a mother devoured her own infant; fulfiling the awful words of the warlike prophet who had first led the Jews towards the land of promise-"The tender and delicate women amongst you, who would not adventure to set the sole of her foot upon the ground for delicateness and tenderness-her eye shall be evil toward her young one and the children that she shall bear, for she shall cat them for want. of all things secretely in the seige and straitness wherewith thine enemy shall distress thee in thy gates." Still, as if the foe and the famine was not scourge enough, citizens smote and murdered each other as they met in the way-false prophets ran howling through the streets -every image of despair completes the ghastly picture of the full of Jerusalem. And now the temple was on fire, the Jews rushing through the flames to perish amidst its ruins. It was a calm summer night-the 10th of August; the whole hill on which stood the temple was one gigantic blaze of fire-the roofs of cedar crashed-the golden pinnacles of the dome were like spikes of crimson flame.
