TABLE RULES FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

In silence I must take my seat, And give God thanks before I eat; Must for my food in patience wait, Till I am asked to hold my plate. I must not scold, nor whine, nor pout, Nor move my chair or plate about. With knife, or fork, or napkin-ring I must not play, nor must I sing. I must not speak a useless word, For children must be seen, not heard. I must not talk about my food, Nor fret if I don't think it good; I must not say, "The brend is old," "The tea is hot," "The coffee's cold I must not cry for this or that, Nor marmur if my meat is fat. My mouth with food I must not crowd, Nor, while I'm eating, speak aloud; Must turn my head to cough or sneeze. And when I ask, say, "If you please." The table cloth I must not spoil; Nor with my food my fingers soil; Must keep my seat when I have done Nor round the table sport or run. When told to rise, then I must put My chair away with noiseless foot, And lift my heart to God above, In praise for all his wondrous love.

"WHAT'S THE USE"

"Where's Sam?" asked Joe Dennet, coming into Mr. Power's yard, and seeing Mr. Powers at the door. "Up in his study," answered Sam's mother. And where is that ?" asked Joe; "I did not know that Sam had a study." Sam's mother smiled, and told him to go in the garden and may be he would find it. He did so, and shouted "Sam where are you?" "Hallo!" said a voice from above. Joe looked up and saw his friend perched in the crotch of an apple-tree, with slate and book in hand.

"Come," said Joe, "the boys are going a boating and want you to go." "Cant," an. swered Sam, "I am trying to master this Algebra; we all missed to day." "Why it is Wednesday afternoon and that is our time. I would not study, I am sure, what's the use?' asked Joe .- "Well for my part, I would not. I am bound to get this lesson the first thing I do," said Sam. "Pooh, it's to hot to study; besides I hate Algebra, what's the use in puzzling your brains over x plus y?" "I think it is of use to get our lessons," said Sam. "What are you going to do after that?" asked Joe. "I am going to weed the onion beds." "Oh its too pleasant to work; what's the use of tying yourself up here all the afternoon? I know I would not," said Joe Dennet .----"Well I think it's of use to do what needs to be done," was Sam's answer.

This was a fair sample of Sam Powers and Joe Dennet. It is twenty-five years since this talk took place, and the boys are now men. Sam Powers is called a man of "iron will," because he lays plans and caries them out with a patience and energy which never gives up .- He is one of the first business men in the State, and a truly pious man too. How is it with Joe? he goes through life, a man just as he did a boy. If there is any exertion to be made in his buginess, he asks. "What's the use?" 'and goes to it with so little heart, that he is sure to fail. He is always complaining of hard times, and wondering how people get ahead so. As for his religion he does not live as though it was much use to him or any one else. There are some boys who, when they have anything to do, or are called upon to do a little more than usual, try to skirk off by asking, "O, what's the use ?" The fact is boys there is use in doing like a man what you have to do. There is use in getting your lessons, and getting them well, and making exertions to get them, if they are difficult .--There is use in weeding the gardeh, chopping at the wood pile, cultivating a taste for reading, and in doing what your parents ask of you. Whenever I hear a boy trying to excuse himself from duty, by frequently asking fretfully, "O, Wliat's the use?" I mark him as a lazy, skirking shuffling boy, who will be very likely to be good for nothing when he igrows up. You must have a hearty interest in your work; and always feel very suspicious of yourself, if you find an inclination to doge duty with a meaning-

It is childly dovtoed to the advancement of the interests of MECHANICS, INVENTORS, MANUFACTURES AND FARMERS, and is edited by men practically skilled in the same character is so extensively circulated, or so gener-ally esteemed for its practical ability. Nearly all the Valuable Patents which issue weekly from the Patent Office are illustrated with Kngravings, and the claims of all the Patents are published regularly in its columns as they are issued, thus making it a perfect Scientrier and Mechanical Improvements, Chemistry, Engl-neering and the Sciences generally. It is published weekly in quarto form suitable for binding, and each volume contains Four Hundred and Sixteen Pages of Reading Matter, Scorral Hundred Engravings, with a full and complete Index. Its circulation on the last Volume exceeded 20,000 copies per week, and the practi-cal receipts in one volume are worth to any family much more than the subscription price. It is impracticable in so short a space as this to give an adequate idea of the variety of subject, and the ex-tent of research which this Volume contains. The partment however intricate has been passed over, but partment however intricate has been made perfectly clear it treated until the subject has been made perfectly clear it and intelligible to the simplest mind: indeed one of it the great peculiarities of the Book is its freedom from 1 dry detail, and statistics, (so common to works of this it character.) which no doubt is one of the causes of its of very great peculiarity.

dry detail, and statistics, (a) common to what we detail of the character), which no doubt is one of the causes of its overy great popularity. The Agriculture of the State is a prominent topic in the work, and all its parts receives his carnest attention, not merely speculrting on the results of husbandry, but searching and finding how the greatest advantage can be gained from the best sources. Every Farmer should read and study his remarks, and also those who depend on the Farmer for the necessaries of life; for all should understand something of the means by which those necessaries are produced. Cities, Towns and Villages are described and dwelt upon, the charactaristics of the people pointed out, and the various improvements in progress or projected noticed;—one of the deeply interesting sketches in the work is 'that on the Wyoning Yalley' the vivid and startling interest thrown around that devated spot, is dwelt upon with beautiful pathos and feeling, and the leading events in the tragic part charct differ on revolutionary times, pointed out by a master hand. Added to this is Campball's always beautiful Ortrude of Wyo-naling, the merit of which it is unnecessary to speak about.

ming, the merit of which it is unnecessary to speak about. A vivid and truthful description of the grand and majestic Scenery of the Old Keystone State, is also a pr uninent subject in the Volume. Nothing can exceed the grandeur and beauty of Ponnsylvania's Romantic Hillis, and well does the author understand the subject with which he deak. The Press throughout the State have, with united volce, pronounced it the Best Popular Book over written on the State, and without a single exception have re-ommended line work in the highest terms. The many flattering notices bestowed upon it will be collected to-gether and published, in a future circular. Accompany-ing every volume is Barne's Large MafDot the State, carefully colored,—the latest and best Map published, and which retails seperately at One Dollar, and is un-doubtedly the only correct one issued. The price of the Book is placed at the lowest rate for which it could be manufactured, and the oxecution of it in every respect is alike beautiful and substantial.— Independently of the fine map, it is a remarkably cheap work; hut that accompanying it, the publisher has no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest Book publish-ed!

The Publisher has gone to great expende in publishing the Book in proper style. The engravings are beauti-fully executed; the type large and clear; and the paper of a fine texture; while the binding is at the same time taxty and durable, and having done his part well, he submits the work to the examination of the people. tacty and durable, and having done his part well, his submits the work to the examination of the people, confidently recommending it to the attention of those interested in the Pennsylvania Rallread Company, Reading Rallroad Company, Sunbury and Erie Railread Company, Norristown and other railreads in the State, in the Schuylkill and Lehigh Navigation Companie, in the Lehigh and all other Coal Companies, throughout Pennsylvania, to all engaged in mining and manufac turing Coal and Iron, to every Farmer and every citizen of the great State of Pennsylvania, he submits this splendid volume, and respectfully solicits their presen-age.
