Miscellaneous.

Mr. Buchanan at a College Commencement.

On Thursday last, the Commencement at Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster, Pa., occurred. Hon. James Buchanan is President of the Board of Trustees, and presided on the occasion with his presence upon the stage.

The students had invited their sisters, sweethearts and pretty cousins to be present and witness their crowning laurels. Everything passed off with the greatest eclat. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of any one, unless it was the oration of W. W. Davis, of Sterling, Illinois, which really chafed the sage of Wheatland.

The subject was "Decline of Political Integrity." The sentiments were noble and manly, delivered in a pleasant and forcible style, worthy of maturer years. He commended the patriotism of the fathers of the Republic, and denounced the degenerate political hucksters of the present day who make all kinds of sycophantic promises to all parties and portions of the country for even a nomination by a Convention, no matter how corrupt or regardless of political integrity.

During the delivery of this sentence the whole house was as still as death, and at its close it was heartily applauded. Mr. Davis finished his oration and retired from the front of the stage amid thunders of applause and showers of bouquets from his friends.

My young friend, you look upon the dark side of the picture. Mr. Sumner's speech, was the most vulgar tirade of abuse ever delivered in a deliberative body. To which the young orator replied that he hoped "Mr. Buchanan did not approve of the attacks upon Mr. Sumner by Brooks and others."

From the Cell to the Pulpit. A few weeks ago, the local editor of one of our city papers, on visiting the cells at the Ninth Street Station House, fell into conversation with a poor fellow who had been sentenced to three days imprisonment for drunkenness.

The unfortunate fellow hung about the cell for some weeks, a woe-begone, wretched being, when his attention was called to an advertisement in a paper for a pastor to a church in a small town in this State.

The late tenant of the Ninth Street cells was the last to exhibit his powers; he preached, and with suchunction that he was at once chosen as the most able, pure and pious of all the competitors. He had good testimonials, given in former days, some of them in Latin, to show; the congregation was satisfied, and now the man who was sentenced to three days in jail for drunkenness; who was so closely associated in the mind of his benefactor with the disappearance of a five dollar bill, and who was so well acquainted with the interior of Cincinnati drinking saloons; is a shepherd, tending to the faithful the word of life.

The liberty of the press—having your pockets picked in a crowd.
