DAVID WILMOT, of Bradford Co. For Judges of the Supreme Court. JAMES VEECH, of Fayette Co. JOSEPH LEWIS, of Chester Co. For Canal Commissioner.

WILLIAM MILLWARD of Philad'a

Judge Wilmot's Appointments.

By appointment of the State Commit The tee, the Hon DAVID WILMOT, will address the citizens of Cumberland Coun TY at two points, during the canvass; MECHANISBURG on Monday evening, September 28th and CARLISLE on Tuesday Afternoon September 29th.

Let every one feel that it is his duty to be present, at these meetings. The hame of Wilmot should be a rallying point for every one who appreciates the free institutions of the country. Come, all who are opposed to the usurpations of might over right, and who recognize the doctrine of a free soil for a free people. Come, those who wish to give Pennsylvania a firm position in the sisterhood of noble states, whose hearts and votes are dedicated to freedom. Come, those who - are willing to forget minor differences and unite in the support of those Republican principles which have conferred so many blessings on our Country. Come, those who are in favor of simplicity and strict economy in our public affairs. Let the Democrats come, and hear the truth from the man who is not afraid to go be fore the people on the present issues. Come from every township, hear, see and judge for yourselves, and then make up your minds to go for the Union Republican Candidate.

SELL ALL THE PUBLIC WORKS .- The Reading Gazette, the organ of the Demo cratic party in Berks county, advocates the sale of all the public works, now owned by the State. The idea is a good one, and would no doubt be popular among the people, of all parties. It has been clearly shown, that the State cannot compete with private corporations, in working railroads or canals with profit, and the sooner they are sold the better.

The Commonwealth, commenced her system of Internal Improvements, at an early period, when men were comparatively inexperienced, in the construction of canals and railroads; and as a natural consequence, she has paid the penalty. Having wigely sold a part, it would be bad policy to hold on to the residue, until private enterprize shall render them entirely useless. On this subject, the editor of the Gazette says-

The proper objects of civil government are few and simple. The fewer and more simple we make them, the nearer we arrive at the perfection of republican institations. The laying of railroads and digring of canals, the transportation of merchandise and conveyance of passengersindispensable though they be to the wants of a trading people—are not the enter-prizes for which a government such as uurs was established. Our indulgent old Commonwealth has done what her children ought to have done for themselves and paid dearly for it, as is generally the mase with those who travel out of their phere to assist others. Sho is more to commiserated than blamed for all this. But now that her children are able to get along without her, and only abuse her favors, she does wisely to sell out, and relinquish a business which was never congenial to her tastes or inclination, and consequently has never been profitable to her. Let her sell all her canals and wailroads to those who can and will make money out of them; and return to the simpler and more proper-duty of protecting the people in their persons, property, and lawful pursuits.

THE MINUTE GUN -A party of "straight outs," in Philadelphia, who call themselves the "minute men of 56" have undertaken the publication of a Journal, called The Minute Gun. Finding themselves "all at sea" without rudder or compas, they probably intend to use the Minute Gun in firing signals of distress they find their craft sinking. No doubt the locofoco wreckers along that coast will take them aboard; every thing is fish that comes to their nets, whether land sharks or gudgeons.

A meeting of the Teachers of the United States, is to convene to day in Philadelphia for the purpose of forming A Teachers National Association.

The call for this meeting was issued by the President of the State associations offinine States, and a general attendance is expected, especially from the Western States. The movement is an important one, and we hope the teachers of our own State, will show their appreciation of it, by a general attendance

FORT SNELLING -The Government having no further use for Fort Snelling Minnesota, as a military post has sold i to New York Company, for $90.000 The property is on the river opposite St, Paul, comprises seven or eight thousand scree and is said to be worth, even now a quarter of a million

THE MERRIMAC. - The United States Steam frigate Merrimac sailed a few days ago for the Pacific; she is to be the flag ship of the squadron; among the list of we notice the name of Charles A Davis, as Chaplain, Mr Davis, was some Jears ago stationed here, as Preacher in Later, of the M. E. Church.

NOMINATION .- The Union Convention of Franklin County, met on the 18th inst. and nominated A. K. McClure, Esq. of Chambersburg, for the Legislature. This is a most excellent selection, Mr McClure, is a gentleman of decided ability, and a shrewd politician. He will do honor to that district; and if Franklin county, is true to her ancient faith, he will be triumphantly elected.

The President has by proclamation, declared a treaty of friendship and commerce between the United States and Persia, of binding force. In addition to an Ambassador, or Diplomatic Agent, near each Government, it provides for Persian Consuls at Washington, New York and New Orleans; and for United States Consuls at Teheren, Bender, Bushire and Tauris. The treaty will continue in force for ten years.

Our Book Table.

A. S. Barnes & Co. of New York have just published an excellent primary work for schools called the National Pronouncing Speller by Richard G. Barker and J. Madison Watson author of "The National Series of Readers."

It is on the principle that the shortest and most successful mode of learning to spell is by the sye; that the definitions and the use of words, as well as their orthography, are sconest acquired by frequently writing exercises from dictation, and that orthopy and orthography, should be simultaneously taught in accordance with these views the work has been prepare l.

to observe the construction of words and form tiem, by prefixing single letters. Part second, contains words of more than one syllable, classified according to their formation, their vowel found a gold breast-pin, can find the owner sounds, alphabetic order, accent, and number of syllables.

A COLLAPSE. - Some excitement wa raised in this county, last week, by an announcement in papers and handbills, that an played out, by those mad wage, "the minute arrangement had been effected with Mr. John Wise the eronaut, of Lancaster, to make a balloon ascension at Carlisle, on the 20th inst. from the country and some we believe from the neighboring counties, to witness it. Mr. and no one dreamed of a failure. About 2 arranged for conveying the gas into the balloon, and a vast crowd surrounded the " poplar lot" to see the process of inflation.

Soon, however, whispered reports began to circulate among the people, that Wise would not make an ascension, as there was not gas enough to fill the balloon, and the earnest looking faces of our country friends became as an announcement; made by direction of Mr. that evening, but that he would " make it all right in the morning." Another excuse offered by Mr. Wise, was, CENTRAL RAILROAD.—The receipts of swept away by the fact, that he had already received $108, and that Mr. Henry Glass offered him a check for whatever balance he claimed, provided he would postpone the ascension, until Saturday, and make it from the Fair ground. To this proposition Mr. Wise made no satisfactory, answer, and left town next morning in the early train. We think, the citizens of the town and coun ty have been most shamefully humbugged, and man of honor, by a proper explanation to set least to show why he held on to the money, after he had refused to fulfil his engagement.

WHEN DOES OLD AGE BEGIN!

The following extract from a work entitled "The Science of Life, by a Physician," will be found interesting, especially to those who are pretty well " forty-fied" in years.

. It is generally supposed that our race is deconsequently the average of human life is of regarding it, she deliberately threw herself Whith Wheat per bushel shortening. The statistics of eminent medical men prove this idea to be erroneous; people do not attain to a greater age than they did in former years, but more live to grow old, and any one who will look at the population of Carliele, and netice the large number of men from 55 to 65 who are, even yet, in the prime of life; will be convinced of the truth of this observation. It is easily accounted for, too, in the progress of medical science, the gradual disuse of alcoholic liquor as a beverage, and the increased attention which people now give to the general rules of health in regard to diet, fresh air, clothing, bathing, and exercise.

Even in size we seem to have the advantage of the men of the "olden time." This fact was shown at the Eglintoun Tournament, held in Scotland some twenty years ago. The young noblemen who took part in that affair had furbished up the armor of their ancestors, some of it duting back, perhaps, to the time of the Cruendes, and were much surprised to find that it was generally too small to be worn by men of ordinary size now.

The knights of old possessed one advantage however. They were all bone and muscle, without a pound of superfluous fleah, and could vault into their saddles, although cased in armor, while the Eglintoun knights could not mount without assistance.

"THE TURN OF LIFE -Between the years stitution renders him almost impervious to the attacks of disease, and experience has given soundness to his judgment. His mind is reso-lute, firm, and equal; all his functions are in be highest order; he assumes mastery over pusiness, builds up a competence on the foun dution he has formed in early manhood, and passes through a period of life attended by many gratifications. Having gone a year or two past sixty he arrives at a stand still. But thwart this is a vinduct, called 'The Turn of athwart this is a vinduct, onlied . The Turn of Life, which, if crossed in safety, leads to the valley of 'old age,' round which the river winds, and then beyond without a beat or causeway to effect its passage. The bridge is, however, constructed of frogile materials, and it depends upon how it is trodden whether it hand on heart of constructed on the professor also in bend or break. Gout and apoplexy are also in the vicinity to waylay the traveller and thrust-him from the pass; but, let him gird up his loins and provide himself with a fitter staff, and he may trudge in safety with perfect com-posure. To quit metaphor, the 'turn of life" s a turn either into a prolonged walk, or into the grave. The system and powers having reached their utmost expansion, now begin to either close like flowers at sunset or break down at once. One injudicious stimulant, s single fatal excitement, may force it beyond its strength, whilst a careful supply of props, and the withdrawal of all that tends to plant, will sustain it in beauty and vigor until night has entirely set in.

LETTER FROM PHILADELPHIA.

The convalescence of our correspondent-A series of murders and suicides—An at-tempt to blow up the stock brokers instead of the stocks—Wilmot at Jayne's hall— Theatres and things theatrical

PHILADELPHIA: Aug. 24, 1857. DEAR HERALD: It is with unfeigned pleas ure that I resume my position in your columns after an absence of several weeks, during which time I have done little else than cultivate the professional acquaintance of an M. D. and extend my knowledge of the efficiency of medicines. In case my correspondence should again be interrupted, I trust it will be attributable to some other cause, if merely to gratify my fondness for "the spice of life." The past week has been prolific with "items" of such a character as would satiste the appetite of the most inordinate lover of the horrible. We have had one most horrible murder, five suicides, and an attempt on the part of an insane old gentleman to blow several persons out of existence by a miniature Guy Fawkes arrangement of his own contrivance. The murder referred to was that of a neph ew by his uncle, the act being instigated by jealousy. During the absence of the uncle from the city, the nephew, it is alleged, married his aunt, or at least lived with her on such terms as would warrant the belief that the ceremony ought to have taken place. When the uncle returned and saw the state of affairs, he resolved to be revenged, and having met his nephew in the street, chased him into a drinking saloon in Cherry, street, and there shot him through the heart. The murderer delivered himself into the hands of the police immediately after the commission of the deed He speaks exultingly of the affair, and his conversation since the murder has been of such a nature as to leave no doubt of his pre determination to commit the act.

The suicide of Mr. George Helmbold has caused a great excitement among the business portion of our community. Mr. Helmbold had, for several years previous to his death, occupied the post of first Teller in the Western Bank, in this city, and in that canacity had become widely known among our business men, by whom he was highly esteemed. It is impossible to adduce any motive that could have prompted him to put an end to his career of usefulness, unless it he insanity. Mr .H. was aged forty five, a bachelor, and in good circumstances. Since his death, bis accounts at the Bank have been exemined and found to be strictly correct.

The motive in this instance, as in the first mentioned case, is unknown, insanity being again the assigned cause. The third suicide was that of a female, who umped into the Delaware from one of the WINTER BARLEY

Evans, to blow up the office of Mesers. Outer brige, Harvey & Co., while the members of the firm were present, has given rise to much excitement and talk. Evans went into the office of the gentlemen above named, having a tin canister containing powder and pebble stones suspended around his neck, and requested all but the members of the firm to withdraw, which request was complied with. He then applied fire to the touch-hole of the infernal machine, but, by the merest accident, the fuse did not light. Had it ignited, the charge would have not only been sufficient for Evans to accomplish his desperate purpose, but to have sent him as a companion to the Messrs. O., H. & Co. on their journey to the undiscovered country." The depth of the water into which it is now being submerged is nearly two miles. The laying of the cable from the shallow to the deep water was effected without difficulty. The signals from on board the steamer Niagara are every-thing that an electrician could desire. The steamers are heading West, with a moderately fair breeze, and the cable is being run out from on board the Niagaia, at the rate of about five miles per hour, and messages are being constantly received on shore. The fol lowing is the latest flash from on board the Wood's HAIR RESTORATIVE .- Prof. Wood, the renowned disc verer of the invaluable Hair Restorative, still continues to labor in behalf of the Itestorative, still continues to labor in bolah of the affilicted.

His medicines are universally admitted by the American press to be far superior to all others for causing the hair on the agod that has been silvered for many, years, to grow forth with as much rigor and luxuriance as when blessed with the advantages of youth.

There can be no doubt that it is one of the greatest discoveries in the medical world. It restores permanently gray hair to its original color, and makes it assume a beautiful allky texture, which has been very desirable in all ages of the world.—St. Louis Morning Herald.
