TICKETS We have tickets in abundance, now ready at this office, and would be glad if our friends in the different townships would call early and supply themselves.

This important question is asked every year by almost every newspaper in Pennsylvania, and we do not know that it has ever been satisfactorily answered. Whether or not, we wish our friends to recollect that Saturday the 28th (to morrow) is the last day upon which that important duty can be attended to, in order to secure a right to vote at the October electionwe therefore ask again

ARE YOU ASSESSED?

re won needn't take the trouble to call at the office to answer the question-you can let us know at the polls on election day. If you are not, don't lose another minute, but (if you live in this borough,) call on J. W. EBY, the Assessor, and have it attended to immediately. Our friends in the different townships know who their Assessors are, and we hope they will not neglect to call on them.

Qualifications of Voters. The law requires a person who claims the right to vote, to have been a citizen of this Commonwealth "at least one year, and in the election district at least ten days immediately preceding such election, and within two years to have paid a State or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least ten days before the election. But a citizen of the United States who has previously been a qualified voter of the State, and removed therefrom and returned, and who shall have resided in the election district and paid taxes aforesaid, shall be entitled to vote after residing in this State six months. But citizens of the United States. between the ages of twenty-one and twentytwo years, who have resided in the election district ten days aforesaid, shall be entitled to vote, although they have not paid taxes." We published last week, the law explaining the qualifications, and manner of voting for our volunteers in the army.

THE DEMOCRACY IN MAINE .- The Democratic party in Maine split upon the question of the war-one branch supporting the war and the other opposing it. By the returns of the late election it will be seen that the votes for the two candidates run about even-the patriotic branch being a little ahead. But what a reflection it is upon the party that, in a fair issue, one half of its members should array themselves in undisguised hostility to the Government. The Democracy of New York.

The Democratic party of New York refused, as our readers well know, to unite with the Republican in framing a joint State ticket and put forward a straight Democratic ticket upon a platform one-half of which expresses a halting sympathy with the Government, the other half being openly on the side of treason. The platform upon which it is fighting its battle is thus briefly summed up:

First, That the Democratic party alone is capable of prosecuting a successful war or securing a satisfactory peace. Second. That is is utterly impossible to subdue the South by military force.

Third, That peace can be attained only by making concessions.

Fourth, Thut there is no possible concession which ought not to be made rather than allow

The first and most essential plank in this platform is the same as that adopted by the Democracy in Philadelphia, showing that but one aim actuates the party in both States. The other planks follow as a matter of course. It was but proper and in harmony with its other action that the convention which adopted this platform neglected or omitted to hoist the National Flag over the hall in which it met. It was also in keeping with it that the Democratic Convention in Broome county, which elected delegates to this Convention voted down the following resolution-82 to 6; Resolved, That the Democracy of the county of Broome are now, as they ever have bee in favor of the preservation of the Union and the Constitution, and the enforcement of the laws throughout the whole Union.

California Election.

By the pony express, we have later news from California. The State has gone overwhelmingly for the Republicans.

PENNSYLVANIA'S QUOTA. Gentlemen."

As usual, whenever Pennsylvania is bro't question, there is an outery against her from other States that pretend to have done better than she has. New it is asserted, in certain quarters, that she has not contributed her fair share of men towards the war, whereas there is no State that has done bet ter, and some have not done nearly so well

The Philadelphia Bulletin asserts, upon the authority of the War Department, that she has furnished more men than the State of New York, which has nearly a million more inhabitants. In addition to the regiments nearly all the men under Col. Baker, a large portion of Sickles' brigade, a regiment called Kentucky Cavalry," several thousands to lifferent New York regiments, and a great number to those of New Jersey and Delaaware. We doubt not that there are now fully fifty thousand men in the service from o despatch a number of new and well equipped regiments in a few days, and recruiting for others is going on rapidly. Some of our agricultural counties have not contributed their share of men; but this was because they could not spare them from their farms. Now that most of the harvest is over, they will be able to keep up a supply of new men, and we doubt not they will do it. Pennsylvania has done her proportion of the work of war, and she is able to do as much more. JAMES MARSHALL, Esq. An unjust, and we believe, very silly atempt is being made by the democracy, to injure Mr. Marshall, our candidate for Assembly. The argument used is that he is not entitled to an office from this county, because of his aving been recently a citizen of Perry county. The facts are these, Mr. Marshall for more han ten years previous to his moving to this Henry's Valley, Perry county. During all that time his entire business was done thro' Newville. Every pound of leather that he manufactured, and every green hide that he bought, were carried through this county, over the Cumberland Valley Railroad. All his provisions and groceries-every barrel of flour, and in fact everything he used in his business, even to the shoeing of his horses. was produced in this county, so that in everything that makes a man's residence of interest and profit to the community, Mr. Marshall has been a citizen for more than fifteen years. He has been living in Newville for the last four years, and has made that place his home for life. An insidious attempt to prevent a man's election, on such a ridiculously insig niflcant pretext, is the very best evidence in the world of his moral and political purity. Their slanderous tongues dare not touch his character, and they resort to the mean subterfuge of exciting the jealousy of his own

THE NATIONAL LOAN. Subscriptions to the national loan are be ng rapidly taken, all over the country. Some of our citizens have already subscribed in Philadelphia, which we believe has been for some time the nearest agency. We believe there are others ready and willing to invest in this, beyond question the best and safest loan ever offered to the American people. The only difficulty appears to be the want of an citizens secure the appointment; we do not know what the compensation is, but we feel assured that it will be liberal, as the government never asks its friends to serve it with-

The Remedy to be Applied to the beat of the Disease.

We have been waiting, with patience, the ime when the administration would strike the traitors of the South at their vulnerable point. Their whole coast is, says the West Chester Republican, in a great measure open to us, and we have always believed that 20,000 men landed in the heart of slavery would effect more than five times the number on the northern frontier. Now Washington is secure against successful attacks, we look forward to an application of the true remedy for rebellion to the seat of the disease. A bold stroke at Norfolk, Savannah, Pensacola, New Orleans, and other points we might name, will strike a panic through the cotton region, and at the same time divide the now bullying army of Beauregard. In this way we can open cotton marts, and not only supply our own people, but the nations of Europe. Let us have an efficient army on the coast

The Way to Do It. We like the way they conduct the recruiting business down in Southern Illinois. They call the people together in mass meetogs, able speakers make short, patriotic addresses, and all who are ready and willing to enlist for the war to put down the rebellion against the Government and its laws, are invited to sign their names.

In this way whole companies are sometimes made up almost in no time. Why couldn't this plan be introduced in other States? The people need stirring up. their duties in this crisis, we doubt not that excellent shot. the important work of enlistment-more important at this moment than ever beforewould be greatly expedited.

Terrific Stampede of Horses. At St. Louis, about 3 o'clock Saturday morning, three hundred and thirty three Govrnment horses broke out of the yard in Government wagons, which were being drive man street, N. Y. en into town. The driver of the foremost wagon stopped his team in the middle of the street, but had no time to escape before at least one hundred and fifty horses, rearing and plunging in a dense mass, swept- over him, breaking down his wagon, killing his horses, and injuring him so severely that his life is despaired of. Four horses were killed on the spot, and others crippled, so that they fell a short distance beyond, and were trampled to death by overpowering numbers, and running early in the morning. Two market and their wagons demolished. The yard in which they were confined was not large enough, they became restless, and by a combined movement pushed an opening through little book. THE PROGRESS OF THE WAR.

Summary of News and Incidents. Wo compile from the despatches received very day, the following melange of facts, rumore and incidents, which we believe comprehends everything of importance in the movements and engagements of our armies in the different localities mentioned.

From Lexington, Mo., we have news to Wednesday night. On Tuesday a severe fight took place with the rebels for the possession of the ferry boats, three in number, and the rebels are said to have captured them. If this be true, Sturgis' reinforcements will not be able to cross the river. Twelve wagon loads the following statement:-He was a resident of rebel dead and wounded are said to have been carried away. General army in that vicinity up to the time of his Price's beseiging army is variously estimated

The opening attack was made on Monday, with 8,000 men, and lasted two hours, the rebels being repulsed, with 100 killed and between 200 and 400 wounded, the United States forces losing five killed and several wounded. The town is strongly fortified and the works will hold 10,000 men. The attack on Wednesday was a determined one, and lasted nearly all day. The whole of Col. Mulligan's command at Lexington has surrendered to the rebel army of Gen. Price, having been completely exhausted by hard fighting, and the total deprivation of water. He had 3500 men, of whom 900 were killed or wounded, leaving about 2600 effective men against 30,000 rebels -The loss of the rebels is reported at between three and four thousand men. The number of General Price's rebel army seems to increase rapidly. It is now rated at

Though not officially stated, it is beyond juestion that the Cabinet at Washington has been for several days discussing the vexatious affairs of Gen. Fremont. The visit of General Meigs and Postmaster General Blair to St. Louis was to investigate into the exactness of some charges affecting the management of that military department; and their report is before, the Cabinet.

It is generally understood that a great naval expedition has sailed southward to make an attack somewhere on the rebel coast, but where is not precisely known. Nor do we know the exact strength of the fleet, except that in some well informed quarters it is said to be very formidable. The secret has been so well kept, this tinks, that the number of ships, the point of attack, the commanders, and the time. and place of sailing, are alike involved in mys-

Hupson, Mo., Sept. 23 .- The following account of the siege of Lexington is furnished to the St. Louis Republican by Henry Bradburn, one of Col Mulligan's soldiers, who left Lexington on Saturday morning: The fort was surrendered on Friday afternoon. The men ought for fifty-nine hours without water, and ad only three barrels of vinegar to quench their thirst during all that time. There were no springs or wells of water in the camp ground as has been stated. The supply was from the iver, and was cut off after a desperate fight on Wednesday. The camp ground consisted of about ten acres, and was located a short disance from the river. There were breastwork entirely around it with the exception of the portion next the river. It was here the hardest fighting took place. The rebels procured a large number of hemp bales, rolled them in advance, and under their over gradually succeeded in securing a posiion in the rear. They then cut off the supply f water, and had the fort completely surounded. .They made but few charges upon the breastworks during the entite siege, their object seemed to be to surround the fort and cut off the supply of water. ADVERTISING .- In times of business prostration, like the present, the duty every good citizen owes to his family, his creditors, and the community at large, is to pursue, a careful, judicious system of retrenchment,-But in doing this it becomes a duty as well, to see that, in adopting any course of econo mizing, the sources and channels of all business are not lost sight of.
