She was as frail as beautiful, and as the buds to heart unfolded, it seemed as if woh that mother's prayers, to turn instantly heavenward. The sweet conscientions, prayer-loving child was the idol of the bereaved family. She would lie upen the lap of the friend who took a mother's care of her, and winding one wasted arm about her neck, would say: 'Now tell me about my mamma!' And when the oft told tale had been repeated would softly ask, 'Take me into the parlor, I want to see my mamma.' The request was never refused: and the affec-'tionate child would lie for hours, contentedly gazing on her mother's portrait.
