THE FAVORITE FLOWERS.

Gustavus, Hermann, and Annie, walked out into the field on a fine spring day. The lark and a thousand other birds were singing, and the flowers unfolded themselves in the dew and in the mild beams of the morning sun. The three looked round, full of gladness, and sprang from one small hill to another, and weaved crowns of flowers. They also celebrated in song, the beauty of the spring, and the love of the heavenly Father, who clothes the earth with grass and flowers; and they sang of flowers from the rose which grows on the bush, to the little violet which blooms in retirement. So the spring of life and the spring of the year appeared in a lovely union. Then said they one to another, "Let us each select the little flower, which each loves most." This proposition delighted them, and they sprang into the field to select the favorite flower, premising to meet again in the arbor. So the three went their different ways in concord, to collect the beautiful. A lovely flower gathering! Soon all three appeared again on their way to the arbor. Each one bore in the hand a full bunch of the selected favorite flowers. When they came in sight of each other, they held up the flower above their heads and shouted aloud for jay When they had reached the bower, they agreed that each one should tell the reason of their choice. -Gustavus the elder, had chosen the violet. "See," said be, "it blooms and sends forth its fragrance in modest stillness, amidst moss and grass, and its work is concealed, like the soft approach and blessing of spring. Men honor and love it, and it is praise I in beautiful songs; and every one brings a bunch, when he returns from the field, and he calls the lovely violet the first born of spring, and the flower of modesty; therefore I have selected it as my So saying he gave Hermann and Annie some of his flowers, who received them with inward satisfaction; for these beautiful flowers were also a brother's gift. Now Hermann came forth with his bunch. It was the delicate lily, which grows under the cool shade of the grove, and lifts up its blooming bells like strings of pearls, white as the light of day. "I have selected this as it is the emblem of innocence and of a pure heart, and it speaks to me of Him who adorns the heavens with stars and the earth with flowers. Was not the lily of the field honored above all other flowers, in giving testimony of the love of our heavenly Father in whom all things live and move? This is the reason why the lily is my favorite flower!" Thus spake Hermann, and offered his flowers to Gustavus and Annie, who recieved them with joy and respect. And thus was the little flower consecrated. Then came Annie, the kindly, lovely m den, with her gathered flowers. It was the blue, touder forget-me not. "These flowers," said the amiable creature, "I found near the brook! They glitter like the bright stars in heaven. and sport in the clear water on whose border they grow, and the little stream flows along more beautifully, as if weaving a wreath. Therefore is it the bower of love and tenderness; and I have selected it as my favorite, and I transfer it to you, my dear brothers!' Thus saying, she gave to each a ki-s, which they returned very affectionately. Then their guardian angel smiled upon the amiable band of innocence. When they had thus selected of innocence When they had thus selected heir favorite flowers, Annie said, weave them into two wreaths, and carry them to our parents." So they formed two beautiful crowns of flowers, and took them to their parents and told them the whole matter, how they came to choose these flowers. parents rejoiced at the little tale thus related. and said: "A levely crown! love, innocence, and mod sty combined! see how one flower exalts and adorns another, and in their union they form the most beautiful crown of flowers!' "But one thing is still wanting," answered the whole three, and with lively gratitude placed the crowns on the heads of their father and mother. The parents were deeply affected with joy. They embraced the gentle ones cordially and said: "Such a crown is more glorious than the crown of princes,"-Lilies and Violets.

TOOTH WASH.—Beautiful White Teeth Healthy Gums and a Sweet Breath—All who are desirous of obtaining these benefits should use ZERMAN'S CELEBRATED TOOTH WASH. This delicious article combines so many meritorious qualities that it has now become a standard favorite with the citizens o. New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. Dentists prescribe it in their practice most successfully, and from every source the most flattering laudations are awarded it.

Inflamed and bleeding gums are immediately benefit ted by its use; its action upon them is mild, so thing and effective. It cleanses the teeth so theroughly, that they are made to rival pear! in whiteness, and diffuses through the mouth such a delightful freshness that the through the mouth such a designant restricts the breath is rendered exquisitely sweet. It distincts those impurities which tend to produce decay, and, as a consequence, when these are removed the teeth must always remain sound. Read the following from Dr. J. A. Carman:

I gave it to Miss Jane Delano; she has had fits for 26 years, brought on by having the measels when but four years eld, which, could not be brought out to the surface. After taking the medicine a few days, she had a first cross of measels, and has fishen of its since. She had fits or symptoms almost daily. She and her father concur with me in saying that we believe the medicine has or will work a perfect cure. I also gave the medicine has or will work a perfect cure. I also gave the medicine to Miss Jane Henderson and Aris Carby, who have had fits almost daily, for a number of years. Their fits have consed, and I believe the medicine will have the desired effect. Much money has been expended by the friends of the above patients for dectoring, all to no purpose.—The cure was left for your medicine to perform, and I can cheerfully recommend it as a valuable discovery.—Respectfully yours.
