Gospel, value it and embrace it. It is the word of eternal life. It is the proclamation of that only name under heaven-given among men, whereby they can be aaved. You hear of a salvation which millions of the human face never heard; you hear with a distinctness and plainness which was denied to holy men and saints of God in past ages, who by faith rejoiced in the types and shadows and promises of what you see and enjoy in its substance and reality. You are blessed with a knowledge of the everlasting Gospel, a knowledge in comparison to which all the learning of this world is but folly. God here discovers to you that which all the wisdom of men could never find out, even the eternal destiny of man. He has opened to you the realities of the unseen world. His words tells you how to be happy forever. You cannot treat such privileges with contempt; you cannot listen to such a message with indifference, without incurring severe condemnation. Freey opportunity nor effected severe condemnation. Every opportunity no-glected must surely be recarded against you, as an aggravated insult to the majesty of hea-ven; and every message to which you have turned a deaf car must hereafter become a turned a dear car must hereafter become a swift witness against you, when the rejected Saviour himself shall complain: "I have called and ye refused; I have stretched out my hand, and no man regarded. But ye have set at nought all my counsel, and would none o my reproof. I will also laugh at your calami y, and mock when your fear cometh."-(Prov. 1., 24-26.) If you reject the word of God now, He will reject you according to that word in the Great Day. If you will not hear, now when you may, the day will come when you would give worlds, for a moment's longer prof-fered water which you rejected during a whole fered grace, which you rejected during a whole

LIFE'S LAST HOURS.

Life's last hours are grand testing hours.— Death tries all our principles, and lays bare all our foundations. Vast numbers have been found to act the hypocrite in life, who were forced to be honest in the hour of death.—What atheists have owned their madness, what infidels have denounced their principles. What What atheists have owned their madness, what infidels have denounced their principles, what worldlings have bewailed their felly, when death approached. Misgivings of heart that have been kept secret through life, have come out in death, and many who seemed all right and labor for glory, have had to declare that they had only been solf-deceived. It has been said, "Men may dissemble through life, but they had only been self-deceived. It has been said, "Men may dissemble through life, but none ever dissembled in death;" hence the value of dying testimonies. We gather the last words, the last acts, the last experiences; and we treasure them up as indubitable evidences in favor of, or against the character of, those that were their subjects. None have ever impugaed their value as tests of character, and all have felt their force.

System.

THE constant, unsolicited application for Life Insurance, gives the most abundant and gratifying proof that the public mind is deeply impressed with the tast importance of this subject. The great object, however, of Insurance should be safety, otherwise the whole motive to insure may be disappointed. Too much care cannot be practised in the selection of an office with which to effect the contract.—
The choice should be regulated not by present and constant large inducements, as this, is certainly incompatible with future benefits. The premiums on life are calculated for the future, if present and prospective benefits therefore are given, the result ultimately, must terminate in intigation, disappointment and ruin. The object aimed at by this institution is stability and perpetuty. The rates of premium have been carefully prepared with reference to fluctuations.—
The cash-system of payments has also been appart of the assets of this company, and every contingency being fortified with an ample capital, security stamps the whole system. Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell. Dear Sir:—I am now constantly siring your Cherry Performal in my practice, and prefer it to any other medicine for pulmonary complaints. From observation of many severe cases, I am convinced it will cure coughs, colds, and diseases of the lungs, that have put to defiance all other remedies.

I invariably recommend its use in cases of constitution, and consider it much the best remedy known for that disease. Respectfully yours, I. S. CUSHMAN, M. D. PREPARED AND SOLD BY JAMES C.
