brace almost the whole of our knowledge: 1. The same manure will not always hav the same effect either on the same soil for an other crop or another soil for the same crop er either on the one or the other for any grea period of time.

It was a custom in Cheshire, some year ago, for capitalists to take farms, to manurthe whole year after year with soot, to get great crops; but, ultimately, to leave the farm denuded of its stamina so much as to be almost worthless for years after from simple sterility. This was said to be because the goot was a stimulant and not a manure. But we shall allude afterwards to the elucidation of this principle. .

2 On some soils a mineral manure is quite adequate-o produce ample crops.

This was so far proved by the theoretical calculations of Liebeg, that he suggested i purely mineral theory, and Messrs. Musdrat & Co. manufactured one under his direction which was an absolute failure.

3. On other soils ammoniacal, or, at least azetic manures, with or without carbonaceous manure, or the latter alone will produce better crops than mineral manure, and will alone secure a very full production.

So far did Mr. Huxtable carry this, that he proposed the application of ammonia at a given price as the only panacea for the farmer, and the certain means of growing Wheat at 40s 77

4. On thin soils mechanical mixtures will do more to benefit a soil than any manure whatever; in other words, the addition of substances uncless in themselves will promot production of crops before impossible to be grown on the land, and will ensure crops of much better quality and larger quantity,

Thus an application of the coldest and most worthless clay to an equally barren and sterile sand will often constitute a soil of fair quality, if not fit to grow crops at once, at least very fit to receive a small modicum o manure with the greatest possible advantage er peat upon clay, or marl upon chalk; nay, in fact, nearly every mixture short of sand upon clay, which seems, to be of very little service.

5. Phosphoric acid will be, especially in state of slight fixation, highly beneficial to almost every soil; simply because this is a material of which the whole process of agriculture appears to denude the land.

Thus soil the most worthless, barron peats and blowing sands, are made to grow the finest green crops by the use of vitriolized bones o of guano.

6. A general manure, consisting of amme nia and potneh, with a mixture of carbonaceous matter, if a a high state of solubility, will almost invariably produce a moderately good crop in any soil whatever.

This appears to be owing to their enabling the plants to take up their proper quantity of the other mineral metters in the soil, and s afford large leaf organization for drawing th supplies of the needed carbonic acid gas from the atmosphere.

7. A succession of the same kind of manure will, after possibly a second application, al ways tend to produce less and less sensible

Few manures contain all the elements needed by planes. Guano seems to be by far the best general mambre, but it is quite possible that in time it may be found necessary to apply some other, to keep up the proportions o staming in the soil. 8. In soils where the manure rapidly disap pears, from a want of power to absorb its hest qualities, a small and frequent application is preferable to a larger and more remot system of dressing. When the soil can hold the manure only fo a short period, it is manifestly best to give i to the plants in the quantities they can readily

9. Manure should, always be applied in the degree of fixation most easily dissolved by the soil or the plants. A second application is botter than too much at once.

We mey notice a few instances that have come under own immediate notice:—almost every person who has stapped at the hotel of Win. Lackey, one year since, predicted from his ormaciated constenance and debility, that he could not live outer longer. He was unable to attend to his bninces, and for the greatry part of the time confined to his room. We recommended him to try the German Bitters, he did, and to the surprise of all his friends he is now able to attend to his neval business and did, and to the surprise of all his friends he is now able to attend to his usual business and perform manual, labor. The case of William Murphy is no less astenishing.—He too was so far reduced as to induce the general belief that the grave above would be general belief that the grave alone would be his only remedy. Mr. Lackey recommended him to try the Hooffand's German Bitters; he is now apparently a well man, and able to do a hard day's work. We could mention many other cases of a similar character, if it were necessary. I myself derived much benefit from their use. STATEMENT OF REV. E. R. WARREN (Pastor of the 2d Baptist Church, New London, Ct..) relative to Myers' Extract Rose.

To The American Public. As my name has been used in connection with recommendations of Mr. Myers' Rick Rose Syrup, in various advertisements by the manufacturer, I beg leave to make the follow-ing statement with reference to my acquaint-ance with the remedy and tests to which I have subjected it, and the reasons for having introduced it to the notice of private friends in the community in which I res de, long before the medicine was advertised. I make this statement freely, because I have, as a principle, withheld my name from all patent medicines, and sedulously abstanced from recommending them to the public, believing them frequently spawn of quackery and humbug, to spawn of quackery and humbug, and us tonding to meroase, instead of less ening human disease and suffering. Such, I lear, is the character of a large portion of the patent panacess of this medicine making age. topding to increase, instead of less ening human disease and suffering. Such, I lear, is the character of a large portion of the patent panaces of this medicine making age. "Their name is legion," and from their influence, as from the demoniacal spirits, we have reason to pray for a safe deliverance.

The First T-st.—I had myself suffered occasionally with sudden attacks of Sick Head ache, and Billious Diarrhea, and I had sought a great variety of curative agents to but little purpose; and suffering from this disease (diarrhea) at this time, I determined to test the new Syrup first upon myself. The results were beyond my expectations. It was a powerful alterative, and the morbid netion of the system were restored to a healthy state. It gave tone and clasticity to my system, and corrected the derangement of the digestive organs, and gave me that inestimable blessing—health. This test was not determined in a week, or a month; but I took four or five bottles in perhaps as many months. Since that time I have suffered but slightly from these derangements. My Sick Headache is entirely Cured.

Other Tests—Right is the state of the superior or of MEA ill. This test was not determined in a week, or a month; but I took four or five bottles in perhaps as many months. Since that time I have suffered but slightly from these derangements. My Sick Headache is entirely Cured.

Other Tests.—Finding this medicine so uses afful to myself, I at once gave it to several invalidations. About this time, I was carnestly burg.

This child was severely afflicted with a Scrofola humor, of a very severe type, the humor showing itself on all parts of the surface, and then suddenly disall parts of the surface, and then suddenly disappearing. The child was very sick, and it was thought doubtful whether she would live. The humor resembled black specks of mortified flesh. In addition to some other remadies, a gave the child this Syrup for about six weeks, whon she had sufficient strength to go out to school occasionally. I then tested it in cases of Cutane's Eruptions, in Measles, Chicken Pox. Cane's Sore Mouth, Ecyspelas, Salt Rheum, Piles, &a. Final these cases with perfect success. Aftat testing this Syrup for more than a year, I wrote Mr. Myers (October 7th, 1850) enthusiastically, not expecting my letter would be published, that his Syrup was a "Paskarite," allheating, and I gave him the result of its operations in several instances. I stated in that letter that "it was invaluable as a remedy in" Cutaneous Eruptions. Mr. Z. LAKE—Sir: Please send me another bottle of Fit Medicine, as I co not like the lewithout it of baild. When I commenced giving the medicine to my son Edga, he had from one to three fits per day. He has now taken the medicine over five mopths, and has had, I think, but two fits in that t me, and those very light. His body and mind are very much improved; and by the blessing of God. I feel that the medicine will restore his body and mind to their wonted activity. He is 23 years old, and has had fits over 12 years, which have been very frequent, and very destructive to his constitution and mind. Hundreds of dollars have been very frequent, and very destructive to his constitution and mind. Hundreds of dollars have been expended for medicine to "CURE FITS," but nothing has relieved him until he used your medicine. Respectfully yours, POLLY BROOKS.
