The Herald.

CARLISLE, PA. Wednesday, April 6, 1839.

The It is with the deepest sorrow and regret, that we announce the death of Prof. D. RADNER COOVER, of Irving Female College, and Proprietor of the Carlisle Herald After many months of suffering from a lingering disease, he died yesterday evening, in the 26th year of his age:

With brilliant talents, studious habits. and a character of high moral rectitude he entered upon the active duties of life with bright prospects of future usefulness but, like many others, he hasfallen a vie tim on the very threshold, to intense mental application, leaving many friendwith crushed hones and hearts, to lanient his early death. 9 ...

The Compaign for 1860

The Pittsburg Guzette says that the prospect now is that the "democratic" party will go into the canvass of 1860 on the following issues: ~- · · · · d 1. Free trade.

acquisition of Cuba and Central America for the purpose of extending Slavery. 111. A national slave code for the territories. 1v. The revival of the African Slave Trade. v. The concentration of despotic power in the hands of the President, amounting prac-tically to the abrogation of the constitution. These will be the issues which the South will force upon the north at the Charelston Convention. They may sugar coat the pills to make them go down ensier, but in effectthese will constitute the Charleston platform. The honest men of the party will be driven out, and those with weak consciences will gap at the dose; but the masses will take it as prepared for them, without a why or a' wherefore. There may be some who will say that it will be impossible to rally a party upon such issues, but they are mistaken in the temper of the party which the South is dealing with The treme dous advance made in one year upon the slave trade question is evidence enough of a readiness to go any length that they may demand upon this question.

Hon. JAMES M. SELLERS.

Mr. Editor : We were pleased to read in the Herald of last week, your indorsement of the editorial remarks of the Philadelphia Enquirer in regard to the nomination of the llon. Jas M Sellers, of Juniata county, for the office of Auditor General. Mr. Sellers' well-known popularity at home attests his strict integrity and character, and endorses his fitness for this official position ; while his able and consistent discharge of his Senatorial duties has made him hosts of friends Senatorial duties has made him hosis of friends in all parties throughout the Commonwealth, His qualifications for this important post are undoubted.
