I was with Judge Woodward for a good part of three days, in going and returning, and there was much more said by him to the same effect as the above; and there was not one word of sympathy uttered by him, in my hearing, for the Government or those who were sacrificing their lives for its support .-As a loyal citizen, who has always voted for Democratic nominees, I was shocked at the sentiments which were uttered by one who held a high judicial position, and who aspired to receive vet higher honors from the State; and this conversation produced the same effect on other minds as on my own, for a gentleman who happened to hear a part of it remarked to me that the Judge had lost one Democratic vote. As these remarks of Judge Woodward were in no wise private, I have frequently spoken of them to others, and I now, at your suggestion, place at your disposal, to be used in any way that you may deem best calculated to promote the success of the cause of the Union, and to inform the people of the real sentiments of one of the candidates for whom they are called upon to vote, I am, gentlemen, very respectfully.

Emancipation in Missouri.

It has long been the rallying cry of the copperhead friends of Jeff Davis, that this war is an unconstitutional one in that it is carried on for the purpose of forcibly emancipating the slaves of the seceded States .-We have always contended that this was not the case, arguing that whenever slaves were freed by the government, it was done strictly and entirely as a war measure, the military significance and wisdom of which has Attempt to Hang Congressman been abundantly demonstrated by subsequent brilliant success. There is, however, another phase of the question which has been occupying the attention of the border States, and it is to this that we wish to call attention. It is the voluntary action of these States in the matter of gradual emancipation. Missouri has taken the lead and has passed a fiat declaring all of her slaves free on the 4th of July 1870. The following is the ordinance as passed by the State Convention: Sec. 2. That Slavery, or involuntary servitude, except in punishment of crime, shall cease to exist in Missouri on the fourth of July, 1870, and all slaves within the State on that day are hereby declared to be free. Provided, however, that a l persons emancipated by this ordinance shall remain under the coutrol of, and be subject to, their late the dusky shades of evening, were fast over owners, or their leg il representatives, as servants during the following period to wit: Those over forty years of age, for and during their lives; those under 12 until they arrive of their legal representatives, who up to the moment of Emancipation were owners of human nature,—were some of their "crania" slaves hereby freed, shall, during the period produced before Fowler & Co., very likely for which the service of such freedmen are they would pronounce them fossils from the reserved to them, have the same authority and-control over the said freedmen for the Scene II.
