Wanted—a hand to hold my own, As down life's vale I glide, Wanted—an arm to lean upon, Forever by my side.

SECRET OF JOHN CALVIN.—If personal considerations chiefly win applauses then—no one merits our sympathy and our admiration more than Calvin; the young eagle from France, who achieved an immortality of fame before he was twenty-eight years of age; now boldly reasoning with the King of France for religious liberty, now venturing as the apostle of truth to carry the doctrines into the heart of Italy, and hardly escaping from the fury of a papal persecution; the purist writer, keenest dialectician of his country; pushing free inquiry to its utmost voyage; and yet valuing inquiry, solely as the means of arriving at fixed conclusions.

LIVING IN THE WHITE HOUSE.—A Washington letter says: "Many imagine that the expenses of the White House are particularly, if not wholly defrayed by government, and that the large number of servants necessarily employed receive their pay from the public treasury. Error. Although the President is expected to give public receptions and banquets, entertainments to distinguished visitors and dinners to every political friend who may come here, everything is paid for out of the President's pocket excepting a few vegetable delicacies raised in the garden. Until last year, no appropriation was made for fuel, either for the barn-like rooms and saloons of the White House, or for the guard and green-houses, to heat which it costs nearly $2,000—the appropriation made last year was only $1,000, leaving nearly $1,000 for the President to pay. So with the servants. The only ones paid by the government are a door-keeper, who receives $900 per annum; assistant door-keeper, who receives $420; a furnace-keeper, who receives $365. All the other domestics required to keep this extensive establishment in order are paid by the President.

EQUESTRIANISM EXTRAORDINARY.—A correspondent of Life Illustrated gives the following as a portion of the experience of a Cadet at West Point: When I came back from furlough, my class had ridden for a year, I only for a week or two. Nothing daunted, however, by this, and blindly trusting to fortune and my own powers, I buckled on a pair of rusty spurs, bound myself securely to an enormous saber with a ponderous iron scabbard, and sallied forth. Dragon brought me a raw-boned, vicious looking animal, which after some preliminary difficulties, I succeeded in mounting.

HAZEL-EYED GIRLS.—Major Noah says that a "hazel-eyed inspires at first a Platonic sentiment," which gradually but surely expands into love as securely founded as the rock of Gibraltar. A woman with a hazel eye never slopes from her husband; never chats scandal, never finds fault, never talks too much nor too little, always is an entertaining, intellectual, agreeable and lovely creature. "We never knew," says a brother editor, "but one uninteresting and unamiable woman with a hazel eye, and she has a nose which looked, as the Yankee says, like the little end of nothing whittled down to a point." The grey is the sign of shrewdness and talent. Great thinkers and captains have it. In women it indicates a better head than heart. The dark hazel is noble in insignificance, as in its beauty. The blue eye is amiable, but may be feeble. The black—take care.

PRETTY RAFFS.—An old man and his son, neither of them very well informed as to railroads and their use, chanced one day to be at work in a field near a railroad track. Railroads were a novel "institution" to them, and when a train of cars shot by, a thought was suggested to the old man, who said to his son: "Dad, why don't you take a ride in the cars some day?" "Take a ride in the cars? Why I might get into 'em," said the son.

"Got time? Thunder! Ye can go anywhere in the cars quicker than ye can stay at home."

A REMARKABLE EXECUTIONER.—We have observed several wonderful stories of late, respecting the skill of the Chinese executioners, who, it is said, can strike off the heads of their victims so skillfully, that the poor fellows themselves never discover their loss until a moment or two after they are dead. We recall to mind however a German executioner, who far surpasses the Chinese in professional dexterity. Upon one occasion it happened that a criminal, who was condemned to death, had a singular itching to play at nine-pins; and he implored permission to play once more at his favorite game before he died—then, he said, he would submit to his fate without a murmur. The judge thinking there could be no harm in humoring him, granted his last prayer: and, upon arriving at the place of execution, he found everything prepared for the game—the pins being set up and the bowls all ready. He commenced his favorite sport with enthusiasm: After a while observing no inclination to desist, a sign was made to the executioner to strike the fatal blow, while he stooped for a bowl. The executioner did, but with such exquisite dexterity that the culprit did not notice or feel it. He thought indeed, that a cold breath of air was blowing upon his neck, and drawing himself back with a shrug, his head dropped forward into his hands. He naturally supposed that it was a bowl which he had grasped, and seizing it firmly, rolled it at the pins. All of them fell and the head was heard to exclaim, "Hurrah! I've won the game!"—Portfolio.

FRENCH LOVE OF SCANDAL.—A French provincial paper contains the following paragraph: "A trial took place at our assizes. It promised rich food for scandal. All the ladies of the town bedecked themselves in their smartest toilets, and crowded to the court house. On seeing this, the presiding judge rose and said: 'Persons here assembled as spectators are not aware of the nature of the cause. I therefore invite all decent women to withdraw.' A pause took place without a single female moving to retire from her seat. Seeing this the judge again rose and said: 'Officers of the court, now that all the decent women have retired, turn out the remainder.'"

ONE GOOD RESULT OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL amendment requiring all electors to read the constitution and the statutes, has manifested itself in a town not far from New Haven, where the democrats have opened a school to teach a number of Irishmen to read—not from any conviction of the intrinsic value of an education, but so that they may be able to vote the democratic ticket. We are thankful that even had intentions may work out useful purposes.

THE EASIEST WAY TO GET A LIVING IS TO sit on a gate and wait for good luck. In case good luck don't come along you are no worse off than you were before.
