PROCLAMATION. PENNSYLVANIA, 35:-In the name and by the authority of the Com monwealth of Pennsylvania, JAMES POL-LOCK. Governor of the said Commonwealth: -A-PROCLAMATION-

Fellow Citizens :- To render to Almighty who controls the destinies of nation ded, who controls the destines of minima and men, the homage of drowth grutitude and, praise for his goodness and his mercy, is the sppropriate and solemn duty of a free and highly favored neople. As the giver of every good and perfect gift we should ever recog-nise His hand in our mercies, and acknowledge our dependance upon lits providence; and although adversity may, throw its dark shadow across our pathway, yet we should be assured of this "the Judge of all the earth will do right."

During the past year the bounties of a kind Providence have not been witheld from our Commonwealth. Our free institutions have Commonwealth. Our iree institutions and been preserved, and our rights and privileges, oivil and religious, onjoyed and maint ined. The arts and sciences, and the great is terests of aducation, morality and religion, have claimed the attention, and received the en-souragement of an intelligent and theral pea-ple.—Honorable industry in its varied depart-base how revived and although rements has been rewarded; and although recont and severo financial revulsion has filled with gloom, sorrow and distress, the hearts with gloom, sorrow and distress, the hearts and homes of many-of our citizens, yet no fear of famine, no dread of impending public of-social calamity, mingles with our emotions of gratitude for past blessings, or weakens our trust for the future, in the providence, of lim who wounds but to heal, and "whose mercy endureth forever." A plenteous intrest has orowned the labours of the husbandmanpeace with its gentle and reforming influerces, and unwonted health with its benefits and mercies, have been vouchsafed to us.

In acknowledgement of these manifold bles-sings, we should offer unto God thanksgiving and pay our yows unto the most lligh ; and and pay our vows unto the most runn, most call upon Him " in the day of trauble: He will deliver thee and thou shalt glorify Him." Under the solemm conviction of the proprie-ty of this duty; and in conformity with estab-lished custom and the wishes of many good. citizens, I, JAMES POLLOCK. Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby commend THURSDAY THE TWENLY SIXTH DAY or Novemben NEXT, as a day of general thanks giving and praise throught this State and ear nestly request the people-that abstaining from their usual avocations and all worldly pursuit-they assemble on that day according to their religious customs, and unite in offering thanks to Almighty God for his past goodness and mercices; and while humbly acknowledging our transgression, and imploring flis forgive-cers because him with sincara wid serviced do. sual avocations and all workily pursuits ness, beseach Him, with sincers and carnest de-are, to return and visit us again with line love-ing kindness, make us worthy of His bounties, and continue to us the rich blessings of His providence and grace. " To Fanny " by Pedro, is declined. His ideas are very good, but' they want furce of expression, and his lines are of such unequal quantity, as to destroy all idea of radence, or rhythm. He should write with more care, and ravise frequentity before he submits his com positions to the criticism of the public. Our readers will find in this paper the first part of "The Prima Donna's Triumph." i will be concluded in our next, and is worth preserving as it possesses unusual interest. Every one is familiar with Watts' " Psalma and Hymns," yet comparatively, few know much of the personal history of the gifted au thor. An interesting article on that subject will be found on our first page. "A thing of beauty is a joy forever,' therefore, we need not offer an apology for publishing Annabel Lee, by Edgar A. Poe, although it is no doubt familiar to many of our readers. There is much merit in the lines " Be Hope ful," written for the Herald, and the subject is peculiarly appropriate. We refer the Ladies, to a description of the "Nuptial Dress of the Princess Royal of Eng land ;" though it is quite probable that many a happier heart bouts under calico.

THE FIRST SNOW. "Cold winter is coming, and God help the poor. I wish he was going away." Last Saturday, we had the first snow stor f the season. The effect was startling and aelancholy. For days, we had revelled in the delights of our Indian Summer, marking the glorious supsets of crimson and gold, as they reflected the rich warm tints of autumn, yielding to the geoial influence of balmy breezes bet, but secured the gingeroake. as they fibrated over the lingering flowers, or watching the trees as they noticed to the hurrving winds, and shed their leafy benors in olden showers to the earth.

But the dream is dispelled, the trees are tripped of the folinge, the birds have censed pouglosks, and we were about to suggest that their carols, and the angel of silence sits broodfitful gusts drives the snow flakes before it in blinding drifts, the thought arises, with meancholy forebodings, what is to become of the nëmployed poor ?

Section second provides." that, in the prose section of elaves for orimes of higher grade than petit larceny, the Legislature shall have no power to deprive them of an impartial trial by patit jury." And section third is in these words "bny person who shall maliciously dismember or doprive a slave of life, shall suffer such punent as would be inflicted in case the like offence had been committed on a free white person, and on the like proof; except in case of insurrection of such slave-

The above report was carried by a vote, of 40 to 2 in the negative.

We should be glad if these sapient constitution makers, would inform us, on what principle of common law or common sense, they first declare a slave to be a chattel, the same as a "horse or a box of dry goods," and then pro-vide in the same or port, how slaves shall be prosecuted for penal offences. If one chattel can commit an offence, so can abother, and in their view of the case, the "horse or box of the index of the case, the "horse or box of the the same t ple of common law or common sense, they first dry-goods" has as much right to a trial by jury as the slave. Again these framers of the constitution declare, that a negro is unot human, but a species of the ape," and 'at the same time declare, that "any person who shall deprive a slave of life, shall suffer such punishment, as would be inflicted, if he had killed a white man." If horses and slaves. are both chattels, the one has as much right to protection as the other. No doubt when the new Democratic plat-
