GRAND EXHIBITION.

From an exchange we clip the following programme, which is about the most classic production we have read for many a day: THE GREAT PERFORMANCE AT SYRACUSE ON THE 26th DECEMBER.

Just opened, with 100,000—Curiosities, and performance, in Lector Room; among which may be found TWO LIVE BOAR CONSTRICTIONS, Mail and Femal.

GREAT MORAL SPECTACLE OF "MOUNT VESUVIUS." Part One. Seen opens. Distant Moon. View of Bay of Naples. A thin smoke rises. It is the BEGINNING OF THE ERECTION! The Naples folks begin to travel. Yaller fire, followed by silent thunder. Awful conglomeration. SUTHERN RUMBLE! It is the Mounting preparing to vomit! They call upon the fire department. It's no use! Flight of Stool pigeons. A cloud of impenetrable smoke hangs over the fated city.

The whole to conclude with a GRAND SHAKESPEARING PYROLOGOUS DISPLAY of FIREWORKS. Maroon Bulbs, changing to the spiral wheel, which changes to the Star of our Union; after, to butiful p'intns of red lites; to finish with busting into a Brilliant Perspiration!

Airs will be performed on the Scotch Fiddle and Bagpipes by a real Highlander. Real Highlander, Mr. Mullet. Any boy makin a muss, will be injected at onc't.

As the museum is Temperance, no drinkin' aloud, but any one will find the best of lickens in the Saloon below. Little children are as apt to tell big stories, that will not stand close examination, as older people are. Witness the little fellow who came running in from the barn, and cried out.

"Oh! ma, I seen a live-mouse, I did!" "You did!" inquires the mother, with a searching look. "No, ma, I didn't just seen him, but I heard him squeak a little."

Another of the same size, got his foot rather mixed up, when he came home and began: "Oh! pa, I have just seen one of the worstest dog fights, he was ever seen or heard tell of in the world!" "Well, my boy, how was it?" "Why, there was one great, big black dog, with white ears and a brass collar, and one little black and green dog, what hadn't no man with him, and as—

Condition of the Mormons.

Mr. Greeley, in the midst of his 'engineering for the Speakership' at Washington, has found time to converse with an intelligent gentleman who recently made the trip from the Pacific across the Plains and who gave a horrible account of the moral and social condition of the Mormons, with whom he spent some months. He left them wallowing deeper and deeper in the slough of filthy sensuality, with a certainty of going from bad to worse till their whole fabric of imposture is exploded by the miseries it creates and diffuses. He says the women are nearly all anxious to fly from the horrible den; especially those who have been 'sealed' as the 'spiritual wives' of the scoundrelly hypocrites who propagate and uphold this monstrous delusion. Nearly all the leaders have from three women each up to Brigham Young's seventy, some of whom make a poor living by washing the clothes of the United States soldiers. Hundreds of these deceived, abused women secretly attempt to beg the privilege of coming away with the troops and trains passing from time to time through or coming from Salt Lake city, but this cannot be allowed. Nearly all would get away if they could. Such pictures of distress and despair as are presented by many of these deceived and abused women can be found nowhere else than in Utah. Hundreds of them never heard nor dreamed of the 'spiritual wife' system until it burst upon their amazed vision on their arrival at Salt Lake. And such a mixture of profanity and blasphemy, nonsense, impudent assumption and buffoonery, as is contained in their sermons and other religious exercises cannot be paralleled in the world. A 'gentle' of any account is carefully watched from the hour he ventures among them, and there is little scruple as to the means whereby a troublesome intruder is disposed of.

DEATH OF A MISER.—The Sandusky (Ohio) Vindicator announces the death of a German named John Herryman, at that place, leaving a fortune estimated at from twenty-five to fifty thousand dollars. He was one of the lowest class of misers, equal to the most loathsome ever painted by Dickens. For the last sixteen years he has constantly worn the same blue, linsey-woolsey wamus and pantaloons, carefully run or darned all over with strong thread, so as to prevent the possibility of wearing out, except on some important occasions, such as land sales or something of that nature, when they gave place to a suit of black velvet that he often boasted had served him faithfully for forty years. He contracted the disease of which he died by walking over the bad roads during the most inclement weather of the season, all the way to Putnam and Henry counties, to pay his taxes on the land he owned there, without sufficient clothing to protect him from the cold. In fact, we are informed that he scarcely ever wore a shirt or under garment, and that the one he had on when he died had not been changed for over three months. Although rich, he has been known to chaffer with the smiths over the price of a horse-shoe which he had picked up in the street. So far as is known, he leaves no heir. He always resented any questions as to the place of his birth, relatives or early history.

The most characteristic instance of carrying politeness to an extreme came off not long since to a Hibernian ball. As related to us by one of the sons of Erin, who keenly appreciates a good thing, it seems that one gay Lothario pro tempore, in crossing the room to request Bridget's hand in the next reel, stumbled over the outstretched foot of Mr. Terrence O'Grady. Mr. O'Grady promptly arose, and in the politest manner imaginable, said, 'I beg yer pardon, sir!' 'No offence—no offence, sir, at all,' responded the other, 'it was intirely my fault,' was the response, accompanied with a graceful bend of the body and wave of the hand. 'No, sir,' answered Mister O'Tool, 'yer intirely in the wrong, sir, I tell yo it was altogether my fault!' 'I till ye it was not, sir,' responded O'Grady, 'de yo mane to say I'd be telling a lie, sir?' 'Bad luck to you, sir, de yo mane to say I'd be telling a lie, sir, when I tell ye it wasn't yer fault!' responded O'Tool, 'waxing wroth. 'Bjil luck to yer bad brading, yo ignoraut bosthooh, d'ye think ye'd be getting the better o'me in manners?' shouted O'Grady, as with a trip and a blow he laid the unfortunate O'Tool upon the floor.—O'Tool rallied; and a rough and tumble ensued, which ended in the expulsion of both gentlemen from the ball-room.

MERCER POTATOES.—In the early part of the present century, John Gilky, one of the early settlers of Mercer Co., Pa., produced from seed the justly celebrated Mercer potato, which was afterwards cultivated by a Mr. Pearson, of Mercer co., in the neighborhood of Darby, Delaware co., Pa., whence it spread over the Union. Thus Gilky, a poor solitary 'exile of Erin,' has done more to benefit mankind than many a hero of a hundred battles, and it has been proposed to immortalize his humble name by calling the 'Mercers' from henceforward 'Gilkies.'

A Devoted Wife.

An English paper gives a singular instance of conjugal affection and feminine strength and endurance. An old couple in Newcastle became reduced to want, and it was necessary that the husband, who suffered extremely from confirmed rheumatism, should be removed to some charitable institution. He besought removal to Haverton Hill, and his wife had promised it. The journey was a long and expensive one, and not only so, but, by the usual conveyance, such as must have caused the patient much additional suffering. The brave and affectionate heart of the wife was stung to a noble resolution to satisfy the desire of her poor husband in the face of these difficulties. She undertook to carry him on her back the whole way from Newcastle to Haverton, by the highway route—a distance of 50 miles! This she undertook and performed, and the couple arrived safely at the end of their journey within fourteen hours from the time of their starting—a temporary rest at Durham having been the only intermission the faithful woman permitted herself between the banks of the Tyne and the Tees.

"La me," sighed Mrs. Partington, 'here I have been suffering the bigamies of death for three mortal weeks; first I was seized with bleeding phrenology in the left hemisphere of the brain, which was conceeded with of the left ventilator of the heart. This gave me an inflammation of the borax, and now I'm sick with the chloroform morbus. There's no blessing like that of health, particularly when you are sick!'

A printer not long ago, being 'stung' by his sweet heart, went to the office and tried to commit suicide with the 'shooting stick,' but the thing wouldn't 'go off.' The 'devil' wishing to pacify him, told him to peep into the sanctum where the editor was writing duns to delinquent subscribers. He did so, and the effect was magical. He says that picture of despair reconciled him to his fate.
