THE WHITE HOUSE RACE.

Tune—The Campion Race.

There's an old gray horse whose name is Buck,
Du da, du da,
His damo was Folly, his sire Bad Luck;
Du da, du da day.
We're bound to work all night,
We're bound to work all day,
I'll bet my money on the Mustang Colt,
Will anybody bet on the gray.

The Mustang Colt is strong and young,
Du da, du da,
His wind is sound and his knees not sprung,
Du da, du da day.
We're bound to work, &c.

The old gray horse is a well known hack,
Du da, du da,
He's long been fed at the public rack,
Du da, du da day.
We're bound to work, &c.

The Mustang is a full bred Colt,
Du da, du da,
He cannot shy and he will not bolt,
Du da, du da day.
We're bound to work, &c.

The old gray horse when he tries to trot,
Du da, du da,
Goes round and round in the same old spot,
Du da, du da day.
We're bound to work, &c.

The Mustang goes at a killing pace,
Du da, du da,
He's bound to win in the White House race,
Du da, du da day.
We're bound to work, &c.

Then do your best with the old gray hack,
Du da, du da,
The Mustang Colt will clear the track,
Du da, du da day.
We're bound to work all night,
We're bound to work all day,
I'll bet my money on the Mustang Colt,
You'd better not bet on the gray.

Victory.

INDIANAPOLIS, Tuesday Night, July 15.

THE NUMBER PRESENT.

The largest meeting ever held west of Ohio was witnessed here to-day. That of 1840 at Tippecanoe is far surpassed in numbers and enthusiasm by this one. The Clay Barbecue of 1844, the Kossuth Demonstration of 1850, and the various assemblages at the State Capitol were tremendously large, and never before has Indianapolis had such a gathering of the People of the State within her limits. The number is variously estimated at from 50,000 to 75,000 strangers; it is stated on good authority that 35,000 arrivals were noted here to-day by the Lafayette, Terre Haute, Lawrenceburg, Central, Bellefontaine, Pennsylvania, Madison and Jeffersonville Railroads; so that with those who came in yesterday and previously, with those arriving by wagons, horses, and other modes of conveyance from this country, it is very certain there were 60,000 to 60,000 people at least, here to-day in council, in the various processions, and in the large State House Square. This Square is four acres in extent, which, many old farmers present remarked, never before was so filled, while at least an equal number was outside, and in the streets and hotels.

THE PROCESSION.

The General Procession was formed under the superintendence of JAMES J. DRUM, Grand Marshal, and twenty-four assistant marshals, at the State House Square, commencing about 9 o'clock in the morning and continuing till 1 o'clock in the afternoon, when the last delegation arrived. Each County delegation, as it arrived by railroad, formed at the various depots and marched to this point. One of these delegations, that from Tippecanoe County, in which Lafayette is situated, numbered 4,500 men, others numbered from 500 to 1,000 men each, all bearing numerous flags and banners, and nearly every one headed by a band of music. The whole procession, when formed, proceeded to march up Tennessee street on which they marched west to the State House Square, some fifty bands of music playing soul-stirring airs, the cannon roaring through the day, and the people rending the air with their acclamations of joy.

In the windows and on the tops of hotels and other houses along old Washington street, were to be seen thousands of fair ladies, waving handkerchiefs as the procession passed. Ropes were stretched across all the principal streets, from which were suspended numbers of national flags, and from the windows of the republican headquarters, and other halls, large flags floated in the breeze.

A most striking feature of the procession was a large and beautiful decorated canoe, striped with "red, white and blue," on wheels, drawn by four white horses. A canopy was stretched over the canoe, the posts of which were wreathed with evergreen. Thirty-two beautiful young ladies sat in the canoe, thirty one of them in white, representing that number of States in the confederacy—and the thirty-second, a very fair girl clothed with black crape, personifying Kansas, in her troubled condition. Each lady waved a small flag, and on a banner raised in front of them were these words:

"Opposition to Old Bachelors."

A long wagon containing a delegation from Perry township, drawn by twenty-two span of fine horses, formed part of the procession.

BANNERS, BALLS, AND OTHER DEVICES.

These were innumerable, and the striking mottoes upon them would alone fill a column. A few of them may be given.

A large ball, 15 feet in diameter, was rolled through the streets in the procession by twenty or thirty men. It was covered with devices; among them were two trains of cars, (representing the Pacific railroad,) one of the engines named "Fremont," which was knocking a "Buck" off the track, in its course. The buck says "I'm done for"—and another one, "I'm switched off." A line on one side says, "Roll on the Ball of Freedom;" another, "Improvement to Rivers and Harbors;" and in very large letters, "Morton, Baker, and Victory."

The ball was got up by the Indianapolis, and will be kept rolling until victory is attained, and Fremont placed in the White House.

One banner had a painting, well executed, of a hunter, with a deer suspended by the hind legs from a limb, taking his skin off with a knife; under it the words "Fremont; the Hunter." Another banner had a mustang pony and a buck having a race, the mustang kicking the buck's horns off. A large stuffed eagle, from Lafayette, with outstretched wings was carried on a pole in the procession. The Lafayette delegation also had two well painted banners costing $50 each, a $80 national flag, and numerous other smaller flags and banners from the same old county of Tippecanoe, which gave their procession a splendid appearance. On the front of one of these banners is three figures, the first a likeness of James Buchanan, saying, "I am no longer James Buchanan, see platform on which I stand," as he points to the head of a dragon-looking animal at his feet with the name "Slavery" on its collar. Buchanan has fallen through the platform, and some Democratic blood is oozing out through his lacerated legs.

The second figure is a good portrait of Douglas, saying, "We will subdue you!" and the third a Free State man with a rope around his neck, a Border Ruffian holding the other end, and another placing it over a limb; the victim exclaims, "I die for Freedom." On the reverse is a scroll with, "We hold these truths to be self evident that all men are created equal." A good portrait of the puffy United States Senator, John Pettit, of Lafayette, stands pointing to the scroll, remarking as he did recently in Congress. "A self-evident lie!" The other banner represents Dayton, Fremont and a chained dragon on one side representing the Missouri Compromise. Dayton remarks, "Remove not the ancient landmarks;" and Fremont, "I am indelibly opposed to the extension of Slavery on the American continent." On the reverse the dragon is loose; Pierce stands behind it saying, "The laws of Kansas must be enforced at all hazards"—while old Buck simply remarks, "If I thought there was a drop of Democratic blood in my veins I'd let it out;" while three man-headed bull-dogs exclaim, "We are the law and order party."

Among the host of the small banners was that representing Squatter Sovereignty, viz: a man with a large iron padlock on his mouth, with a chain attached, held by a fellow who also has the key of the lock in his hands. Another is a man shoveling dirt into a cart, as he says: "10 cents a day won't pay, Old Buck."

OFFICERS OF THE MEETING.

Arrived at the State House yard, old John Vawter, now from Morgan, but formerly of Jennings County, and who was first United States Marshal in the State (under Monroe and Adams) was made President pro tem. Mr. Vawter made an excellent speech for Fremont and Dayton. Mr. Vawter is a Baptist preacher, and used to be an old line democrat. John P. Usher, Esq., Republican candidate for Congress, from Terre Haute District, was chosen the regular President of the meeting and thirty-three Vice Presidents, from various parts of the State; among them such men as Henry L. Ellsworth, of Tippecanoe; Jas. Sigler and Geo. K. Steele, of Putnam; John R. Cravens, of Jefferson; Old Jas. Blake of Marion; (till recently an old line leader); Geo. P. Buell, of Dearborne; Daniel Barse, of Miami; A. J. Harlan, of Grant; R. H. Milroy, of Jasper, &c. A number of Secretaries were appointed. A series of resolutions were adopted.

THE SPEAKERS.

After which the immense meeting was entertained from five different stands at once by a large number of eloquent speakers. On one stand Mr. McMullen, an Irish Methodist preacher, stationed at Indianapolis, addressed a crowd with telling effect; and from the same Mr. Ludwig, a German speaker from Baltimore, addressed the assembly most eloquently, and the well known orator Henry S. Lane, of Crawfordsville, afterwards spoke from the same stand in his usual effective manner. Also one of the contingent State electors of the Nebraska party, turned over to the Fremont side and delivered most excellent republican sentiments to a large number of hearers.

A BURLESQUE.

About 4 o'clock P. M., while the main crowd were dispersing, one of the most ludicrous processions, mostly on horseback, of some 400 young Republicans of Indianapolis passed down Washington street, in front of the State House. It was headed by one personating his Stolen majesty, dressed in black, with large cloven feet, a long tail &c., bearing a banner with the inscription "My works do follow me." And following him on a large wagon was a company most hugely dressed, personating Pierce and his kitchen Cabinet in which all kinds of messes were being served up for the people. Some 200 border ruffians follow, on horse-back, mule-back, and jack ass-back, armed with every imaginable variety and of weapons, and dressed in every conceivable style of ludicrous dress, except that ever before seen worn by human beings. This company charged on a few hundred "Free State men;" quietly standing in the street and dispersed them. A team of eight oxen drew a boiler or chimney some three feet in diameter, in lieu of a cannon. It had four openings at the breech, the size of a hat for touch holes. A fellow bore aloft a banner with "Slavery is a divine institution, inscribed upon it. Brigham Young, with six wives most fashionably dressed, hoop skirts and all, each with a little Brigham in her arms, occupied one wagon drawn by oxen.

Brigham was making himself as useful and interesting as possible among his white, black and piebald better halves. He also held a banner, inscribed "Hurrah for the Kansas Nebraska bill—it introduces Polygamy and Slavery." Douglas is represented carrying a banner, with "We will subdue you" inscribed upon it. A "filibustering" crowd were well gotten up. But it was impossible to take note of this rare procession for laughing; it would be difficult to get up a richer scene.

THE EVENING—TORCH LIGHT PROCESSION.

At 8 o'clock this evening a procession was formed at the Court House, on Washington street, four abreast, carrying about 5000 fire torches, interspersed with banners, flags and transparencies. It was headed by five bands of music, the "rolling ball" followed, rockets blazed in the air from the procession and from the various parts of the city during the march. The torch-light procession reached nearly two miles in length, or from one end of the city to the other, and was under command of the marshals of the day.

SUMMARY.

Taken as a whole—up one side and down the other—the meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic gathering ever held in the West. It lays all the monster meetings of 1840 in the shade, as much by its superiority of numbers as by the enthusiasm it evoked. It is without parallel in the political history of the West; and we do not believe that in the whole campaign this spontaneous gathering of the hostlers will be equalled in the East or West. The spirit of the people and their willingness to turn out and work, is an earnest that Indiana is sure for Fremont. So mote it be!
