We copy the following from the For Wayne Times, and regard it as one of the best portraits of a "thriftless farmer," we have every seen :

The thriftless farmer, then, provides no shelter for his cattle, during the inclemency of winter; but permits them to stand, shivering by the side of a tence, or to lie in the snow, as best suits them.

He throws their fodder on the ground or in the mud, and not unfrequently in highway; by which a large portion of it, and all the manure, are wasted.

He grazes his meadows in the fall and spring, by which they are gradually ex hausted, and finally roined. 'His fences are old and poor-jus such as to let his neighbors' cattle break into his fields, and teach his own to be -He neglects to keep the manure from around, the sills of his barn-if he has

-by which they are prematurely rotted, and his barn destroyed. He tills, or skims over the surface of his land, until it is exhausted; but never thinks it worth while to manure or clover it. "For the first, he has no time;and for the last, he "is not able." He has more stock than he has the means to keep well. He has a place for nothing, and nothing in its place. He, consequently, wan's a hoe or a rake, a hammer or an auger, but knows not where to find it. He and his whole household are in search of it, and much time is lost. He loiters away stormy days and evenings, when he should be repairing his utensils, or improving his mind by reading the newspapers.

He spends much time in town, at the corners of the street, or in the 'snake holes,' complaining of "hard times,' and goes home in the evening " pretty

He plants a few fruit-trees, and his cattle forthwith destroy them. He "has no luck in raising fruit.'

.He has no shed for his fire-woodconsequently his wife is out of humor and his meals out of season.

His plow, drag, and other implements, lie all winter in the field where last used; and, just as he is getting in a hurry, the next season, his plow breaks, because it was not housed, and properly cared for. Somebody's hogs break in, and destroy his garden, because he had not stopped a hole in the fence, that he had been intending to stop, for a week.

He is often in a great hurry, but will stop and talk as long as he can find any one to talk with.

He has, of course, little money; and when he must raise some to pay his taxes, &c., he raises it at a great sacrifice, in some way or other; either by paying an enormous shave, or by selling his scanty crop when prices are low. He is a year behind, instead of being a year ahead of his business .- and always will be. When he pays a debt, it is at the end of an execution, consequently, his credit is at a low ebb. He buys entirely on credit, and merchanis, and all others with whom he deals, charge him twice or thrice the profit they charge prompt paymasters, and are unwilling to sell him goods at that. He has to beg and promise, and promise and begeto get them on any terms. The merchants dread to see his wife come into their store, and the poor woman feels depressed and degraded. The smoke begins to come out of his chimney lake of a winter's morning, while his cattle are suffering for their morn

Manure lies in heaps in his stable, his horses are rough and uncurried, and his harness trod under their feet.

His bars and gates are broken, his building unpainted, and the boa ds and shingles falling off-he has no time to replace them-the glass is out of the windows, and the hole stopped with rags and old hats.

He is a great borrower of his thrifty neighbors' implements, but never returns the borrowed article; and, when it is sent for, i! can't be found. His children are late at school-that is, if they go to school—their clothes rag-ged, their faces unwashed, their heads uncombed and their books torn and dir

He is, in person, a great sloven, and never attends public worship-or. if he does, occasionally, do so, he comes sneaking in when the service is half out.

Polishing Plows.

There is hardly a farmer to be found, who has not at some time had his pa-tience tried, with having to stop, every few rods, back his team, and scrape off the dirt from the mould-board of his new plow; and this for two or three days upon a stretch, before the coating of sand and iron had been worn through, and the proper iron mould-board inade its appearance, smooth and bright, ready for use and wear.

Now, to all those who are expecting to go through with the old operation o polishing a new plow, by scraping it the coming spring, I would propose the following cheap and effectual remedy:

Go to any druggist shop and procur 4 oz. of sulphuric acid, or oil of vitriol; which will cost from five to ten cents, according to the conscience of the druggist. Take a stick and wind upon the end a woolen rag, and tie it on with a course strong twine, making a swab ;set your plow where it will be exposed to the sundif convenient; then pour the sulphuric acid into an earthen bowl, and dilute it with an equal quantity of rain or river water. Take the swab and thou oughly moisten every part of the plow that requires polishing; work fast, lest the acid eat up your swab before you have gone over the surface, and be careful not to get any on your clothes or skin, for it is very corrosine. Let the plow sland about 24 hours, then scrape off the scales which will have arisen all over the surface wet with the acid; hitch on your

METAND LABOR SAVED! The Old Fashioned Mills Done Away With I

The Old Fashioned Mills Done Away With I

IN all former times it was supposed that a large quantity of cider could only be made by using a ponderous machine, that slowly crushed the apples without grinding them line.
They were then made into a massive cheese in straw, and a most severe and long prossure was required to extract a portion of the cider, a considerable quantity being absorbed by the straw and the mass of poince, and the obtain this unsatisfactory result the farmer had to take all his bands, and perhaps his six horse team, and devote a whole day that could have been more profitably employed, to make from six to twelve barrels of cider. To obvince the diffculty the tarmers have heretolore labored under this machine has been invented, and the statement of a tew facts will prove that it is not only the BEST MACHINE of the kind inexistence, but that it is the most profitable that a man can have on his farm. The apples me by this machine grated up into a fine pulp, so that it requires but a comparatively light pressure, and that but a minute or two, to extract all the edder, it being ascertained by practical experiment that cine-fourth more juice can be obtained than by the-old processe. Besides this it colly requires two hands to grind up and make into cider a larger quantity of apples than can possibly be made on the old fashioned machines.
On this press, owing to the compactness of the pointee in the tub, and the complete manner in which it is ground, a pressure of from three to five tons—that can easily be obtained—will produce a more lavorable result than one hundred tons pressure on the ordinary cider press. The Old Fashioned Mills Done Away With! hve tons—that can easily be obtained—will produce a more lavorable result than one hundred tons pressure on the ordinary cider press, even if the apples were graind as finity as an the improved mill; and if the apples were merely crushed as on the nat machine, it would require a pressure of two hundred tons to produce the result accomplished by this 'Patent Mill. The following may be adduced as the decided advantages of this mill:

First—It will make more cider than any other mill, with a given quantity of apples in a

er mill, with a given quantity of apples in given time, and with much less laborand ex pense.

Second—It will make cleaner and sweeter
cider than any other mill.
Third—You can make the cider as you want it, and when you want'tt-and in quantities from one-gallon to (for 20 barrels. Fourth-With it you can press your currents cherries, betyies, cheese, lutter, lard and tallow.

cherries, betries, cheese, latter, lard and tallow.

Fitth—With it you can eve ane-fourth sof your time in making apple butter.

Sixth—With it you can grind or chop your apples, potatoes, turnips, beets, carrots or pumpking, for your cattle.

Seventh—With its use you can at all times have FRESH and SWEET CIDER.

With all the advantages resulting from the possession and use of such a machine at a price so low that it is within the reach of all—can it be that any intelligent farmer would do without it?

Do you wish to have in, your house cider that is at all times sweet and fresh, the only time it is really healthy and fit for use—and do you wish to save a great portion of the hard labor attending the making of apple butter? It so, buy this machine and our wordforityou will not be disappointed.

The price of the Cider Will and Press is $35; and of the Root Cutting Cylinder $5. For Machines, or State, county or township rights, address, post paid.
