The valuable improvements which have been made since that senson, and the recent discovery of the Chalybeats Spring, and greatly to the inducements presented for the present senson. ANALYSIS OF THE WHITE SULPHUR AND CHAL

TREATE SPRINGS. The odor of Sulphuretted Hydrogen, per-ceived at some distance from the Springs, imparts to this water the peculiar properties of Salphur Springs. Beside this ingredient, I find that the water contains Carbonate of So-da and of Magnesia, Glauber's Salt, Epsom Salt, and Common Salt; ingredients which give it an increased value. After removing the excess of carbonic acid which it contains, the excess of carbonic acta which it commins, it gives an alkaline reaction.

The Chalybeate water readily yields a precipitate after coullition or continued exposure has expelled the excess of carbonic acid. Beside the ficurbonate of Iron, which is its clief characteristic, it also contains Epsom Salt, Common Salt, and Carbonate of Magnesia.
