Little Folks.

Don't be too Certain.

Aye, now boys, don't be too certain.— Remember that nothing is easier than to be mistaken. And if you permit yourself to be mistaken a great many times, everybody will lose confidence in what you say. They will feel no security in trusting to your word. Never make a positive statement, without you know it is as you say. If you have any doubts, remove the n, by examination, before speaking confidently. Don't be too cer-

"John, where is the hammer?" "It is in the corn house."

"No, it is not there; I have just been looking there.'

"Well, I know it is there; I saw it there not half an hour ago."

"If you saw it there, it must be there, of course. But suppose you go and bring it to me."

John goes to the corn-house, and presently returns with a small axe in his hand. "O, it was the axe I saw. The handle was sticking out from a halfbushel measure. I thought it was the hammer.

"Well, don't be certain another time." "Yes, father, but I did really think I saw it, or I should not have said so.'

"But you said positively that you did see it, not that you thought you saw it .-There is a great difference between the two answers. Do not permit yourself to mika a positive statement, even about smill matters, unless you are quite sure; for if you do, you will find the habit growing upon you, and by and by you will begin to make loose replies to questions of great importance. Don't be too certain.

John walked off to the house, trying to convidee himself that he was right, after all.

His father had given him a pretty wooden snow shovel, the winter before, and John had taken great delight in shoveling the clean white snow, during

It was now in the middle of April .-The sun shone warm, and the birds sang gaily in the trees. John shouldered the shovel and was marching off with it.

"What are you going to do with your snow-shovel, John?" said his grandmother.

"I'm going to put it away in the barn, for the summer, so that it needn't get broke."

"Seems to me I would not put it away just yet; we may have more snow pretty soon."

"O, fiddle-dee-dee! we shall not have any more snow until next winter; I'm sure of that. Don't you see how warm it is? The lilaes have all budded, the peas have come up, and the robins and martins are singing about."

"Well, perhaps it will not," said his

Mr. Z. Lake—Sir: Please send a few more bottles of your "Fit Medicine;" I may not used it but think safer to keep it on hand. Your medicine has done wonders. I gave it to Miss. Jane Delano; slie has had fits for 26 years, brought on by having the measels when but four years old, which could not be brought out to the surface. After taking the medicine a few days, size has a rise choo or Messels, and has had no fits since. She had fits or symptoms almost daily. She and her father concur with me in saying that we believe the medicine has or will work a perfect circ. I also gave the medicine to Miss Jane Hendersen and Aris Carby, who have had fits almost daily, for a number of years. Their fits have ceased, and I believe the medicine will have the desired effect. Much money has been expended by the friends of the above patients for doctoring, all to no purpose.—The cure was left for your medicine to perform, and I can cheerfully recommend it as a valuable discovery.—Respectfully yours.
