ABOUT KISSING.

That neatest of all things in the Drawer, the story of the Widow Lambkin, of whom Dr. Meadows took so much toll when they crossed the bridge on a sleigh-ride, reminds me,? writes a Down East friend, "of one of our Maine young fellows, who thus describes his battle, and final victory, in a fair fight for kiss of his sweetheart:

"Ah, now, Sarah dear! give me a kissjust one and be done with it. "I won't! so, there now."

"Then I'll have to take it, whether or no." ... Take it if you dare!

"So at it we went, rough and tumble. An twful destruction of starch now commenced. The bow of my craffat was up in half of no ime. At the next bout, smash went shirt colfar, and at the same time some of the headastenings gave way, and down came Sally's quir like a flood in a mill dam broke loose, sarrying away half a dozen combs. One plunge of Saity's elbow, and my blooming bosom ruffles wilted to the consistency and form of an atter dinner napkin. But she had no time to boast. Soon her neck tackling began o shiver, parton at the top, and away went a string of white beads, scampering and runing races overy why you could think of about he floor. Sue fought fair, however, 1 must idmit; and when sue could fight no longer, or the want of oreath, she yielded handsomes y; her arms ich down by her side-those ong, round, rosy arms-her hair hung back iver the chair, her eyes were half shut, as if the were not note to hold them open a nimute onger, and there my a fittle plump mouth all n the air !- hly goodness! Did you ever see hawk pounce on a robin? or a bee on a cloer top? Even so I settled; and when she same to, and threw up those arms, and seized ue around the neck, and declared she would hoke me it I ever did so again, and had a reat mind wede it now, I just ran the risk ver again, and the more she choked me, the nore I liked it; and now she puts her warms round my neek, and puts her own lips in the - ray of mine every day and calls me her John, nd don't seem to make any fuss about it at 11. That was a very sensible girl, and she o say anywhere." Quite different, but not less satisfactory was he first esculatory experience of Dominie rown. He had reached the mature age of ve and forty without ever having taken part this pleasant tabial exercise. One of his eacoes had a very charming daughter, and ir a year or two the Dominie had found it ery pleasant to call upon her three or four , mes a week. 'In tact, all the neighbors said e was courting her; and very likely he was, lough he had not the remotest suspicion of it imself.

takes a good wife too, as I am not ashumed

n-

One Monday evening he was sitting, as sual, by her side, when a sudden idea popad into his bead.

"Miss Mary," said he, "I've known you r a long time, and I never thought of such a ding before; but now I would like you to ye me a kiss. Will you?"

"Well, Mr. Brown," replied she, arching prelips in a tempting way, " if you think it ould not be wrong, I have no objections." "Let us ask a blessing first," said the good an, closing his eyes and folding his hands. tain For what we are about to receive, the Lord' - ake us thankful."

The chaste salute was then given and warmreturned.

ominie. "Let us have another and then rern thanks.".

Mary did not refuse, and when the operain had been repented, the Dominic ejacula F. A in a transport of joy:

.. For the creature comforts which we have w enjoyed, the Lord be praised, and may ey be schotified to our temporal and eternal History says that the fervent petition of the nest Dominio was duly answered; for in s than a month, Mary became Mrs. Brown. And now, while on this subject, we find a ry fair retort, which a young lady at Sarasa Springs sends to the Drawer. An impertent youth had been amusing himself by hibiting the following lines to some ladies the States:

Men score to kiss among themselves, And scarce would kiss a brother; But women want to kiss so bad. They kies and kies each other

Whereupon Miss Carrie May pencilled this ply on the back of an envelope, and left it the fool's instruction:

Men do not kiss among themselves, And it's well that they refrain; The hitter dose would vex them so

They would never kiss again. As sometimes on poor woman's lip

Is applied this nauscous lotion, We have to kiss among ourselves As a counteracting potion."

Impartiality is dealt out by the hand of

A WESTERN LAWSUIT.

Law is law out west. Some years ago an ttatchment was issued and levied upon the stock of a stage company and the consequence was very disastrous of, course; passengers were piled up here and there, just where the writ found them; mails were stopped, and the deuce was to pay everywhere.

John Jones, attorney for the company, went out through the several counties of the State where the 'plunder' was held 'by authority. of the people of the State of-," and moved (as a lawyer might move as the law then stood) for a dissolution of the writ.".

Lawyer Jones went forward swimmingly for a while, and knocked over 'the writs, one after another like a row of bricks. He finally reached the county of ---- where he, found the attorneys which were engaged on the other side and the judge, all evidently expecting him, for they were pouring whickey down the judge at a log taveru, (a very fashionable game in those days-hut law is. law.) telling him funny stories, frequently using a kind of soft soap touching his legal ability and the high reputation which he had acquired on the bench.

Thus drenolica and smeared, the judge at ast took his seat, dignifiedly put on his specs opened the "Revised Statutes," and spread them out solemnly before him and the "hearing" went on. But the "fire water" began to operate, The eyes of the judge waxed heavy; and nowand then he gave a half surge sideways in his seat. Jones raised several objections to the proceedings, and insisted upon points of irregularity. But the judge said:

"He di didn't k-know but Mr. Jones was right, but he cou couldn't travel out out sider the staters."

The opposite counsel at this bright observation nodded their heads and winked at each other.

At last Jones saw it was of no use. Some six or seven times the judge told, him "he couldn' travel outside of the staters." Yes!he would "rise upon him"-there was no other way. He did rise upon him:

"You old bloat !" exclaimed Jones, "you've been in the keeping of those two petifoggers all morning, you are completely pickled with whiskey !-- you are so drunk you-don't know law from gospel! " Can't travel outside the statute, ch? No! indeed you can't and if those two 'shysters' on the other side could get one more drink down your throat, you couldn't travel at all; outside the statute or anywhere else!

It is a singular fact that Jones had no trou-

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES!

MPORTANT TO FEMALES!

The combination of ingredients in those lists the result of a long and extensive practice; they are mild in their operation, and certain of restoring nature to its proper channel. In every instance have those lists the reveal successful. They invariably open those cistructions to which females are liable, and bring mate into its proper channel, whereby health is restored and the pale and deathly countenance changed to a healthy one. No female can enjoy good health unless she is regular; and whenever an obstruction takes place, whether non exposure, cold or any other cause, the general health inmediately begins to decline, and the wantol such a remedy has been the cause of so many consumptions among young females. To ladies whose health will not remain of an increase of their family, these pills will prove a valuable acquisition, as they will prevent pregnancy. Itsadache, pain in the side, palpitation of the heart; for thing of food, and di turbed sleep do nost always arrise from she interruption of nature; and whenever that is the case, the pills will invariably remedy all thert cytis. Nor are the less affractous in the cure of Loucerrhea, commonly called the "Whites." These pills should never be taken during pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage. Warranted purely Vegetable, and free from anything injurious to lift or health. Fulland explicit directions accompany each box.

These pills are put up in square flat boxes. Persons residing where there is no agency established, by enclosing One Dollar in a letter, pre-paid to Dr. C. L. Chrese, wn, No. 267, 'Bloecker street, New York, can have them sent to their respective addressive by Lali.
