

Miscellaneous.

A HOLY PACK OF CARDS.

Richard Middleton, a British soldier, once attended divine service with the rest of his regiment, in a church in Glasgow. Instead of pulling out a Bible to find the parson's text, he spread a pack of cards before him. This behaviour was observed by the clergyman, and the sergeant of the company to which he belonged. The latter ordered him to put up his cards, and on his refusal, conducted him after service before the Mayor and preferred a formal complaint of Richard's indecent behaviour.

'Well, soldier,' said the Mayor, 'what excuse have you to offer? If you can make an apology, it is well; if not, you shall be severely punished.'

'Since your honor is so good,' replied Richard, 'as to permit me to speak for myself, and to leave your worship, I have been eight days in the march, with the bare allowance of sixpence per day, and consequently could not have a Bible or any other good book.'

On saying this, Richard drew out his pack of cards and presenting one of the aces to the Mayor, continued his address to the magistrate, as follows:

'When I see an ace, may it please your honor, it reminds me that there is only one God; and when I look upon a two or a three spot, the former puts me in mind of the Father and Son, and the latter, of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost; a four, of the four Evangelists, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John; a five, of the five virgins who were ordered to trim their lamps, (there were ten, indeed,) but five, your worship may remember, were wise, and five were foolish; a six, that in six days God created heaven and earth; a seven, that on the seventh day he rested from all that he had made; an eight, of the eight righteous persons who were saved from the deluge, viz:—Noah, and his wife, and three sons, and their wives; a nine, of the lepers cleansed by our Saviour, (there were ten, but only one offered his tribute of thanks,) and a ten, of the ten commandments.'

Richard then took the knave, placed it beside him, and passed on to the queen, on which he observed as follows:

'This queen reminds me of the Queen of Sheba, who came from the uttermost parts of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon, as her companion, the king, does of the great King of Heaven, and of King George the Second.'

'Well,' returned the Mayor, 'you have given me a good description of all the cards except the knave.'

'If your honor will not be angry with me,' returned Richard, 'I can give you the same satisfaction on that as on any in the pack.'

'No,' said the Mayor.

'Well,' returned the soldier, 'the greatest knave I know is the sergeant who brought me before you.'

'I don't know,' replied the Mayor, 'whether he is the greatest knave or not, but I am sure he is the greatest fool.'

The soldier then continued, as follows:

'When I count the number of dots in a pack of cards there are three hundred and sixty-five—so many days are there in a year. There are fifty-two cards in a pack—so many weeks are there in a year. When I reckon how many tricks there are in a pack, I find twelve—so many months in a year. So that a pack of cards is both Bible and almanac, and prayer book to me.'

The Mayor called his servants, ordered them to entertain the soldier well, gave him a piece of money, and said he was the cleverest fellow he ever heard of in all his life.

A FINE STREAM.—A good story is told of a Philadelphia judge, well known for his love of jokes. He had advertised a farm for sale, with a fine stream of water running through it. A few days afterwards a gentleman called on him to speak about it.

'Well, Judge,' said he, 'I have been over that farm you advertised for sale the other day, and find all right except the fine stream of water you mentioned.'

'It runs through the piece of woods in the lower part of the meadow,' said the Judge.

'What! that little brook! Why, it doesn't hold more than a spoonful. I am sure if you would empty a bowl of water into it, it would overflow. You don't call that a fine stream, do you?'

'Wh, if it were much finer you couldn't see it at all,' said the Judge blandly.

We never heard whether the gentleman bought the farm, but we rather suspect he didn't.

Anguish of mind has driven thousands to suicide; anguish of body, none. This proves that the health of the mind is of far greater consequence than the health of the body, although both of them are deserving of much more attention than either of them receives.

Honesty is the best of Policy.

A Dutchman Puzzled.

A journeyman Printer lately set out on foot for the interior of Ohio, a distance of five hundred miles, with an old 'brass rule' and $3 cash in his pocket. He soon found himself in Pennsylvania, and being weary, called at the inn of a Dutchman, whom he found quietly smoking his pipe, when the following dialogue ensued: 'Vell, Misther Valking Shick, vat you vant?' 'Refreshments and repose.'— 'Supper and lodgings, I reckon?' 'Yes, sir, supper and lodging.' 'Po you a Yankee pedlar mit chawelry in your pack to cheat to gals?' 'No, sir, no Yankee pedlar.' 'A zinging teacher too lazy to work?' 'A shentel shoemaker, vat stehny's till Saturday night, and lays in te porch ofer Sunday?' 'No, sir, or I should have mended my boots before this— But I am not longer disposed to submit to this inquisition. Can you give me supper and lodging?' 'Torekly. But vat pe you? A pook achent takin' honest beebles money for a little larnin' that only makes them lazy?' 'Try again, your worship?' 'A dentist, preening beebles' claws at a dollar a schrag, and running off mit old Samboed's daughter?' 'No, sir, no tooth puller.' 'Kernolous den, feelin' de young folks' head, like so many nab-bitche, and chargin' 25 cents for dellin' dere fortune like a blamed Yankee?' 'No, no phrenologist neither, your excellency.' 'Vell, ten, vat do tufyul are you? Shoost tell, and you shall have some of te pest passages for supper, and stehay all night vree gradis, mit-out chargin' you, mit a chill o' vishky to sthart on pefore preykfast.' 'Very well, your honor, to terminate the colloquy without further circumlocution, I am a humble disciple of Faust—a professor of the art preservative of all arts—a typographer, at your service, sir.' 'Votsch dat?' 'A printer, sir; a man that prints books and newspapers.' 'A man vat brints te nooshbabers! Oh! yaw, yaw! Py Chapter! aye! aye! Dat ish it—a man vat brints nooshbabers—yaw, yaw! Valk up, walk up, Misther Brinter! Choems, take te chentleman's pack o' Schon, pring some junkies to de vire. A man vat brints nooshbabers! I wish I may be shot if I didn't tink dat you vash a Know Noding.'

SALT AS A MEDICINE.

It has often been remarked in families that a teaspoonful of salt is a certain cure in cases of disordered stomach, but it is not so generally known that in one violent internal aching termed cholera, take a teaspoonful of salt and a pint of cold water—drink it and go to bed—it is one of the speediest remedies known.—The same will revive a person almost dead from receiving a very heavy fall &c. In an apoplectic fit, no time should be lost in pouring down salt and water, if sufficient sensibility remains to allow of swallowing; if not, the head must be sponged with cold water till the senses return, when salt will completely restore the patient from the lethargy. In a fit, the feet should be placed in warm water with mustard added, and the legs briskly rubbed, all bandages removed from the neck, and a cool apartment procured if possible. In many cases of severe bleeding of the, and when all other remedies failed, Dr. Rush found that two teaspoonfuls of salt completely stayed the blood. In case of a bite from a mad dog, wash the bite with a strong brine for an hour, then bind on some salt with a rag. In tooth-ache, warm salt and water held to the part, and renewed two or three times, will relieve in most cases. If the gums be affected wash the mouth with brine; if the teeth be covered with tartar, wash them twice a day with salt and water. In swollen neck, wash the part with brine, and drink it twice a day until cured. Salt will expel worms if used in food to a moderate degree, and aids digestion; but salt ment is injurious if used much. When placed on the feet, in the form of a dry poultice, salt has been known to break up fever and ague when in its most violent stages.

I'LL CALL AROUND AND PAY.—What a world of woe is contained in these few words to the poor artizan and mechanic! 'I'll call around and pay,' says the rich man to avoid the trouble of going to the desk to get the necessary funds, and the poor mechanic is obliged to go home, to disappoint his workmen and all who depend upon him for their due. It is an easy matter to work—the only real glory in this life is an independent idea of being able to sustain yourself by the labor of your own hands, and it may be easily imagined what crushing force there is in 'I'll call around and pay' to the laboring man who depends upon that pay for subsistence. If those who could would pay at once, it would place hundreds and thousands in a condition to do likewise, and prevent much misery and distress.
