Children.

It is a mistake to think that children love the parents less who maintain a proper authority over them. On the contrary, they respect them more. It is a cruel and unnatural selfishness that indulges children in a foolish and hurtful way.parents are guides and counsellors to their children. As a guide in a foreign land they undertake to pilot them safely thro' the shoals and quicksands of inexperience. If the guide allows his followers all the liberty they please; if, because they dislike the constraint of the narrow path of safety, he allows them to stray into holes and precipices that destroy them, to slake their thirst in brooks that poison them, to loiter in woods full of wild beasts or deadly herbs, can he be called a sure guide. And is it not the same with our children? They are as yet only in the preface, or as it were, in the first chapter of the book of life. We have nearly finished it or are far advanced. We must open the pages for these younger minds. If children see that younger minds. If children see that their parents act from principle-that they do not find fault without reasonthat they do not punish because personal offence is taken, but because the thing in itself is wrong-if they see that while they are resolutely but affectionately refused what is not good for them, there is a willingness to oblige them in all innocent matters-they will soon appreciate such conduct. If no attention is paid to the rational wishes-if no allowance is made for youthful spirits-if they are dealt with in a hard and unsympathising manner-the proud spirit will rebel, and the meek spirit be broken. Our stooping to amuse them, our condescending to make ourselves one in their plays and pleasures at suitable times, will lead them to know that it is not because we will not but because we cannot attend to them, that at other times we refuse to do so .-A pert or improper way of speaking ought never to be allowed. Clever children are very apt to be pert, and, if too much admired for it, and laughed at, become eccentric and disagreeable. It is often very difficult to check our own amusements, but their furure welfare should be regarded more than our present entertainment. It should never be forgotten that they are tender plants committed to our fostering care-that every thoughtless word thoughtless word or careless neglect may destroy a germ of immortality-"that foolishness is bound up in the heart of a child"-and that we must ever, like watchful husbandmen, be on our guard against it. It is indeed little that we can do in our own strength, but if we are concientious preformers of our part—if we carnestly commend them in faith and prayer to the fostering care of their Fabrus Samuel Elliott, Carllsto, J. Dorrheimer, Mechanicsburg, J. Herron, Newville, J. C. Williams, Shipponsburg, and by all Druggists at only 25 cents per bottle. can do in our own strength, but if we are ther in Heaven-to the tender love of Him, the Angel of whose presence goes before them, and who carries these lambs in his bosom-we may then go on our way rejoicing-for "He will never leave

VOLUMETEN OF THE "SCIENTIFIG AMERICAN" commences on the 10th of Soptember. It is chiefly devoted to the advancement of the interests of Mechanics, inventorially skilled in the lates and sciences. Probably no other Journal of the same character is so extensively circulated, or so generally extended for its practical alighty. Nearly all 1t. Valuable fatents which issue weekly from the Patent Office are illustrated with Larganings, and the claims of all the Patents are published regularly in its solumns as they are issued, thus making it a perfect Scientific and highly in quarto form suitable for Indiang, and each volume contains Four flundred and Sixteen Pages of Reading Matter. Several Innered Engravings, with a full and complete Index. Its circulation on the last Volume exceeded 23,000 cepies per week, and the practical receipts in one volume are worth to any family much more than the subscription price.

The following Casa Practes are offered by the Publishers for the fourter largest lists of subscribers sent in by the 1st of January, 1855; $100 will be given for the largest list; $75 for the second; $15 for the sixth; $40 seventh; $35 for the selenth; $30 for the elenth; $30 for the sixth; $40 seventh; $35 for the second; $15 for the sixth; $40 seventh; $55 for the sighth; $30 for the cluenth; $25 for the fourteenth. pages and handsomely bound. Still by hall (59, free of expense.

It is impractifable in so short a space as this to give an adequate idea of the variety of subject, and the extent of research which this volume contains. The whole field has been carefully explored. And no department however intricate has been passed over, but treated until the subject has been made perfectly clear and intelligible to the simplest mind; indeed one of the great peculiarities of the Book is its freedom from dry detail, and statistics, (so common to works of this character, which no doubt is one of the causes of its very great popularity.

The Agriculture of the State is a prominent topic in the work, and all its parts receives his earnest attention, not merely speculiting on the results of husbandry, but searching and finding how the greatest advantage can be gained from the best sources. Every Farmer should read and study his remarks, and also those who depend on the Farmer for the necessaries of life; for all should understand something of the means by which these necessaries are produced.

Contract The Towns and Villages are described and dwelt understand something of the means by Which these necessaries are produced.

Cities, Towns and Villages are described and dwelt upon, the characteristics of the people peinted out, and the various improvements in progress or projected noticed;—ane of the deeply interesting sketches in the work is that on the Wyoming Valley; the vivid and startling interest thrown around that devoted spot, is dwelt upon with beautiful pathos and feeling, and the leading events in the tragle part onacted there in recolutionary times, pointed out by a master hand. Added to this is Campbell's always beautiful Gertrude of Wyoming, the negit of which it is unnecessary to speak ning, the merit of which it is unnecessary to speak about.

A vivid and truthful description of the grand and majestle Scenery of the Old Keystone State, is also a prominent subject in the Volume. Nothing can exceed the grandeur and heauty of Pennsylvania's Remautic Hills, and well does the author understand the subject ifills, and well does the author understand the subject with which he deals.

The Press throughout the State have, with united roles, pronounced it the Best Popular Book ever written on the State, and without a single exception, have recommended the work bit the 'highest forms. The many flattering notices bestowed upon it will be collected to gether and published, in a future circular. Accompanying every volume is Barne's Large Map of the State, carefully colored,—the latest and best Map published, and which rotails separately at One Dollar, and is undoubtedly the only correct one issued.

The price of the Book is placed at the lowest rate for which it could be manufactured, and the execution of it in every respect is alike beautiful and substantial.—Independently of the fine map, it is a remarkably cheap work; but that accompanying it, the publisher has no hesitation in pronouncing it the cheapest Book published. which he deals
