The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has obtained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this subject will speak more powerfully than volumes:—have assertion or inference, the consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and in its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach two million bottles. It is a safe and sound investment to have a bottle of this article in every home; it can be had at the lowest price, and includes a profit contained in the preparation, and the sale of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitter's to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its value, and of course its ingredients and the diseases resulting thereto.

This is not temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where the cost of living and various other billions of dollars have counted their victims by hundreds.

To be able to state confidently that the "Bitter's" are a certain cure for the hypochondriac disease, is to the proprietors a source of unfeigned pleasure. It removes all mental disturbance, and induces a quietude and happiness similar to the nervous, giving it tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition in which they discharge the functions of nature.

Elderly persons in the United States, as well as abroad, on the land and the water, find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to combat declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, exerting a tonic, and reinvigorating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who are now in full possession of their health, and should be so glad to meet another in his time of life, as to be spared to render assistance to his cure.
