The Charge of the Light Brigade.

BY ALFRED TENNYSON.
Half a league, half a league,
Half a league onward,
All in the valley of death,
Rode the six hundred.

Forward, the Light Brigade!
Charge for the gun!
Forward, the Light Brigade!
Charge for the gun!
Forward, the Light Brigade!
Charge for the gun!

MAJOR ZAGONI'S GUIDE.

Or, A Herring in the War for the Union.

On the morning of the 24th day of October, 1861, a somewhat novel scene unfolded itself before the door of a quiet farm house...

"Yes 'twill, mother," broke in one of the boys, "for the seceders are in town again, and they'll make you."

"I want it here and shall have it here," I said. "You can shut me down and then pull it down; you certainly won't before."

posed to be in that vicinity. She found that this party had been stopping at one house and another, drinking and devouring, and very naturally had divided...

The winds had brought to her ears what it never whispered to their drunken men, that instead of their comrades their sternest foes would be around them.

GOING A HUNDRED BETTER.

Or, Which Hand Takes the Pot.

A GAMBLING TRIAL IN CALIFORNIA.

There is such a place as "Deadwood" in California. A friend of ours passed through the town the other day, but stopped long enough to witness a trial before the chief officer of the law...

Armstrong saw the trap; he fired his revolver, hitting the gray-haired old man, and he held her bleeding head in his hands...

"What was the amount at stake, at the time the row occurred?" Hanks bet a half on his little par. Then Bill bet a dollar.

The lawyers here protested against this manner of giving evidence, but they were overruled by the Court, who asked the witness what the parties did then.

better, what did Lem come up with?" "Why Lem he lifted him a cool fifty?" The judge collapsed.

"Never mind what you did," said the lawyer for defendant, "that has nothing to do with the merits of the case."

Mystery of the Human Hand.

Issuing from the wrist is that wonderful organ, the human hand.

"I reckon I did—licker was pending on it." "What was the amount at stake, at the time the row occurred?"

the fingers to accomplish the purposes of the prosthetic arm, to be attributed to those wonderful forces of jugglery which succeeded in eluding the most penetrating glance in the rapidity of their execution.

Petrified Forest, Near Cairo, Egypt.

Having visited this remarkable place ourselves, a few years since, we can assure of the correctness of the following sketch of it...

There is scarcely perhaps a spectacle on the surface of the globe more remarkable, either in a geological or picturesque point of view, than that presented by the forest near Cairo.

The "chairs" were followed by loud demonstrations of approval, such as yelling, throwing up hats, &c.

SHUTTING DOORS. "Don't look so cross, when I call you back to shut the door; grandpa feels the March wind. You have got to spend your life shutting doors, and night as well begin to learn now, Edward."

"Do forgive me, grandpa. I ought to be ashamed. But what do you mean? I am going to College, and then I'm going to be a lawyer."

"Well, admitting all that, I imagine 'Squire Edward Carter' will have a good many doors to shut, if he ever makes much of a man."

"The doors of your eyes, too, must be shut against bad books, idle novels, and low wick newspapers, or your studies will be neglected, and you will grow up an ignorant, useless man."

HOW A RESPECTABLE YOUNG GIRL GOT A BABY.—The Western Press (an English paper) tells the following incident, by means of which a young lady of Bristol got a likely baby, and is likely to keep it, as the proper baby authorities refuse to take care of the said infant.

"I reckon I did—licker was pending on it." "What was the amount at stake, at the time the row occurred?"

DANIEL WEBSTER penned the following sentiment: "If we work upon marble, it will perish; if we work upon brass, time will efface it; if we rear temples, they will crumble into dust; but if we work upon our immortal minds—if we imbue them with principles, with the just fear of God, and of our fellow men—we engrave on these tablets something which will brighten to all eternity."

A PARTY of ladies were the other day discussing the question of the draft when a young lady inquired the reason why men were exempt who had lost but two or three teeth.

"Then," said our episcopus, "I'll take all of the other lot, if you please!"
