ishing all feeling of mere passion or resentment, will recollect only its duty to the whole country; that this war is not waged on their part in any spirit of oppression, or for any purpose of conquest or subjugation, or purpose of overthrowing or interfering with the rights or established institution of those States, but to defend and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, and to preserve the Union, with all the dignity, equality and rights of the several States unimpaired; and that as soon as these objects are accomplished the war ought to

This declaration is worthy of the pen of a Washington, a Jefferson or a Jackson. It is clear, unambiguous and comprehensive, conceived in the spirit of brotherly love, justice and the preservation of the rights, dignity and equality of the several States unimpaired. It was intended to allay the unfounded tears of the Southern States : to cast oil upon the troubled waters of civil discord, and to say alike to those who have brought upon us all the horrors of civil wan-the Disunionists of the South and emancipationists of the North-" Peace be still." It declares that this war against re-bellion and treason is not waged by the United States to gratify the wicked feelings of passion and resentment, to oppress, to conquer, or to subjugate, or to interfere with the rights or established institutions of the Southern States; but to maintain the supremacy of the Constitution, to preserve the Union, and to protect unimpaired the dignity, equality and rights of all the States North and South. These declarations ought to be engraven on the pulms of the hands of every citizen. They are the declarations of our National Congress, when assembled in grave deliberation upon the mournful crisis we are now contemplating. They are the sblown 'resolves of the 'law making power of our government, sanctioned by the supreme Executive of our nation, promulgated as the rule of conduct for every loyal citizen. None but traitors will disobey its mandates.

It therefore becomes our imperative duty in subduing the present rebellion, conceived and matured by the counsels of wicked men, to take care that we preserve the supremacy of the Constitution and laws of our Union, sacred and inviolate; and that in wiping out rebellion we do not violate the very Constitution and laws, the observance of which we are enforcing against rebel citizens, and thus in subduing treason, turn traitors curselves. These remarks have been elicited by the spirit and tone of a part of the Northern press, which with fa-natical zeal, is attempting to convert the present war, for the preservation of the nion and Constitution, into a resistless emancipation engine, to liberate the millions of Southern slaves, and turn them loose upon the free men at the North.— Their zeal to place the African upon an equality with anglo-saxon races greatly over balance their love of country, our Constitution and laws, and they would prefer having our Union rent asunder, than fail in their Utopian theory of elevating the negro to an equality with the white man. These emancipationists forget that the same Constituwar against the United States, also declares that a person held to service or labor in one State under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall be delivered up on claim of the party'to whom such service or labor may to due. And while they denounce the treamon and disloyalty of Southern secessionists, make a pretext of conscience and at tempt to justify their own violation of the Constitution and laws of the Government, to which they owe allegiance, by floading the paramount obligations of a "higher law," binding upon their consciences. Such conscience contemners of the most binding obligations of civil Government, are the high Cangerous citizens of which a Government can be composed. Unceasing agitators, restless under the wholesome restraints of law and order, vilifiers of the Constitution and laws under which they enjoy a greater amount of civil and roligious liberty than any other Government confers upon its citizens: as soon as they gain sufficient strength to wield an influence in popular governments, they become the gertain instigators of treasth and rebellion.

A late Judge of the United States Disfriet Court, some years since, in charging the Grand Jury used the following language, which now that the consequences then foreshadowed are upon us, appear like a pro-phetic varning: "There has been, I tear, or erroneous impression on this subject anong a portion of our people. If it has been thought safe to counsel and instigate others to acts of foreible opposition to the provisions of a statute—to inflame the minds of the ignorant by appeals to passion and denunciations of the law as oppressive and unjust, "Evolting to the conscience and not binding on the actions of men—to represent the Constitution of the land as a compact with iniquity, which it were meritorious to violate or subvert, the mistake has been a perilous one; and they who have fallen into it may rejoice, if peradventure, their appeals and their counsels have litherto been without effect. He whose con-science or whose theories of political or individual right forbid him to support and maintain it in its fullest integrity, may re-lieve himself of the duties of citizenship by divesting himself of its rights; but while he remains within our borders he is to remember that successfully to instigate treason, is Thursty for our country and the cause of civil liberty, the Administration, turning a cleat ear to the taunts and jibes and jiby threats of Northern secessionists and emancipationists, is pursuing the even tenor of its way to re establish peace and unity and traternal kindness, to our bleeding and distracted country. Again and again has it been proclaimed that the war is not waged tor the purpose of oppression, conquest or subjugation, or interfering with the established institutions of the Southern States, but to preserve the Union and maintain the supremacy of the Constitution. The forterritory, pillaged, plundered and despoiled by the iron heel of rebel despots, its greeted with joyous welcome by a suffering people. They are received as deliverers from cruel tyranoy and oppression, and their protection invoked from ruin and bankrumer. The peaceful, orderly, law-abiding citizens of the South are now beginning to discover that their worst enemies are those of their own households. They are awakening from the cruel delusion that the war was waged by the North for pillage, plunder and deastation-to drive them from their homes and heritage, and then re-occupy their soil with Northern emigrants. The advent of our armies among them is dissipating the phantom by which the rebel leaders deluce them into their coil. Our Generals, advan-Constitution, wreathed with the olive branch, in the other, proclaim the object of their mission is to conquer armed rebellion and reclaim second States, with their pres-ent inhabitants, to the Union. This is the object and purpose of the loyal States, as enunciated by Congress, and reiterated and adhered to by the Administration, and it is the only policy which can re-unite us as a nation. If the Union is to be preserved, it must be under and not outside of the Con-

The policy of Northern emancinationists to liberate the slaves of the South, or place arms in their hands to pillage and devastate the land, and murder with lieudish cruelty, men, women and children, would cruelty, men, women and children, would be a disgrace to Hottentots, or Africans in their native barbarity. Nor have we sent forth our sons, or brethern, and the loyal men of the North to light the battles of our Union in companionship with negroes, or to be placed on an equality with Southern slaves. This is not the contentainment to which the hundred thousand loyalists of Points Ivania, now in arms, have been invised by the President of the United States. They have gone forth to subdue armed re-They have gone forth to subdue armed rebellion, to maintain the supremacy of the Constitution and laws, and restore protection and peace to those who are now groanang under an oppressive despotism.

We have stated what we consider the duty of a good citizen in this time of our nation's calamity. And in doing so, we have considered it of vital importance not only to advert to the cause of the war, but the nature, object and design to be effect ed, as declared by Congress and sanctioned and sustained be the President of the United States. He has taken the constitution for his poler star, and firmly set his foot alike upon the treason of secessionists north and south, and the fanatical schemes of northern emancipationists. In this loyal effort to maintain our national exist-ence, under the constitution given to us by our fathers; our national Executive is by our lathers, our mattonar Excentive is but reflecting the feelings of the northern heart, and his hands will be strengthened and his heart encouraged by every loyal citizen. This is our duty, and it is a duty which has been nobly performed by every patriot heart. But should the great King of Nations propriet consultant to heaviled of Nations permit our rulers to be beguiled and seduced by the enemies of our Union and constitution, to conduct the war for any other purpose than to re-unite and per-petuate the Union, and to defend and main-tain the supremacy of the constitution and the rights and established institutions of all the States—if a sentence shall be erased or a line obliterated from the constitutional compact-if "the silver cord be loosened" by the strong arm of executive power, which hitherto bound us together as a nation, in bonds of peace and unity—then, in the language of one of the greatest statesmen and purest patriots the world ever saw, our eyes shall soon be turned to behold the sun in heaven, shining on the broken and dishonored fragments of a once glorious Union, on States dissevered, discordant, beligerent; on a land rent with civil fends, and drenched in fraternal blood.

The same great statesman, as if endowed by his Creator, at the time, with the spirit prophetic vision, has declared the only n which our glorious Union can be rent into broken and dishonored fragments. In the same great speech from which we have quoted, he says:—"But although there are fears, there are hopes also. The people have preserved this, their own chosen constitution for forty (now seventy) years, and have seen their happiness, prosperity and renown grow with its growth, and strengthon with its strength. They are now generally, attached to it. Overthrown by direct assault it cannot be; evaded, undermined, nullified, it will not be, if we, and those who shall succeed us here, as agents and represhall succeed us here, as agents and repre-schtatives of the people, shall conscien-tiously and vigilantly discharge the two great branches of our public trust—faithful-ly to preserve, and wisely to administer it.?" This is the declaration of Daniel Web-ster, who indre that thirty years since af-franced the densitivities never could be overfirmed the constitution never could be overthrown by direct assault, but at the same time admitted it might be evaded and undermined by the fanaticism or faithlessness of the agents or representatives of the people in discharging the two great branches of ple in discharging the two great branches of public trust committed to Congress and the national Executive, faithfully to preserve and wisely to administer it. That our rulers may be endowed with wisdom from on

High faithfully to preserve the constitution and wisely to administer the Government under it, we hope is now the fervent aspiration of every christian heart.

If we would now, in this our national strife, recall the farewell admonitions of the Father of our Country, to a people he loved so well, "and frown indignantly upon the first dawning of every attempt to alienate any portion of our country from the rest, or to enfeeble the sacred ties which now link together the various parts; if we would, in accordance with the farewell counsel of this great and good man, banish from the political arena, the halls of legislation and the pulpit, angry and exciting denun-ciations against the institution of slavery; if we would refrain from abuse and, invec tive against those who ask nothing more than the same right of conscience which is exercised by their traditors; if we would desist from denouncing as sinners above all others, those whose consciences are not more hardened in sin and iniquity on the subject of slavery than the ancient Patriarchs, whose consciences permitted them to raise up men servants and maid servants. and bond men and bond women of their own households; if we would leave the dis-cussion of this subject to those only who are interested in it, then may we expect a return of those Arcadian days of national prosperity which we have heretofore enjoyed, and resume our place and progress among the nations of the earth, the most united, happy and powerful in the world.

Horse and Cattle Powders.

Those Pawders have proved, after a trial of several years, to be superior to any preparation of the kind in use. The chief superiority of these Powders arises from the fact that they are composed of Medicines that have cleared to the fact that they are composed of Medicines that have elects crudities from the stomach and intestines; the Tonic gives strongth to the system of the Horse, and the purifying medicines contained in them cleanse the blood, and lay the foundation for a healthy and vigorous circulation. The use of them improves the wind, strengthens the appetite and gives the horse a fine, smooth and glossy skin—improving the appearance, vigor and spirit of the noble animal.

These Powders are not intended, as most powders are, to bloat the animal, so as to give him the appearance of being fat when not really so—but, to remove the disease and promote his general nealth.

These Powders will strengthen the atomach and intestines, cleaned them from offensive matter, and bring them to a healthy state. They are a sure prevention of Lung Fever, and a certain remody for all diseases incident to the Horse, as Glanders, Yellow Water, Distempers, Founder, Herves, Slavering, Coughs, Loss of Appetite, and Vital Energy, &c. These Powders fursed two or three times a wook, through the winter and spring, your Herse will never get the Lung Fever, Colle or Botts. A few doses of these Powders will remove the worst Cough on any Horse. Were owners of Horses to feed a few of these Powders every year, they might save the lives of many valuable Horses. Horse and Cattle Powders.

MILCH COWS.

The properties this Powder possesses in increasing the quantity of Allik in Cows, gives it an importance and value which should place it in the hands of every gerson keeping a Cow. In fattening Cattle it gives them an appette, loosens their hide, and makes them thrive much feater.

HOGS. In all diseases of Swine as Coughs, Ulcers in the Lungs and Liver, &c., by putting from half a paper to a paper of those Powders in a barrel of Swill, the above diseases can be cured or entirply prevented. By using these Powders the Hog Cuoltra can be prevented. Prepared by S. A. FAUTZ, Westminister, Md. 193, For gale by S. P. PANNEJAKER, Carliste, Pa., and by all country storekeepers. Price 25 cents per paper, or five papers for one dollar. [Aug. 23, 1861.
