MARVELLOUS REMEDY FOR

HOLLOWAY'S, O'TNTMENT.

THE GRAND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

By the aid of a microscope, we see millions of little openings on the surface of our bodies. Through these this Ointment, when rubbled on the skin, is carried to any organ or inward part. Diseases of the Kidneys, disorders of the Liver, affections of the heart, Inflamation of the Lungs, Asthmas, Coughs, and Colds, are by its means effectually cured. Every housewife knows that salt passes freely through bone or meat of any thickness. This healing Ointment far more readily penetrates through any bone or fleshy part of the living body, curing the most dangerous inward complaints, that cannot be reached by other means.

GILBERT STUART.

The Yankees have become notorious for their question asking propensity, yet sometimes John Bull exhibits so remarkably a developement of this trait, we must conclude that Jonathan and John are at least, cousins. A good anecdote is related of Gilbert Stuart, , a celebrated American portrait painter, whose replies puzzled the inquisitiveness of his Erglish travelling companions, in their attempts... to find out his calling.

On one occasion, Stuart was travelling in a stage-coach, in England, with some gentlemen who were strangers to him, but all of whom were sociable and full of animation. His brilliant conversational powers attracted much attention, and his companions became desirous to know who and what he was. They asked many roundabout questions, to find out his calling or profession. Mr. Stuart answered, with a grave face and serious tone, that he sometimes dressed gentlemen's and ladies' a morte organic in the contract of the

'You are a hair dresser then,' remarked one of his companions, inquiringly.

"What!" said he, 'do you take me for a bar-al beg your pardon, sir, but I inferred it from what you said. If I mistook you, may take the liberty to ask what you are, then? Why I sometimes brush a gentleman's coat r hat and sometimes adjust a cravat.'

O, you are a valet, then, to some noble-

'A valet?- Indeed, sir, I am not. Lam not. a servant, to be sure, I make coats and waistconts for gentlemen.'

'O, you are a tailor?'

Tailor! Do I look like a failor?- I assure you I never handled a goose, other than a roasted one.'

By this time the passengers were all in a roar; and one of them exclaimed, 'what are you, then ?'

I tell you, said Stuart. 'Be assured all I have said is literally true. I dress hair, brushhats and coats, adjust a cravat, and make conts, waistconts and breeches, and likewise wots and shoes, at your service."

Oho ! n-boot and shoemaker, after all." Guess again, gentlemen. I never handled noot or shoe but for my own feet and legs; yet all I have told you is true.'

We may as well give up guessing, then,' remarked one of the party.

After checking his laughter, he said to them very gravely, Now, gentlemen, I will not play the tool with you, but will tell you, upon myhonor, as a gentleman, bona fide, my profession, I get my bread by making feces.' He then screwed his countenance, and twisted the lineaments of his visage in a manner such as Samuel Foote or Charles Mathews might have

When his companions, after loud peals of laughter, had composed themselves, each took credit to himself for having, all the while, suspected that the gentleman belonged to the tlicatre; and now they all knew that he must be a comedian by profession. But to their utter surprise, he assured them that he was never on the stage, and very rarely saw the inside of any theatre. His companions now all looked at him and at each other with astonishment.

Before parting, Stuart said to his companions. Gentlemen, you will find that all I have said of my various employments, is comprised in these few words: I am a portrait painter. If you will call at John Palmers, York Buildings, I shall be ready and willing to brush your controf a hat, dress your hair a la mode, supply you, if in need, with a wig, of any fashion or dimension, accommodate you with boots or shoes, give you ruftles or cravats, and make faces for you."

On parting with him at the inn, they begged leave to inquire in that part of England he was born. He replied, I was not born in England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland. Here was another puzzle for them; where then !!, was their eager inquiry.

I was born at Naraganset, was his reply.

Where's that?' Six miles from Pottawoone, and ten miles from Poppasquash, and about four miles west of Connecticut, and not far from the spot where the famous battle with the Pequots was fought. In what part of the East Indies is that, sir! it is in the State of Rhode Island, between-" Massachusetts and the Connecticut River.'

This was all Greek to his companions; and he left them to studge a new lesson in goography, affording another instance of the ignorance respecting men afgenius, whose vernacular tongue is the Aame as that of Bacon, Newton, Locke, Shakespeare, Milton and Pope.
