Just in the beg uning of another winter, Old grandiather has been called away; To warn us, that around him stood, How frail and flitting are our days.

Upon his cheek the rose found place, And hearty bright had settled there, But the filly with a different grace, Now rests upon his form so fair.

His beauties are gone, and Grandfather is gone; And we will never see him more, And we will never see him more, Until we grasp his sainted form ' On Canasa's peaceful shore.

Within his narrow hou e of clay, Poor Grandfather's lifeless body lies, We feel our I as, but still we hope He is an angel in the skies,

Let us take warning by his death, We cannot tell who next may fall; It may be you it may he me, That death the next away may call. Then let us try to be prepared, The message to receive; That when we die and leave this earth We'll rise to heaven and live.

Let sorrow now by noy be riven,
And live on earth a holy life
And meet your grandfather in Heaven.

in.presenting you with DR. EATON'S INFANTILE CORDIAL. we desire to state its superfority over every seastrum that nurse or quack has heretofore offered you. First—the Is the preparation of a regular physicism, who is well qualified from much experience in infantile complaints to prescribe for them. Secondly—It is on tirely free from parezorie or epiate of any kind, and consequently reflexes by removing the suffering of your child, instead of deafoning its sensibilities, Thirdly—[tl.g.nut up with great care, as a comparison of it with any other article for infantile complaints will show; the very roots from which' it is distilled being dug from the forests under the direction of Dr. Exton, many of them by his own hands. Fourthly—It is perfectly harmless and cannot injure the most delicate infant, and is a certain curson of relief in all the following cases, which is its chief merit over every other preparation, viz.

fion, viz: FOR-ALL COMPLAINTS ATTENDING TERTHING; FOR ALL COMPLAINTS ATTENDING TERTHING; such as DYSENTERY COLIC, &c.; also for softening the guns and relieving pain. For regulating the bowels life. In all cases, the directions wrapped around each bottle, must be strictly followed. Price, 25 cents per bottle.
